Revellers snap up tickets for 2013 event

TICKETS have already been snapped up for next year's Osfest music festival even though revellers have no idea which acts will be performing.

The event was held at Oswestry Showground, in Park Hall, from June 1 to June 3 this year and saw performances from headline acts such as Razorlight, Hard-Fi, Dappy and Loick Essien.

Despite the wet weather, which turned the site into a mudbath, the event attracted about 5,500 people.

Now, less than two weeks after the 2012 event came to a close, festival bosses have put tickets on sale for the 2013 event and a number of people have already snapped up 'early buy' tickets.

Organisers are delighted that there has been this instant interest for the event in 12 months' time and also surprised at how quickly the tickets have been sold.

Carly Jackson, event director, said: "They went on sale over the weekend and we have sold four tickets for next year."

She said that the Osfest team was already starting to think about next year's event and hoped to bring back the Shropshire Proms night, but they wanted to make that completely separate from the rest of the festival.

Torch plea by museum

VOLUNTEERS from Oswestry museum are appealing to Olympic torch bearers to consider putting their torch on display for a short time.

The museum in the town's Guildhall is mounting a temporary exhibition based around the Olympics and local sporting heroes.

One of the organisers, Mr David Adams, said: "There were several torch bearers from this area and we are hoping that one of them would consider lending us a torch as part of the exhibition."

1,000 BID FOR 50 RESTAURANT JOBS

MORE THAN 1,000 people chased 50 full and part-time jobs at a new restaurant in Welshpool which opens later this month, it has been revealed.

People from across Shropshire and Mid Wales applied for bar staff, waitress, cleaning and management positions at the Smithfield Bell - with the owners spending more than 12 hours on one day alone returning phone calls from applicants.

The Marston's restaurant will officially open its doors for business on June 25 opposite the town's Tesco superstore in Mill Lane. And there are still a number of positions still available at the business - for two line chefs and a cleaner.

Town's digital cinema plan hit by delays

PLANS to bring a digital cinema to Oswestry showing blockbuster films are taking longer than expected despite a £45,000 grant.

Kinokulture, a town-based film screening company, was awarded the cash from Shropshire Council's Market Town Revitalisation programme for plans to bring top movies to the area.

Bosses hoped to set up the cinema inside the Attfield Theatre, in the Guildhall, on Bailey Head, last month but paperwork has seen plans delayed.

Ian Garland, technical director at the company, said the equipment needed for the venture was so specialised that only four people in the whole country know how to install it and they are currently tied up with carrying out installations in other parts of the UK.

He said: "Things are still progressing. It is a very long and tedious process. We have all the paperwork."

"We are looking forward to having an opening date but it is not like we can nip down to the supermarket and buy the equipment because it is specialist equipment."

Kinokulture say box-office films, recent releases, a Saturday morning film club for youngsters and classics for older people are on the cards.

Mark Watson, who will be running the restaurant alongside his wife Sarah, said they had been overwhelmed by the response to the positions.

He said: "On one day alone, our two phones were ringing people back from 8.30am until 11pm at night. It was quite incredible."

"The phones have not stopped ringing since we started recruiting."

Mr Watson, who has 17 years experience in the pub trade, has come to Welshpool from another Marston's restaurant in Hull.

He said: "It is important to point out that we are an eatery and not a pub with our drinks priced higher than many town centre pubs."

Honest

He added: "My first impression of Welshpool is positive - it is a very nice town and the Smithfield Bell will bring something extra to it."

"It will offer good honest food in a family environment which will hopefully bring more people into the town and stop them looking elsewhere for a meal."

"Hopefully people will come to us for food and then head into town for a drink."

"We will have higher prices on drinks because our main focus - 70 per cent - is on food where people will enjoy value for money on a meal with their drinks."

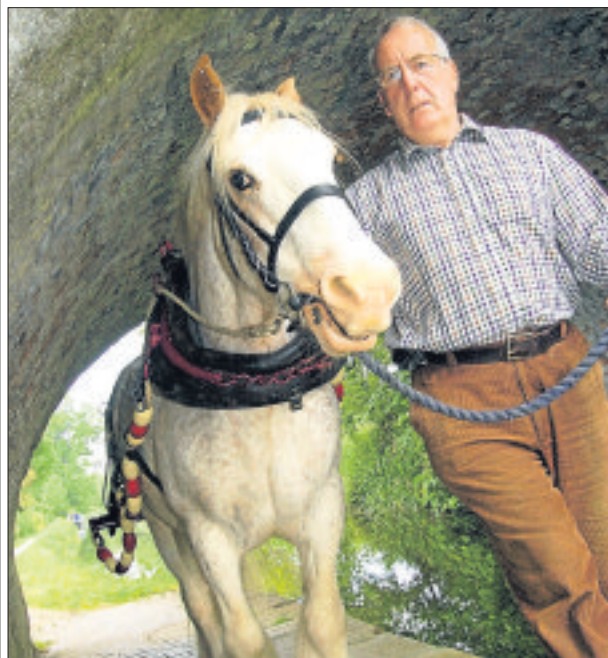

Some critics argue that its location will do the opposite and pull people away from the town centre through its two for one meal deals.

News of the opening was welcomed by Robert Robinson, town clerk of Welshpool, who said the restaurant formed part of Welshpool's regeneration project.

Mr Robinson said: "It's good news for the town but I'm sure some people will disagree with the town council's view."

"But plans have been in the pipeline for years and the development will create dozens of new jobs."

Cracker of a boat trip

A NEW horse-drawn passenger boat that will be operating on a canal in Shropshire section from this weekend is thought to be the only one of its kind in the Midlands.

The purpose built Countess of Maesbury, will take passengers along a stretch of the Montgomery canal.

It will travel thanks to the horse power of Cracker, a Strawberry Roan cob. The tough little horse has been in training to pull the boat having had previous experience pulling gipsy caravans. The venture will be unveiled at Canal Central, Maesbury Marsh, near Oswestry tomorrow at 10.30am.

Businessman, Stephen Rees-Jones, "This is the only horse drawn passenger boat in the Midlands, which makes Cracker, a very rare horse."

Pubwatch in appeal for more members

PUBLICANS are calling for more people to join their group in Oswestry.

Frank Francis, chairman of Oswestry Pubwatch is keen to see more people join the scheme which has been running for more than five years.

He is also calling for current members to remember to renew their memberships.

The latest meeting was held in the Red Lion, in Bailey Street, on Tuesday when Mr Francis said it was reported that the recent bank holiday was 'peaceful' in the town.

People wanting to join pubwatch are urged to call Mr Francis at the Red Lion on (01691) 656077 or by calling Shropshire Council's licensing officer.

Red Arrows to fly at show

THE Red Arrows will appear at Welshpool's annual air show this weekend.

Bosses of the show, renamed the Bob Jones Memorial Air Show this year, said hundreds of people were expected to turn out to see the aerobatic display team on Sunday.

Last year's event was badly affected by low cloud and rain causing many flights to be cancelled and the planned Red Arrows display had to be curtailed.

The display team did fly over but was barely visible through the low cloud.

Roles hope

A NEW data centre planned for Oswestry could bring 40 new jobs to the town. Shrewsbury-based Arbitel has bought Oswestry's former leisure centre in College Road and experts are carrying out a feasibility study about turning the site into a data centre.

5,000 Roman coins are treasure, says coroner

by Graham Breeze

ALMOST 5,000 Roman coins dating back to 273AD found in a field near Montgomery have been deemed as treasure trove.

The find was made on June 28 last year by metal detector enthusiast Adrian Simmons, a member of the Oldford Force Team, a metal detecting group based in Welshpool.

Now Powys coroner Louise Hunt has ruled the find as a treasure trove and the hoard will now be valued and Mr Simmons and the landowner could get a cash windfall.

Hope on building valuation

THE valuation placed on a school building near Oswestry will be key to whether a campaign is launched to keep it for the community's use, councillors said.

Maesbury Primary School will close at the end of the summer term as part of a shake-up of education by Shropshire Council.

Parish councillors say they are keen to keep the school building for community use amid fears the near 100-year-old property will be knocked down and the site used for housing.

They have warned that if the school building is lost there will be 'nothing left' in the village.

Maesbury Parish Councillor Sue Chalk said: "The valuation is key to what happens with the building.

"We will have to wait to see what the valuation is before we start thinking about fundraising, if indeed we do decide to go ahead at that stage."

Shropshire Council spokesman Simon Alton said the valuation process was continuing.

The inquest in Welshpool, heard that the 4,854 copper alloy coins dated from 273 to 274AD could now go on show at Welshpool's Powysland Museum.

Mr Simmons, giving evidence at the inquest, said he was 'delighted' with the find.

He said: "On June 28 last year I was on the land at about 8pm at night when I had a very strong signal coming up, which usually indicates a large piece of scrap or junk."

"I dug about 10 inches down into the soil and then all of a sudden hundreds of coins came up on my spade. I was delighted and then found a pot full of them."

Mr Simmons said he collected the coins that were loose and took them home, covering the rest and the pot until the following day when he called the Clywd Powys Archaeological Trust, which recovered them the next day.

Mrs Hunt said the coins were sent off to Edward Besly, assistant keeper at the National Museum of Wales in Cardiff, for evaluation.

Mr Besly's report said: "There is no doubt that this collection truly exceeds the standard for being named as a treasure trove. They date from around 273 to 274 AD."

Mrs Hunt said: "Therefore I rule these are a treasure trove and they will now be sent away to be valued."

Residents inspired to spruce up town

PEOPLE in Oswestry have been inspired to help spruce up their town despite losing out in the first round of the Mary Portas competition to revive Britain's high streets, a councillor has claimed.

Steve Haworth, a member of town group Footfall, said although he was disappointed Oswestry didn't get a £100,000 share of the £1.2m cash prize fronted by the TV shopping guru, he felt it was still moving forward.

Footfall is a partnership between community groups and has been helping to spruce up empty shops and bring art to the town centre.

The group, along with Oswestry Chamber of Commerce and other groups, including Footfall, applied to become one of 12 Portas towns and get help to revive its centre.

Councillor Haworth said: "We are disappointed to have not got the money but we are not too disappointed. We always knew it was going to be difficult to win as it was a competition up and down the country."

"We still hope it has provided a spring board for us to move forward. A number of things Mary Portas suggested we are already doing now anyway. The application has brought more people in."

Home damaged during break-in BURGLARS who broke into a home at Whittington, near Oswestry, caused extensive damage before stealing computer equipment.

The house in Birchwood Drive was broken into between 9.30pm last Thursday and 10am the next day.

A tin of white paint was emptied onto several pieces of furniture.

Information can be given to police by calling 101.

Hospital helpers prepare for fete

FUNDRAISERS hope to raise thousands of pounds at a summer fete which has taken nearly 12 months to organise.

Members of the League of Friends to the Robert Jones and Agnes Hunt Orthopaedic Hospital are looking forward to the event, which is taking place on June 30 from noon to 4pm in the hospital grounds.

Activities will include stalls selling bric-a-brac and second hand books.

There will also be archery, traditional games such as the egg and spoon race, vintage vehicles and face painting.

People will also be entertained with live music from the Forthwayen Youth Silver Band, Bill Basie Quartet and the hospital's male voice choir.

Richard Jones, from the league of friends group, said: "Last year the event raised a total of more than £15,000.

"It would be nice to top that this year.

The event will not have an official opening this year but Oswestry's mayor Martin Bennett and the High Sheriff of Shropshire John Abram have been invited to the event.

Singers perform for free at hotel

THERE'S more free entertainment in Welshpool tomorrow, Friday, at The Royal Oak Hotel.

Following last weekend's appearance by former Housemartins lead singer Paul Heaton, and performances by Dai Robs and Chris Cookson, there's more on offer tomorrow night.

Rhayader singer songwriter Ellen Cox (Ellethia) will be starring with Johnny Kealey, the front man of Fight The Bear, which has had Radio 1 airplay this year, headlining.

Jobs hope as data centre is proposed at ex-leisure site

A NEW data centre planned for Oswestry by a county communications firm could bring 40 new jobs to the town.

Shrewsbury-based Arbitel bought Oswestry's former leisure centre in College Road last month, and while outline planning permission exists to turn the site into 45 new affordable homes, the company is considering its alternatives.

That includes building a data centre, and Arbitel has brought in a consultant to look at the feasibility of putting the site to commercial use.

Business development manager Alistair Brown said: "If you look at where data centres are strategically located around the UK, they are in Manchester and London and Leeds, with nothing really supporting the counties or the borders.

"With everybody moving towards cloud computing there is a need for additional data space, so we looked at the investment needed to put a centre in Oswestry.

"It would be a place for companies to put their servers into a secure location, so if anything did happen in terms of a disaster in their offices it's not going to compromise what's on there."

Technology

Arbitel is looking into how the centre could incorporate green technology and sit comfortably within the residential area, with managing director Lee Crowe dismissing concerns that it would be a 'big shed'.

Mr Brown added: "It would need people on site 24/7, so you're looking at 30 to 40 heads to run the data centre.

"You would be surprised by how many people in IT live in the Oswestry area, because of what else is there, then there's the expertise you train into people with things like apprenticeships."

The move comes after Arbitel, which is already considering trebling its staff after enjoying turnover of £2.2 million in its first year of trading, scooped a multi-million pound deal to recycle computers for Hewlett Packard, as part of a contract with the Department for Work and Pensions.

Mr Brown said: "We are taking old assets, clearing them and making sure the data on them is protected and destroyed, and where you have a redundant asset left we are maximizing the value of that by refreshing it."

Several members of the public spoke and objectors said the new revised bid was no better than the initial application, which was rejected.

Applicant Guy Davies said that 64 per cent of people who had written to Shropshire Council about the application were in support of it.

He dismissed fears that the lorries serving the units would cause traffic problems and said there would be minimal increase in traffic movements.

Several parish councillors declared a prejudicial interest in the application and left the room for the vote. The remaining councillors voted by three votes to one to oppose the bid.

Shropshire Council hopes to determine the bid by July 11.

Parish council votes against poultry sheds

PARISH councillors have narrowly voted to oppose plans to build giant poultry units in a small Shropshire village housing nearly 150,000 chickens.

More than 20 people attended Great Ness and Little Ness Parish Council's monthly meeting to hear councillors discuss plans by applicant GC Davies & Co to build three units and a new access road at Foxholes in the village to accommodate the proposed poultry business.

A similar bid, which would have seen five poultry units built in the village, was rejected by Shropshire Council in 2010 and an appeal against that refusal was thrown out by a planning inspector last year.

Several members of the public spoke and objectors said the new revised bid was no better than the initial application, which was rejected.

Applicant Guy Davies said that 64 per cent of people who had written to Shropshire Council about the application were in support of it.

He dismissed fears that the lorries serving the units would cause traffic problems and said there would be minimal increase in traffic movements.

Several parish councillors declared a prejudicial interest in the application and left the room for the vote. The remaining councillors voted by three votes to one to oppose the bid.

Shropshire Council hopes to determine the bid by July 11.

Fire crew called to factory

FIRE crews were called following a blaze at the Kronspan factory in Chirk at about 5.20pm on Monday in the factory's production room. Nobody was injured and it is not known how the fire started.

Four appliances were deployed, and the fire, which was contained to a refiner in the production area and was quickly extinguished.

Air medics drop in for visit

AN air ambulance crew swooped into a school in Oswestry to teach youngsters about the work they do in the region.

Midlands Air Ambulance took equipment and an air ambulance simulator to Bellan House, in Oswestry on Tuesday.

Youngsters were allowed to dress up in the crew's uniform, try on helmets and sit in the pilot seat of a helicopter. The simulator was created out of the shell of a former helicopter used to pick up patients. The children were also given a talk about the work of Midlands Air Ambulance and took part in a question and answer session as well.

Douglas Robb, headmaster of Oswestry School, said: "All the children enjoyed themselves enormously and not only did they have great fun sitting in the helicopter but they also learnt a lot about the work carried out by Midlands Air Ambulance."

Group's delight at £16,000 event total

SUPPORT for a charity event has been praised after a college near Oswestry managed to raise a massive £16,000 at its annual fete.

The Association of Friends of Derwen College for people with learning disabilities, has thanked everyone who took part in the event on May 31 which saw it collect £16,337.

Andrew Harris, assistant principal at Derwen College, said they were impressed with the amount raised considering the weather during the day and the many other celebrations taking place in the area as part of the jubilee celebrations.

"We were absolutely amazed by the support," he said. "We had lots of people come along."

"We were pleasantly surprised by the amount of money we raised."

Children's work display at gallery

AN Olympic themed art exhibition is due to go on display at an Oswestry art gallery.

Qube Gallery, in Oswald Road, will be presenting The Millicent Kaye Children's Art Exhibition from June 16 to 30.

The display is the result of an annual competition run for children and staff say it is a popular display at the venue.

People are invited to visit the exhibition which includes selected entries from local youngsters.

Driver uninjured in car accident

A DRIVER in Criggion on the Shropshire/Mid Wales border lost control of the car and drove into a field.

The car left the B4393 between Gwernowddy Lane, Llandrinio, and Criggion Lane, Crewgreen, at around 6.30pm on Tuesday. No-one was hurt.

NEWSTrain crash van
crossing safety

AN OSWESTRY man has admitted endangering the safety of train passengers following a crash in Mid Wales.

Daniel Bellis, 35, of Lorne Street, appeared at Mold Crown Court, where he admitted a charge of endangering the safety of people travelling on a railway.

Bellis failed to use the telephone at a crossing off the A470 at Carno, near Newtown on February 16, to check if a train was in the vicinity.

Instead, he drove his Ford Transit van straight over the track, colliding with an Arriva Trains Wales service.

Bellis suffered minor injuries and no passengers were on board the train.

Judge Merfyn Hughes QC, sitting at Mold Crown Court, hit out at a prosecution decision to drop a charge of dangerous driving from the case.

Judge Hughes said he would reluctantly leave the charge on the file, but he said was not impressed by 'pleas of convenience'.

The hearing was adjourned for sentencing on a date to be fixed.

Judge Hughes said that it was the driving of the vehicle on the crossing that caused the dangerous situation.

Mr Myles Wilson, prosecuting, said only one driver was on board the two-carriage train.

He stressed that both charges carried the same maximum penalties and said that both carried a driving ban.

Mr Myles said that if the dangerous driving charge was not left on the file he would have no alternative but to offer

by Graham Breeze

no evidence. Miss Debra White, for Bellis, said that bearing in mind both charges carried the same maximum penalties and that the defendant could be disqualified from driving under either charge, she also asked that it be allowed to remain on the file.

Judge Hughes said he would leave the dangerous driving on file and said Davies would be sentenced just for endangering railway users.

The case was adjourned for a medical report from Bellis' GP and a victim impact statement from the driver of the train.

Miss White added that her client had been very distressed since the incident and had visited his GP and was referred for counselling.

The judge agreed to bail Bellis, but warned him: "That does not mean that you will not go into custody when you come back."

Drama teacher up for award

Class teacher Anna Lingard is hoping for success.

THE teacher of a drama class for youngsters in and around Oswestry has been nominated for a top regional award.

Pyjama Drama is held at The Venue, in Park Hall, and parents who take their youngsters to the sessions have nominated class teacher Anna Lingard, for a regional award on parenting site www.netmums.com

She said: "I'm thrilled to be nominated, especially because it was by the parents who come to my classes."

"I didn't know anything about the competition until the website contacted me and told me I was in the final five."

Her classes run twice a week to provide fun and creative sessions for babies, toddlers and youngsters up to the age of seven years old.

They allow children to explore movement, music, pretend and play in a way to develop skills such as confidence, communication, creativity and co-operation.

She has a drama degree and more than 10 years experience working both on and off the stage in a number of theatres.

Voting closes on Sunday and votes can be made by registering on netmums.com and following the link to the voting page at www.netmums.com/shropshire/places-to-go/preschool-classes/vote-for-your-favourite-preschool-class

The winning class will be featured in the Netmums newsletter and have a special badge added to its listing on the website.

Classes take place at The Venue every Wednesday from 9.45am and Friday from 9.50am

For more information about the classes taking place at The Venue, visit www.gotthevenue.com

Olympics inspiring artwork by pupils

THE Olympics was the inspiration for award winning artwork by pupils from a primary school near Oswestry.

West Felton School has been named the winner of the Rotary Club of Oswestry's 2012 Millicent Kaye art competition.

An exhibition of the entries will be officially opened at a prizegiving ceremony which is due to take place in Oswestry's Qube Gallery on Monday starting at 11am.

The competition was open to children in years 5 and 6 at local primary schools and prizes will be awarded to individual students and to schools.

Nine schools have participated and about 300 pieces of artwork have been submitted.

Event organiser Dr John Cleaver said: "I would like to thank all the schools for their support of the competition, which was established in 1996 in honour of local artist Millicent Kaye, who died that year."

"The event is funded by the Mary Hignett Bequest Fund, which is administered by the Rotary Club of Oswestry and it is fitting that we should be able to pay tribute to both of these highly regarded local figures at this time."

Chance to air views on services for community

HOSPITAL, police and council services will be discussed at a meeting in Oswestry today, Thursday.

Oswestry residents are invited to take part in the latest Local Joint Committee event at the Eastern Oswestry Community Centre.

A drop-in session will take place from 6pm to 7pm with Shropshire and Telford Hospital NHS Trust for a discussion about the changes to services delivered at the Royal Shrewsbury and Telford's Princess Royal hospitals.

From 7pm the Local Joint Committee will be hearing from Inspector Rick Klair, who has responsibility for policing across north Shropshire and Oswestry. He will be outlining his thoughts about policing in the town.

There will also be an explanation of the changes and new ways of working at Shropshire Council. This will include the recent creation of a council-owned trading company, the cabinet agreement around the first services to be transferred across and information on the proposal to create a service hub at the library.

Other items on the agenda include updates from United Utilities and the community action manager together with applications for funding from local groups.

A full agenda is available on Shropshire Council's website www.shropshire.gov.uk and paper copies will be available at the meeting.

Local Joint Committees chairman, Councillor Martin Bennett, said: "We are in a time of exceptional change."

He added: "This LJC meeting will discuss the future of our hospital services, our local policing team and Shropshire Council itself. Those attending will have an opportunity to ask key people about the plans of their organisation and what the changes will mean to local people."

The Oswestry LJC has an annual grants budget for voluntary groups and associations. The closing date for the next round of funding is August 24. Go to www.shropshirelincs.com/ or call (01743) 253077.

Busy day for MP after canal boats launch

NORTH Shropshire MP, Owen Paterson is in the Oswestry area tomorrow, Friday attending a day of meetings.

Mr Paterson will help launch the horse drawn canal boat celebration at Maesbury Marsh on the Montgomery Canal before going on to a meeting of the Oswestry Health Group.

The group was set up to improve the access to health services in the town and helped bring better dentist provision and a new, primary care trust to Oswestry.

Mr Paterson will also have a meeting with the headteachers of the North West Shropshire Schools Forum.

The forum grew from the successful North West Shropshire Education Action Zone which brought £5 million of funding to schools in Oswestry and Ellesmere.

Author hits town

OSWESTRY Library had a visit by Shrewsbury author Jennie Dodd, who read excerpts from her new book The Gemini Spell – a thrilling adventure story set in Australia. Jennie was educated at the Wakeman Grammar Technical School in Shrewsbury.

Poetry read to mark the jubilee

POETRY was read out at a meeting at Oswestry Library to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

Members of Oswestry Library's Unwind Your Mind group and others recently put up bunting and library staff read aloud poems and fiction extracts on a 'Best of British' theme.

The session was followed by an afternoon tea which everybody enjoyed. Unwind Your Mind is a book group with a difference and is open to all adults.

Meetings take place once a fortnight at Oswestry Library and new members are always welcome to come along and get involved with the sessions.

For more information about the group's activities call organisers on (01691) 677388.

A READER has pointed out that the picture of Welshpool Railway Station on page 9 of last week's edition of the Chronicle was taken in 1969 and not the 50s as thought.

The reader, who did not wish to be named, said the Queen travelled by car to meet the Royal Train at Welshpool following the investiture of Prince Charles at Caernarfon Castle.

Coastal flood brings boost for town's street market

EXTRA market traders set up shop in Welshpool this week because flood water prevented them from travelling to their usual venue.

Seven new market stalls arrived on the town's High Street on Monday because of the road closures to Tywyn in West Wales.

It came after days of heavy downpours caused massive floods to sweep through roads and caravan parks on the Welsh coast.

Javaid Iqbal, a market trader from Birmingham, who sells clothing, said his attempts to reach the Tywyn coast had failed.

by Graham Breeze

Taking a look on the rug stall is Jane Whitmore with stallholder Parminder Singh.

He said: "I normally go to Tywyn every Monday during the summer months because the area attracts a lot of tourists."

"But yesterday I couldn't get there because of the flood water."

"I've never set up my stall in Welshpool before now but it was quite a successful day and I'd consider coming back over the winter months because the Tywyn market only opens until September."

Dangerous

Meanwhile, Dyfed-Powys Police warned that rivers and flood water remain "extremely dangerous" in the area.

Chief Inspector Pete Westlake of Dyfed-Powys Police urged people living in the flood alert areas not to take any unnecessary risks.

He said: "Emergency services are keen to stress that rivers and flood water remain extremely dangerous."

"Police will have a high visibility presence in the affected communities in order to provide re-assurance - if you have any concerns please talk to them."

"We'd also like to thank the communities for their co-operation and tremendous efforts to contribute to the clean up process."

Officials at Environment Agency Wales said they were continuing to monitor the situation closely.

"They will be keeping a close eye on river levels."

People taking a look at the extra market stalls in High Street, Welshpool, as flooding caused the closure of Tywyn Market on the West coast.

Felt making workshop to be held at gallery

BUDDING artists are being invited to a felt making workshop at the Willow Gallery in Oswestry.

The gallery is holding the event on June 16 from 10.30am to 4.30pm.

People will be able to use a variety of creative and artist felt making techniques to create their own unique fine felt accessories.

A professional felt maker will be on hand to help people make a matching scarf and corsage with merino wool and silk and a variety of fine-felting techniques including gossamer and lattice-work.

The event is for beginners and improvers and costs £30 including all equipment and materials.

People are advised to book in advance by either calling (01691) 657575 or by alternatively e-mailing willowgalleryoswestry@gmail.com

Get ready for 7-mile walk with ramblers

OSWESTRY Ramblers are inviting the people of the town to take part in a seven-mile walk.

The town's branch of the Ramblers Association will be leaving Central Car Park on Sunday at 10am for the walk.

It will be a moderate one from Coedpoeth to Minera lead mines on good tracks and open moorland.

Last Sunday, 15 ramblers celebrated their leader's 80th birthday with a taste of champagne and cake before a walk to Llanarmon-yn-Ial across fields and tracks passing Pystyll Gwyn Quarry before heading towards Bryn Alyn where they stopped for lunch. They then walked to Moel Eithinen, around Moel Gw and along the Offa's Dyke Path and back into the village.

The Sunday afternoon walk was from Rednal along quiet lanes and fields to Grimpo and Twyford.

There were 13 people on the walk.

Gully grid theft

WELSHPOOL Police are appealing for witnesses after five road gully grids were stolen in Fford y Cain, Llanfyllin over Friday into Saturday night of the jubilee bank holiday weekend. Information can be passed to Welshpool Police on 101.

Fears are raised after town police inspector role is cut

THE loss of Oswestry's dedicated police inspector could damage law enforcement in the town, a long serving councillor fears.

Former Oswestry mayor Councillor Heather Bickerton said she feared the loss of the post would give a perception that policing was becoming more remote.

But the claim has been denied by senior police officers who say the new set-up will allow Oswestry to carry on receiving a 'full and proper service'.

The Oswestry inspector role was lost in a shake-up of policing in north Shropshire and after town inspector Jim Stafford retired last month.

College hosts family fun day

A FAMILY fun day will be held at Oswestry's further education college to mark the official opening of its new multi-use games area on Saturday.

The new games area, part of a £250,000 revamp of sports facilities at Walford and North Shropshire College, will be opened by Mike Harris, managing director of Welsh League champions The New Saints, who run a football scholarship scheme.

The opening will also be a celebration of the recent success of the college's football scholars in winning the Shropshire Homes County Shield and league title.

The family fun day will run from 11am to 3pm. Among the attractions will be a bouncy castle, glitter tattoos, pottery demonstration, tombola and live music from former O-Factor winner Mark Jones.

Other activities include a paddlesport demonstration, a scavenger hunt, manicures and hair braiding and arts and crafts.

Under a restructuring programme the policing of the town has become the responsibility of Inspector Rick Klair, who is also the inspector for north Shropshire.

Councillor Bickerton, who set up the town's police consultative committee group and was formerly the chairman of the town's crime prevention panel, said: "I have huge concerns about this. I fully support the police and the great work they do and I am worried that these changes will cause damage."

"Oswestry needs its own inspector who is accessible to councillors and the public and understands the area."

"I feel sorry for the senior officers because I feel they are being spread so thinly. It is not their fault and they are doing the best they can."

"Is the police becoming more remote or is this just an impact of the cuts they are facing and they are struggling to fill the gaps?"

"I am worried policing in Oswestry will not get the focus that it deserves and what it would get if we had our own inspector."

Chief Inspector Sarah Wagstaff said Councillor Bickerton could be reassured Oswestry's policing was not suffering.

She said: "Oswestry has not lost its dedicated police inspector - far from it."

"The two areas have always operated closely together and will continue to utilise this flexibility to provide efficient policing for the whole area."

A joy to see town's main street lined with traders

THERE was a treat for Welshpool shoppers on Monday and all because of the floods that hit the West Wales coast.

Market traders travelling from the Midlands were unable to reach their usual pitches so set up in Welshpool instead, proving that it really is an ill wind as they say.

What a joy it was to see the town's main streets lined with market traders again reminding us all of times gone by when traders went on to a waiting list to get a pitch in Welshpool.

The good news is that some of them did well and say they may give Welshpool another shot once the summer trade ends on the coast. Strange that the devastation that brought so much pain to holidaymakers and villagers on Saturday could lead to a 'good news' story for Welshpool's troubled street market.

BREEZE ABOUT TOWN

beautiful North Wales coast with torrential rain sending everyone heading for cover and felt really sorry for those holidaying in the area.

There is no better place to be than on the Welsh coast on a beautiful summer's day but when the weather closes in things really can be pretty grim.

The tradespeople rely so heavily on a small window of opportunity to make a living when the sun shines but most were batten down the hatches and shutting up shop for the weekend.

You can either leave Wales with a lifelong wonderful memory or vow never to return again when the elements close in.

Breakfasting at the Deganwy Quays Hotel alongside me was the entire Yorkshire County Cricket Club squad whose match against Glamorgan at Colwyn Bay had been washed out – not many of them were putting the North Wales coast down as a 'must-visit' destination.

THERE was good news for Oswestry again this week with a communications firm vowing to set up a new data centre in the town, bringing more new jobs.

Arbitel, a Shrewsbury-based company, has bought the former leisure centre on College Road.

The company could create as many as 40 new jobs if a feasibility study produces the right results.

The alternative will be building as many as 45 new affordable homes. Oswestry needs new homes but its people may need jobs first.

I SPENT part of Sunday afternoon in the bath with Mail on Sunday columnist Liz Jones and a cheap white wine. No, she wasn't really there I was just reading her weekly columns.

This woman, who makes a small fortune travelling the world for the Mail while bleating about her life of poverty and love affair with an unnamed ageing rock star, really does wind me up.

For the uninitiated she writes each week about her impoverished life in a tumble-down farmhouse on the moors where she cares for homeless animals whilst living a double life alongside the rich, famous and glamorous in a world of implants and botox.

Every week I cringe at the content of her articles. So why is that I'm back every Sunday for the next episode. It isn't that Sunday is bath day by the way.

Railway story is taken on location for theatre fans

Richard Brazier is playing the part of Thomas Savin.

MAKE tracks for Llanymynech and Oswestry this month as a new community play bringing colourfully to life the rich and varied history of the Cambrian railways steams into town.

Making Tracks, an outdoor spectacular, is being performed by the LADS of Llanymynech with help from popular local children's theatre group Roleplay and folk band Pendragon.

It is being performed on location at the old

Navvies

It has been written by Pant playwright Neil Rhodes.

He said: "This exciting new outdoor play tells the story of how the railways came to the Oswestry and Llanymynech area, and how they transformed the way everyone lived."

It will be performed at the old stations of Oswestry and Llanymynech.

"The play is told from the point of view of the users of the railways, and the workers – the navvies who built the railways, the drivers, firemen, signallers, station masters, porters, the locomotive builders, the managers, and those who initially had the vision, and money, to want to put a railway in what was then an obscure part of Great Britain."

"As well as showing what it was like to be a railwayman, the story will tell of famous incidents in the history of the Cambrian Railways, including the Welshampton disaster, and the more famous Abermule disaster, when two trains hit each other at speed along a single track."

Making Tracks is on at Llanymynech old station on Friday and Saturday, June 22 and 23 at 7pm and on Sunday, June 24, at 3pm, and then at Oswestry on Thursday to Saturday, June 28 to 30, at 7pm.

Tickets cost £6 (£5 concessions and £3 children) from Llanymynech Village Post Office, Llanymynech Village Hall on 01691 839147, The Herbarium, Oswestry, and Mile End TIC, Oswestry.

MY HUSBAND'S BOSS IS COMPLAINING CANCER IS PREVENTING HIM DOING HIS JOB

Advertisement feature

Q: My husband is undergoing treatment for cancer every few weeks. As a result he has not been able to fulfil his usual duties at work, but has still gone in even when he has been feeling dreadful. His boss has made a number of remarks about him not being able to do the job properly and he is worried he will lose the job, especially as there have been redundancies in the past year. Could they get rid of him?

A: Anyone who has cancer is automatically protected under the disability provisions in the Equality Act 2010, from the time of diagnosis. This means your husband is protected from unfair discrimination related to his disability and from being harassed or victimised because of his disability. The protection generally also extends to matters such as offers of employment, terms and conditions of employment and opportunities for promotion. An employer (or prospective employer) is required under the Act to make any reasonable adjustments necessary to facilitate an individual's access to employment opportunities and to enable them to perform their job effectively.

If your husband believes he is being discriminated against he should discuss the situation with his line manager or HR manager. If the issue cannot be resolved he should go through the company's grievance procedure. Failing that he can submit a claim to an employment tribunal. He would need to do this quickly however, as claims must be submitted within three months of the date the complaint became relevant. Conduct occurring prior to three months' ago can be covered if it forms part of a continuing course of conduct, provided the claim is issued in time from the last act.

An extension to the time limit will only be granted in exceptional circumstances where the tribunal is satisfied that it was not reasonably practicable for the complaint to have been made earlier.

Further information relating to this question is available from Nicholas Kennan, a Solicitor Advocate with GHP Legal. For information relating to any other legal matter please call GHP Legal on 01691 659194, visit www.ghplegal.co.uk or attend one of our FREE legal diagnostic clinics every Wednesday 12-5pm (no appointment necessary).

Assembly cash to cut fuel poverty

THE Welsh Assembly will invest £9 million into reducing fuel poverty and the risk of flooding in Wales.

The money will prove a huge boost for residents of Mid Wales, with more than 800 homes being protected by the scheme from flood water.

Environment minister John Griffiths welcomed the money which he said would be spent on coastal risk management and fuel poverty.

He said: "The £4 million for flood and coastal risk management will help to protect nearly 800 homes and businesses across the country from flood damage.

"Not only that but it will help to create and secure local job opportunities within the construction industry.

"I am also delighted that we were allocated £5 million from the Wales Infrastructure Investment Plan to help tackle fuel poverty.

This includes £3 million for our fuel poverty scheme, Nest, which will help to reduce the fuel bills of around 600 households across Wales through measures such as tariff checks, insulation and installation of energy efficient boilers," he added.

Star Church set to shine

ORGANISERS of a summer music festival at Llangollen have announced singing sensation Charlotte Church will appear this year.

The singer and TV presenter will be performing new material at this year's Llangollen Fringe Festival.

The former child star will entertain her fans with what has been described as a 'bold and unique' new sound.

She will open this year's festival on July 12 at Llangollen Town Hall.

Tickets are £12 each, doors open at 7.30pm.

Other acts set to appear include Dr Feelgood guitarist Wilko Johnson, actor, comedian and pop star Keith Allen and poet laureate Carol Ann Duffy.

Call 0800 1455 779 for ticket information.

Mayor ceremony

THE annual mayor-making ceremony in Montgomery will take place on June 15 at Montgomery Town Hall at 7.30pm.

We are very far from animal lovers

IT is often said that Britain is a nation of animal lovers and yet reality does not bear this out. Yes, we own animals, we use them, we exploit them, we eat them but does any of that add up to love?

Sanctuaries are filled to the gunnels with horses, cats, dogs, small mammals, birds and reptiles – all bought and 'loved' until the novelty wore off.

Investigations by groups like Animal

Aid consistently find appalling conditions on farms and routine illegal abuse inside UK slaughterhouses.

We still send live animals by sea to be reared and killed in other countries – this government has just agreed to send thousands of pigs to China where there are no welfare laws to protect them.

We still permit the breeding of millions of pheasants from inside battery-style cages merely so they can be shot from the sky for pleasure.

We cull any animal or bird perceived to be a nuisance and there is still support, albeit diminishing, for events that routinely kill animals, most notably the Grand National.

To truly be a nation of animal lovers, all of this should be addressed.

Praise for torch run support in county

POWYS County Council has praised the 20,000 residents who went out to see the Olympic torch in the county last month.

The council said today that figures show more than 12,000 turned out in Welshpool, while 2,000 packed into Llanymynech and Pant. A further 6,000 watched in Machynlleth.

Jonathan Rogers, council spokesman, said the council was delighted with how the event went.

He said: "Powys residents ensured that Wales waved goodbye to the London 2012 Olympic Torch Relay in style by turning out in their thousands as it passed through Llanymynech and Welshpool before crossing the border.

"An incredible 12,000 alone welcomed the relay to Welshpool, including nearly 3,000 pupils from various schools around the county who noisily cheered on the torch bearers as they ran along the route.

"Despite only being in the village for three minutes, around 2,000 people squeezed into Llanymynech and Pant."

Extra space still needed

A PLANNING application has been lodged to allow Goboven Primary School to use demountable buildings for a further 10 years.

The school was given temporary planning permission in 2002 for the buildings which house some of the school's pupils as well as the pre-school and Sure Start scheme.

A design and access statement said: "The use of a demountable construction provides flexible and economically viable accommodation for the school, and the premises have been maintained to a good standard."

Shropshire Council planners aim to determine the bid by July 27.

Homeopathy talk

MEMBERS of Welshpool and District University of the Third Age were given a talk by homeopath and allergy therapist Jeremy Derrick at the latest meeting in Church House. The next general meeting is on July 3. Call (01938) 535055.

Body is an amazing machine

WE are told that on a bicycle you can travel up to 644 miles on the energy equivalent of a single litre of petrol.

Isn't the human body amazing?

And it doesn't have to be highly refined, specialized fuel either.

What a brilliant designer and creator, and He made this wonderful and beautiful world too for us to live in and enjoy. We should be really grateful.

Programme looking for tales of love

WE are making a BBC programme on the story of love and marriage in Britain from the 1980s.

Do you have an interesting or dramatic story that brought you closer together?

How has your love changed and matured over the years? Did you reject marriage for cohabitation in the 1980s but have since married?

Have you experienced the pain of divorce yet married again? Was your new partner also re-marrying? What ever your story, we'd love to hear from you. Contact Emily Sivyier, at Testimony Films on (0117) 925 8589, or e-mail emily.sivyier@testimonyfilms.com

Report echoing my concerns on farming

I AM pleased to say that the House of Commons Parliamentary report on the European Commission's proposals for the future of Common Agricultural Policy echoes many of the concerns I have been highlighting ever since the policy document was first released to the public.

The ambition of the European Union to accord farming policy with 2020 green proposals means farmers would be forced to set aside seven per cent of land on top of any fallow pasture that already exists. This is utterly counter-intuitive to sustaining a healthy agricultural sector.

Self-sufficiency has always proven to be the keystone to gaining any prosperity.

in briefPeer mentors are needed by project

PEOPLE in the Welshpool area are being urged to become peer mentors and help people who are suffering from drug or alcohol abuse.

Nicola Evans, of Peer Mentoring Powys, said: "Peer Mentoring Wales is a European Social Fund-backed initiative which provides additional support for people who have been affected by drugs or alcohol."

"The support is provided by volunteer mentors who are likely themselves to have personal experiences of substance misuse."

Join in walk with Jim as the leader

ON Sunday Jim Rowley will lead Welshpool Ramblers on a 'moderate' grade circular walk of 10 miles.

Starting from near the quarry in Cefn Coch at 10am, the route comprises bridle paths, and field walking with some short climbs.

Meet 9.30am at Church Street car park where shared transport may be available, or at the start of the walk. All welcome, no dogs. Call 07849 360483.

Red Arrows fly in for air show

THE Red Arrows will appear at an air show in Mid Wales this weekend.

Bosses of Welshpool Air Show, renamed the Bob Jones Memorial Air Show, said hundreds of people were expected to turn out to see the aerobatic display team at this year's event on Sunday.

Last year's event was badly affected by low cloud and rain causing many flights to be cancelled and the planned Red Arrows display had to be curtailed. The display team did fly over but was barely visible through the low cloud.

End of an era as Tony retires

MEMBERS of the Welshpool & Llanfair Light Railway Preservation Company witnessed the end of an era at their annual meeting, when Tony Thorndike stepped down from his role as a trustee of the line.

Barrister Tony has spent 41 years on the board, included as vice-chairman, and playing a central role at many crucial times for the popular narrow gauge line.

He is best known among members for the repatriation of the 1927 locomotive Joan from Antigua. He was on the Caribbean island on holiday in 1971 when he was told the loco was in a locked shed, and had to promise to buy a new padlock and a bottle of rum before staff broke in so he could look.

Tony was a signatory to the cheque, and the 95 per cent mortgage, when the Preservation Company bought the railway from British Rail in 1974, and played a central role in other major events.

He was presented with an original working plate from the locomotive George - a sibling to Joan in Antigua.

John Morgan, one of the event's organisers, said committee members wanted to make this year's show one of the best ever in tribute to Mr Jones.

Father-of-two Mr Jones, 60, founder and manager of the airport in Welshpool, was one of two men who died on January 18 when the seven-seater Piper Navajo light aircraft they were in came down on the Long Mountain, near Leighton, close to Welshpool.

Mr Jones was one of the founders and organisers of Welshpool Air Show, which has been held at his airport since it was launched more than three years ago.

Mr Morgan said: "Bob was Mr Aviation. This was his airfield. He cut the grass, pumped up the tyres, painted the fences, dipped the fuel, and flew all the planes."

"He could and would fly anything and it is with Bob Jones in mind that we, his friends and fellow pilots, want to keep the air show alive in his memory."

Attractions on the day will include aerial displays and flypasts, RAF Falcons parachute team, the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight, a vintage car rally, stationary displays, an auto jumble sale, RAF flight simulator, helicopter rides and bouncy castle.

The event will start at 10am and parking will be provided at the airport as well as a free shuttle bus from the tourist information centre in Welshpool every half-an-hour starting at 9am. Admission is £5 for adults, £4 concessions and £3 children under 11.

Quilt donated to raise funds

NURSES from Welshpool Hospital are holding a raffle with numerous prizes in aid of the Montgomeryshire Emergency Doctors (MEDS), with the first prize being this double bed quilt. The quilt is reversible with large black and white flowers on one side and a deconstructed nine patch pattern on the main side. Holding the quilt are clockwise from front left Cath Hewitt, Elery Williams who made the quilt, Linda Aldridge, Gwyneth Davies and Suzanne Evans. Raffle tickets are available from hospital staff. Festival bosses in calls for support ORGANISERS of the Welshpool Street Scene Festival want businesses and organisations to get behind the event and take part.

Alan Crowe, organiser, said the event will breathe new life into the town centre.

He said: "If 60 businesses or organisations do something extra on the day, that is 60 more attractions to add to the growing number being staged by the organisers."

"The day promises to be an exciting one for the town with something for all age groups and interests to enjoy."

"Welshpool Street Scene Festival 2012 is a new event aimed at putting life and footfall into the Welshpool town centre and will take place on June 30, bringing together community groups, craft workers, food and drink producers, folk musicians, live bands, costumed characters, street entertainers and youth theatre, alongside businesses and retailers creating an unforgettable family carnival atmosphere in a fun event for all the family."

Anyone wishing to get involved should contact Mr Alan Crowe on 07782 166342.

Spotlight falls on value of canal restoration work

Sssss-cary encounter

GETTING to grips with a Colombian Rainbow Boa called Inca at the Flash leisure centre in Welshpool, is two-year-old Kenal Pritchard, from Forden, near Welshpool, as part in one of a series of half term activities organised by Powys County Council Leisure and Recreation Service.

by Graham Breeze

EXPERTS will be revealing what the restoration of the Montgomery Canal can mean to people in Welshpool on Monday.

This year's Montgomery Canal Forum, 'Just add Water', will be held at Welshpool Town Hall at 2.30pm.

The forum will be an opportunity to hear what the benefits of the reopened canal as far as Maesbury Marsh are and what will be on offer when further lengths are reopened.

The meeting will hear from Brent Ellis and Mark Baggett of the Navigation Inn, Maesbury Marsh, along with Iain Campbell of Canal Central, Maesbury Marsh - a village shop and tearoom with broadband wi-fi internet access and canoe and bicycle hire facilities.

Steve Evison of consultancy Resources for Change4, whose own Underhill Farm, near the canal in Pant, offers a low impact eco-tourism site with accommodation, wild craft and outdoor activities will also speak.

Trust chairman Michael Limbrey said: "In Maesbury Marsh we can see what the restored canal can bring, and what canalside businesses can bring to the canal."

"As the restoration is continued to the border at Llanymynech, and then joins to the restored section in Wales, there will be more opportunities for other communities."

The meeting will also hear about events on the canal this year - Pool Quay Canal Festival on July 7 and 8 and Maesbury Canal Festival on September 1 and 2 - and there will be an opportunity to discuss any other issue concerning the future of the Montgomery Canal.

Andrew Stumpf, head of national programmes for British Waterways, said: "The businesses at Maesbury are examples of the sort of small enterprise that can flourish thanks to an active imagination and the filip of canal generated visits."

celebrate jubilee

WELSHPOOL'S Powysland Museum has launched an exhibition to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

The museum has launched a colourful exhibition of memorabilia from The Queen's Coronation in 1953 loaned to the museum by former Powys Councillor Simon Baynes, from Llanfyllin.

"The Queen has shared parts or all of this history with the people in this country, her life has touched most people in one way or another and her reign has encompassed everybody," said curator Eva Bredsdorff.

"It is natural that the Powysland Museum wishes to commemorate The Queen's Diamond Jubilee."

Class of 82 invited to school reunion

A WELSHPOOL High School class of 1982 school reunion will be held on Saturday.

Anyone who was in the fifth form of the school in 1982 is welcome to attend the reunion at Welshpool Social Club, Brook Street, at 8pm.

Tickets are £10 and include hog roast and disco and all proceeds will be matched by Barclays Bank and donated to Marie Curie Cancer Care.

Partners are welcome and tickets are available from Kaye Derwas on (01938) 552246.

Consult public on station closures, AM tells police

DYFED Powys Police must consult the public over proposals to shut front-desk services at Welshpool police station, an AM has warned.

Joyce Watson, AM for Mid & West Wales, has called on police chiefs to ask members of the public what they think of the plan as well as urging them to speak to unions and staff who would be directly affected.

The force announced last month that front counters at seven stations could shut to the public.

As well as Welshpool, stations under review include Milford Haven, Fishguard, Tenby, Lampeter, Ystradgynlais and Ammanford.

The force has to cut costs by £13 million by 2015, but stressed that its proposal would not lead to a drop in service. Staff affected by the changes would have the chance to redeploy elsewhere, but redundancies are not ruled out.

Dyfed-Powys Police said it would always try to avoid redundancies where possible. Chief Constable Ian Arundale said fewer people were using police stations and it was a growing trend.

As a result, the force is looking to change the way it delivers counter services by using mobile stations and holding more police surgeries.

Despite this, the stations under review would not close completely.

by Graham Breeze

Mr Arundale said: "The review highlights the changing way the public access our services and we need to acknowledge and adapt to this in order to provide the best possible service for our residents."

"The force is always looking at ways to improve its service to the public and these proposed changes will help us achieve that while also reducing costs to meet the coalition government's cost reduction target for the force of over £13 million by 2015/16."

But Mrs Watson hit back, saying: "I am aware that consultation has begun with unions and the staff who would be directly affected by those closures, but Dyfed-Powys also needs to listen to the public view on this."

"After all, this is all about how the public communicates and engages with police in their communities."

Pupils in Olympic spirit at mini games

MORE than 500 children from Mid Wales schools got into the Olympic spirit by holding their own mini games.

Over 560 pupils from Arddleen, Berriew, Buttington and Trewern, Forden, Guilsfield, Leighton, Llandysilio, Maes-y-Dre, Montgomery and Trefnanny primary schools took part, and kicked off the event at The Flash Leisure Centre with their own version of an opening ceremony.

Each school represented a different country, with flags and decorated t-shirts - Forden took the prize as Jamaica. Before the event they had also learnt a dance from their respective countries and performed it in front of the other schools.

The children were later coached by volunteers and tried their hands at wrestling, laser rifle shooting, handball, golf, boxercise, free running, and Zumba, and Paralympic sports of bocce, blind football, seated volleyball and goalball, as well as learning the Olympic mascot dance, which was performed at the closing ceremony.

Cycle tour pop singer performs hotel gig

PAUL Heaton, the former lead singer of the Housemartins and the Beautiful South performed a superb 90-minute set at the Royal Oak Hotel on Friday night as part of his British tour.

Heaton has turned 50 and to mark the birthday, he is touring around Britain on his bike, playing gigs in pubs at each stop to try and promote British pub life.

His day started battling driving rain cycling from Porthmadog to Welshpool, a painstaking 67 miles, taking his tally to 1,667 miles so far.

It was billed as Welshpool's biggest ever concert and few there will disagree with fans from as far afield as London in the sold-out audience.

The Royal Oak further enhanced its reputation as a fine live music venue and judging by the crowds who were also supporting local artists Dai Robs and Chris Cookson in the restaurant next door, the town certainly has an appetite for more.

Summer rounders sessions planned

OSWESTRY Rugby Club is joining forces with Shropshire Council to start games of rounders over the summer.

The club, in Park Hall, will be hosting the sport sessions from June 20 for people aged between 14 and 25.

The club is hosting the sessions thanks to the Sportivate initiative, a programme funded by Sport England aimed at encouraging more youngsters to take part in sport.

Shropshire councillor Steve Charmley, cabinet member for active and healthy lifestyles, said: "When this opportunity arose I jumped at the idea."

"I have been very keen to develop rounders at the rugby club for some time, as it makes a great sporting opportunity during the summer. I hope young people will take this chance to get involved. If it proves popular I would like to see a regular team established at the club."

Sessions will run from 6.30pm until 7.30pm for eight weeks and will be led by a qualified level two rounders coach. They will cost 50p per session.

To take part or for more information contact Sarah Ruff, sports development officer, by e-mailing sarah.ruff@shropshire.gov.uk or call (01743) 255076.

Road closure change relief

BUSINESS owners have breathed a sigh of relief after council chiefs altered plans to close a vital tourist route to mid and north Wales.

Tourist outlets in Llangynog feared a planned nine-week closure of a two-mile stretch of the B4391 road would devastate trade this summer.

The firms have now been told it is likely the road will only be closed to heavy vehicles such as HGV lorries and the closure will now take place at the end of June.

Mike Atherton, the owner of Pen Derw bed and breakfast and Rivers Nest catering cabins in Llangynog, said the council rethink was a result of pressure from the community.

He said: "I think this is a victory for the community."

"The road was supposed to close on June 6 but in fact it was never really closed."

"They were still letting traffic through. I have spoken to the highways department at Denbighshire County Council and they say there is now a change of plan."

"The road will now fully reopen and the closure will be put off until the end of June."

"And they told me the closure at the end of June should only be for heavy vehicles. Hopefully cars and other normal traffic will be able to get through as normal."

"It is great news and the message now needs to get out that we are open for business as usual."

"A lot of businesses rely on the tourist trade around here and so hopefully we can have a good summer."

Denbighshire County Council spokeswoman Karen Allen confirmed the closure plans had been altered.

She said the road had now been reopened and from Monday until June 24 the road would be open to all traffic with two-way traffic lights in operation.

And she said from June 25 to August 3 the road would be closed to HGVs but light vehicles and cars would be allowed access through the site. Due to the reconstruction of the carriageway there would be times when traffic would be delayed by about 20 minutes, she said.

Mrs Thomas added: "Every one penny of the money raised through this event will help Hope House to continue to provide vital care and support to local terminally ill children and their families."

Walkers head for Snowdon

FUNDRAISERS for Shropshire's Hope House Children's Hospice are appealing for keen walkers to join them for a group climb of Wales' highest peak next month.

The group will set off along the main tourist track to the top of Mount Snowdon on July 14.

Fundraising manager Vanessa Thomas said: "To make the event a real success we would love a group of 50 people to join us."

"We have qualified guides leading the trek and are praying that by July the summer will have begun and we can make the most of the stunning views from the top."

It costs £20 for adults to register and £10 for children.

Adults are also being asked to raise £80 in sponsorship.

Mrs Thomas added: "Every one penny of the money raised through this event will help Hope House to continue to provide vital care and support to local terminally ill children and their families."

Charity market hailed a success

Margaret Clegg at the market raising funds for SADS UK.

MORE than 20 charities took part in a recruitment drive during a special market set up in Oswestry to celebrate Volunteers' Week.

The charity market was staged at Bailey Head on Friday and was used by groups from throughout Shropshire to publicise what they do and to recruit volunteers.

The event was organised by a partnership of community action organisation Qube and Oswestry Town Council.

Stallholders said they were pleased with the reaction from the public despite the wet weather.

Among the groups taking part in the event was Age Concern, Guide Dogs for the Blind, Disabled Holidays Information, Hope House, the RSPB, Oswestry's Cambrian Heritage Railways and Knit for Life for charity.

The event was of special significance for the Knit for Life charity who chose the market to launch their organisation.

The group encourages people to knit items and the items are then passed on to needy causes.

Among the group the charity helps is the West Mercia Child Abuse Unit which uses Knitted garments such as blankets are passed on to orphanages in South Africa.

Week of events is lined up for shop

A BOOKSHOP in Oswestry will be joining stores across the country to celebrate Independent Booksellers week.

Booka Bookshop, in Church Street, will be holding a number of events over the week, which runs from June 30 - July 7.

Owners of the store have invited authors Gaynor Arnold and Wendy Jones to visit the town and talk about their books at an event in Oswestry Library on June 30, from 7pm.

This event has been organised to help kick off Independent Booksellers week as well as celebrate National Reading Day.

Booka Bookshop also plans to invite a writer in residence, children's author Steve Hartley, to the store as well as food critic and writer William Sitwell, who is editor of the Waitrose Magazine and co-presenter of 'A Question of Taste' with Kirsty Wark.

Carrie Morris, one of Booka Bookshop's owners, said she would be working with Oswestry cake company Crumblicious to sell a range of 'Literary Cupcakes' linked to the events.

On July 13 Mrs Morris will use her shop to host book launch and donut decorating workshop with Anthony McGowan, author of 'The Donut Diaries'.

Dangerous driver jailed

Club buys cast saw

Mike Jones, President, Rotary Club of Oswestry and Gilly Scott, Clinical Lead, MIUs with the new saw in the Plaster Room at the site of the Oswestry MIU.

THE Rotary Club of Oswestry is nothing if not patient. In 2004 the club launched a project to fund a piece of equipment for the then-planned Oswestry Health Centre and, eight years later, the equipment has been handed over.

Inspired by 'Calendar Girls', the club raised £760 by creating and selling a calendar which followed the mixed fortunes of the health centre project.

The club purchased an electric cast saw for the Minor Injuries Unit (MIU) and on June 7 it was handed over by club president Mike Jones.

Accepting the equipment on behalf of the Shropshire Community Health NHS Trust – responsible for Oswestry's DAART (Diagnostic, Assessment & Access to Rehabilitation & Treatment) and MIU was Gilly Scott, Clinical Lead, MIUs.

She said: "The electric saw will make a big difference when the unit opens. It makes the job of removing a cast very quick and easy."

"The manual alternative can be slow and painful – especially difficult when we are treating patients suffering from significant swelling, and children."

"In fact children react very positively to this tool – you might expect them to be intimidated by it, but they think it is great."

"We are also just starting to work on plans for additional services at the MIU which, if they are implemented, will create an even greater need for this piece of equipment."

Meeting with PM for talented Care

A YOUNG entrepreneur from Oswestry who turned her life around with help from The Prince's Trust met the Prime Minister at the launch of a Government initiative.

Photographer Care Johnson, 18, spoke to David Cameron as the Government announced new funding for young entrepreneurs.

The £82.5 million Start Up Loan scheme aims to give a new generation of entrepreneurs the finance and support to potentially start more than 30,000 new businesses, in turn boosting enterprise and economic growth.

Care had been struggling to find work before The Prince's Trust helped her to set up as a photographer. At the age of 16, she left college and moved to Shropshire after becoming estranged from her family in Yorkshire.

She secured a Prince's Trust Development Award to buy a digital camera and completed a six-month internship in a photography studio where she excelled and was offered sub-contracted work.

The youth charity awarded her a £1,000 loan to buy a lighting kit and a telephoto lens. Care's projects have ranged from local tourist brochures, agricultural shows, baby shoots, dog agility classes and a commercial shoot for Farmer's Weekly.

She said: "It was amazing to meet David Cameron. It was one of the best things I've ever done and he seemed impressed with my photos."

Projects to share £5,000

VILLAGES around Oswestry can look forward to a £5,000 cash boost, council chiefs have revealed.

A sum of £5,000 was set aside in case the £20,000 project to build a pedestrian crossing in Gobowen ran over budget, but Shropshire councillor David Lloyd said the work ran on time and on budget.

He said the unsent money would be used in the future for projects supported by the Gobowen, Selatyn, St Martins and Weston Rhyn Local Joint Committee.

The pedestrian crossing was installed at The Cross in the village centre earlier this year.

It followed concerns raised by community leaders about road safety and the speed of traffic coming through the area.

A 26-YEAR-OLD man from Oswestry has been jailed for 18 months for a string of driving offences, including driving at a man at a filling station.

by Graham Breeze

Todd Curley, of Maple Court Oswestry, who is also known as Todd Davies, drove his purple BMW towards Matthew Williams to frighten him, Shrewsbury Crown Court heard last Friday.

The incident happened on February 2 at the Gledrid BP garage, the court heard.

Curley was involved in a confrontation with Mr Williams, who he used to work with.

Mr Robert Edwards, prosecuting, said: "The defendant drove the vehicle towards Mr Williams, causing him to jump out of the way."

"There was then a further confrontation before the defendant drove off." Curley was arrested later that day at his home and admitted what had happened.

He pleaded guilty to dangerous driving, driving without insurance and driving while disqualified at an earlier hearing.

The incident put him in breach of a suspended sentence for dangerous driving and another for driving while disqualified.

Mr Paul Smith, defending, said: "The car lurched forward to frighten but not to injure. It was impulsive and stupid."

Curley was given eight months for dangerous driving, four months for driving while disqualified and six months for two breaches of suspended sentences.

He was also banned from driving for two years.

Recycle more plea in summer of sport

COUNCIL chiefs are urging people in the Welshpool area to recycle more after fears that a busy summer of sport could see a drop in figures.

Powys County Council said 725,000 plastic bottles will be used by residents as they watch Euro 2012 and the London Olympic Games.

Now it is urging people to ensure all waste is disposed of properly.

Steve Holdaway, head of local and environmental services at Powys County Council said: "If everyone in Wales recycles just one more plastic bottle each during Recycle Week, we'd save enough energy to power roughly 3,500 plasma TVs for a year."

"If we can encourage people to change their behaviour and start recycling as much as possible now, the difference it will make over the summer when we're all likely to be out and about and creating a lot more waste will be huge."

"If waste is thrown away, it ends up in landfill sites which are beginning to severely run out of space, as well as produce harmful greenhouse gases which damage the local environment."

The council will celebrate Recycle Week from June 22.

Windfarm guidelines are urged

TOUGHER noise guidelines to protect people living near windfarms have been recommended by a group of politicians.

The Welsh Assembly's petitions committee said windfarm buffer zones should be amended to ensure turbines were placed further from homes to protect people from noise in some circumstances.

An inquiry was launched after hearing from people who said they were suffering because of the noise created by turbines near their homes.

MP backs support for NFU campaign

MONTGOMERY MP Glyn Davies has spoken out in support of farmers across Mid Wales by signing up to a new campaign.

Mr Davies joined more than 60 peers and Government Ministers in the House of Commons to mark the launch of the NFU's national Farming Delivers for Britain campaign.

The new campaign will concentrate on the six key themes of food, the economy, the environment, animal welfare, careers and cleaner energy.

A new NFU report reveals that farming contributed about £85 billion to the UK economy last year and provided 3.5 million jobs.

Mr Davies, a farmer himself, who lives in Berriew, near Welshpool, said: "Farming is an industry which we can be very proud of in the UK, especially in Mid Wales. It is the economic powerhouse of Montgomeryshire and we must never underestimate its importance."

"Britain has incredibly high animal welfare standards and produces some of the highest quality meat which ships all over the world."

"As a farmer I am keen to support the NFU in its latest campaign which recognises farms and farmers for the vital contribution they make to Britain and its economy."

Hundreds gather to enjoy afternoon of entertainment

MORE than 300 people attended a family fun day at Gobowen's playing fields to see the village's Rose Queen crowned and to enjoy an afternoon of entertainment.

Various stalls were set up at the fete on Saturday and entertainment was provided by groups including the Ifon Band and the Border Counties School of Dance.

A dog agility demonstration was staged, a circus skills workshop was held and the Mersey Morris Men attended to provide a Morris Dancing exhibition.

An archery demonstration was also staged with many visitors taking the opportunity

Chance to be a market trader

WOULD-be market traders are being offered the chance to take a stall at Oswestry for just £10.

Oswestry Market is one of more than 300 markets taking part in the national Love Your Local Market campaign inspired by Mary Portas' report on the future of our high streets.

Love Your Local Market in Oswestry takes place between June 23-29. The campaign aims to attract new market traders and also aims to highlight the importance that markets play in the heart of the local community.

David Clough, the council's retail and events manager, said: "Stalls are also available for local charities or for other organisations such as the library and various other local groups."

He added: "There will be plenty of entertainment, face painting, giveaways and competitions to celebrate the occasion."

to try their hand with a bow and arrow.

The highlight of the afternoon was the crowning of the village's Rose Queen who this year is 13-year-old Rhyn Park School pupil Lauren Dempster-Edwards.

Several local groups used the event to promote their work and recruit volunteers.

Among the groups present was Oswestry Area Community First Responders.

Demonstrations

Grant Cathcart, from the group, said: "We are often the first to an incident and we can give life-saving first aid until paramedics arrive."

"We are raising awareness of what we do and we have been giving demonstrations on CPR and how to use a defibrillator."

"We are also asking people to help fundraise and support us."

Other groups such as the Oswestry Orthopaedic Male Voice Choir, Gobowen All-Rounders pre school and the Bryn y Castell Conservation Group, which is developing a wildlife area in the village, were also present to promote their work and to recruit more members.

Several local councillors also attended the event including members of Selattyn and Gobowen Parish Council.

Double celebration for Carole

CAROLE Davidson had more reasons than most to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee because she was celebrating her own birthday as well. Carole was one of the helpers at All Saints Parish Church in Gobowen when residents got together to celebrate the jubilee with a party in the village hall.

Abseilers wanted to support charities

POSTERS are being handed out to shops across Oswestry as part of a recruitment drive for a fundraising abseil challenge.

Borderland Rotary Club is organising the charity abseil down Oswestry Fire Station's training tower.

This year's fundraiser, which will be a main feature of an open day at the fire station, will be held on June 30 and rotary chiefs hope to raise as much money as possible for a number of local causes, including Midlands and Wales Air Ambulance and the Firefighters Charity.

Plans for the abseil were discussed at the latest meeting of the Rotary group, which took place on Wednesday.

Members also heard from Rotarian Neil Ruby who reported that the bookstall at the Derwen Fete raised £334 for the Derwen College.

The next event will be a bottle tombola stall at the Oswestry Orthopaedic Hospital fete on June 23.

The meeting also heard that 13 bikes had been sent off to the Bikes 4 Africa appeal and members agreed to provide £130 to refurbish them.

Rotarian Jonathan Jones reported that 155 riders rose to the club's 22-mile bike challenge over the Berwyn Mountains last month and £5,637 had been pledged.

All times are currently estimates. Passengers are dropped off in the evening by our charter train at the same stations boarded in the morning. This one-off day excursion is entirely by direct train formed of traditional Intercity carriages, with pre-reserved seating for all passengers and a buffet service available throughout our journeys. To reach Canterbury we run via the rural and cityscapes of the West Coast Mainline, across London and the Thames as well as the oft picturesque county of Kent.

CANTERBURY: A break of up to 4 hours is expected. The city is a UNESCO World Heritage Site, has two castles, six museums and an attraction that lets you step back in time to the Middle Ages are some of what is on offer in historic Canterbury. The famous Cathedral, St Augustine's Abbey and St Martins church form the trio of World Heritage Sites. Alongside these, there is Canterbury Tales, where you can step back into the Middle Ages and join the pilgrims on their journey from London to Canterbury Cathedral. You may also wish to sample the history of the area through one of the frequent river cruises. Within the city area there's also plenty of unique shops selling a good variety of gifts and souvenirs, plus a good range of pubs, bars and eateries.

TICKETS are available at £59 each (STANDARD CLASS – adult), £44 (child under 16 – STANDARD CLASS) & £99 (FIRST CLASS – all ages). These are only available from "Compass Tours". Military antiques
wanted
for sale

OSWESTRY and Welshpool area people are being urged to search their attics and storerooms for antique guns, swords, war medals and all kinds of militaria that might be worth a small fortune.

For those interested in discovering the market value of collections or individual items, experts from leading fine art auction house Halls are holding a free valuation day at the Welsh Bridge, Shrewsbury on Monday from 10am to 1pm.

Fine art director Jeremy Lamond will be on hand to give appraisals for Halls, who are now gathering items for the company's next militaria auction on August 8.

The company is keen to see antique firearms such as flintlocks, muskets, percussion caps, centre and rim fire weapons and duelling pistols, swords, medals, helmets, military art, books, uniforms and other types of militaria.

Mr Lamond reported strong auction interest in antique firearms, armour and war medals. "We are particularly keen to hear from people with private collections of militaria that they may wish to be valued," he added.

For information contact Halls on Tel: 01743 284777 or e-mail: jeremy@halls.co.uk

Sweet success for Mollie

Co-owner Becky Price and Mollie at the Welshpool shop.

Mollie at the shop in Shrewsbury.

Inside the busy store in Shrewsbury.

Children flock to Mollie's in Welshpool.

The colourful shop in Newtown.

GOOD golly Miss Mollie – is this Britain's youngest business whizz?

The average six-year-old is still learning their 10 times table, but Mid Wales schoolgirl Mollie Price is proving she would already give the very best adult entrepreneurs a run for their money.

One of the youngest entrepreneurs in the UK is the brains behind aptly-named Mollie's, a modern sweetshop selling traditional British sweets and American candy.

by David Seadon

With the help of her mum Becky, the Welshpool youngster has now opened up her third store in Shrewsbury's Pride Hill Shopping Centre to add to two existing branches on Welshpool High Street and in Newtown's Bear Lanes Shopping Centre.

Talent

The budding business talent has proved running a shop is child's play and, according to her mother, the three stores are organised and stocked to her daughter's strict instructions as the empire continues to expand.

Mrs Price said: "It might sound crazy but believe me Mollie is the real brains behind the operation."

"She dictates what we sell and is up at 5am every Sunday ready to go to our wholesale suppliers in Birmingham to restock."

"Once there she very carefully chooses what we buy and what we should and should not stock. She really is very particular. And it seems to work as we have been incredibly busy since opening our latest store in Pride Hill. However, we have a prime location and chose Pride Hill because it's incredibly vibrant and always busy. And of course we have the benefit of seven day trading which is a huge help to a business such as ours."

When the youngster is not busy attending Buttington Primary School, in Welshpool, she regularly offers her mum and business partner advice to boost profits.

Mollie said: "Children have the best ideas. I tell my mum what I think and she always says I have good ideas. It's just that I know what other children like."

Big party as school is closed for good

STAFF at a Maesbury School, which will close in a matter of weeks, have vowed to go out with a celebration.

Parents, governors and staff at Maesbury School lost their battle to keep the school open last year and the doors will close for the final time at the end of the summer term.

But staff and governors have revealed details of a full day of activities on June 30 aimed at celebrating the 89 years of the school and the achievements of its teachers and pupils.

Linda Rickards, from the school, said: "We have a big party planned and we are sure many families will really enjoy what we are planning."

"It is a celebration of the life of the school really. We are closing but we want to go out on a positive note."

"We have a whole day of events at the school planned on June 30. At 2pm we will have a children's entertainer and then at 4pm we will have a birthday party to celebrate the 89th year of the school and we will also have a children's tea party."

"At 5pm we will have a balloon release and then at 6pm we will have a hog roast."

"Tickets cost £5 for adults and £3 for children and tickets are available from the school. The fun continues at 7pm when a band and disco entertain in a marquee."

Group to email evidence of road dangers direct to MPs

DANGEROUS drivers and speeders could be caught on camera and the evidence sent to MPs as a campaign group battles on for a new bypass on the Shropshire/Wales border.

People are being urged to take photographs and videos of motorists using the A483 which could be taken as evidence by the Pant and Llanymynech Action Group to prove a bypass is needed around the villages.

Members of the group have launched a new email account for people to send photographic evidence of issues caused by traffic. Owen Paterson, MP for north Shropshire, and Glyn Davies, MP for Montgomeryshire, have also been given the passwords so they can access the account to draw on the emails when they need evidence as they help fight for the cause.

Mike Catt, from the action group, said: "Things have got to be more official. We had a book and that was fine but a lot of it could be hearsay and anyone could fill anything in."

"Having an email account makes it traceable and official."

"We want everything, from potholes to speeding and dangerous drivers, anything making life miserable. We want the inbox full of facts for Owen Paterson."

"It is auditable and it's stronger evidence."

"MPs Owen Paterson and Glyn Davies said we need photographs. We will then have a case."

"We are stepping up our game."

The group has also decided to try and get surveyors on board to get evidence that passing trucks rumbling past homes in the village may have caused damage to its houses.

The Pant and Llanymynech Action Group formed earlier this year to restart a long-time battle to get a new road built in the area.

Mr Catt said the villages were promised a bypass nine years ago.

Petition to aid housing fight

A PETITION has been launched against proposals to set up a new organisation to run Shropshire's council housing service.

Members of campaign group Oswestry Defend Council Housing are urging all tenants to back their battle and sign up to their fight against Shropshire Council's plans.

The council is working on plans to set up what is known as an Arms Length Management Organisation (ALMO) to run its housing service in the future.

It says moving to a new kind of management will enable tenants to take decisions about their homes rather than the council.

But Jean Danby, from Oswestry Defend Council Housing, says she also wants tenants' support - but to oppose the plans rather than support it.

She said she had set up a petition and was calling for every tenant to join the fight.

Mrs Danby said she would call on her experience in battling Oswestry Borough Council over housing in 2007.

Residents gather for site launch

A NEW pond has been dedicated to the memory of a 'key person' of a village on the Shropshire/Wales border.

The residents of Llanymynech gathered at the Llanymynech Heritage Area to see the planting of a tree and the opening of a pond in memory of Dr Gillian Poole.

Dr Poole died suddenly last year.

Her daughter Claire said: "She would have loved it. She loved getting involved with anything in the community."

Patients happiest with care in Powys

PATIENTS in Powys are happier with the standard of nursing care than in any other area in Wales, a new report has claimed.

The third annual All Wales Fundamentals of Care Audit Summary Report brings together results from hospitals across Wales.

The report shows that patients in the county gave high or very high scores in many of the 12 areas audited, with significant improvement reported in the area of respecting people.

Feedback

There were also excellent user experience results in the field of ensuring comfort and alleviating pain, with staff in all seven health boards gaining over 95 per cent positive feedback - and Powys Teaching Health Board achieving a 100 per cent score.

Carol Shillabeer, director of nursing for Powys Teaching Health Board, said fundamentals of care were the basic elements of patient care, such as how patients were communicated with, kept clean, and how well they ate, drank, slept, and whether they felt safe and valued while in hospital.

She said: "I am very pleased that the hard work and dedication of our nursing staff has been reflected in this report."

Olympics star will be guest at Games

David Moorcroft

FORMER 5,000-metre world record holder David Moorcroft will be visiting Oswestry to support the town's Olympics-style community games, it has been revealed.

Mr Moorcroft, who represented Great Britain at three Olympic Games and broke the 5,000 metre world record in 1982, has pledged to attend the final day of Oswestry Games which will be held in the town from July 6 to 15.

Organisers have described securing Mr Moorcroft for the day as 'fantastic' and hope he will start the Oswestry 10k run event and hand out medals at the end.

Jon Hancock, games organiser, said he hoped the news would encourage more people to get involved with the event.

He said: "It is very exciting news and he is a personal hero of mine."

Cancellation rumours aren't true, say show organisers

ORGANISERS of an annual event at Oswestry's Park Hall show-ground say the show goes ahead this weekend.

Rumours that the show could be cancelled were denied by Del Fidler, chairman of Clwyd Veteran and Vintage Machinery Society, who said there was never any doubt it would happen. The 34th annual show will not be affected by damage caused to the showground during the torrential rain which hit Osfest when it was held there earlier this month.

"The showground owners have put in a massive amount of work to repair any damage caused and there is simply no truth in rumours that our show was ever in danger."

Concert for a summer night

OSWESTRY chamber choir Cantiones will present a concert of light music for a summer evening later this month.

There will be a selection of light hearted songs, such as arrangements of Teddy Bears' Picnic, I Do Like To Be Beside The Seaside, and Old MacDonald, as well as a selection from West Side Story.

Cheese and wine are included and it will take place at St Silin's Parish Church at 7.30pm on June 26.

Choir member Eileen Limbrey said: "At our summer concerts, Cantiones perform less serious music, and we enjoy an evening of food, drink and song with our audience."

"This year we are going to Llansilin for the first time and this year's concert is to help the fundraising for St Silin's church, which dates from the 15th century."

Tickets cost £8 from Llansilin Community Shop, Rowanholme shop, Beatrice St, Oswestry, or on the door.

Club hears talk on Chronicle

OSWESTRY & Border Chronicle associate editor Graham Breeze was the guest speaker at Oswestry Tangent Club's monthly meeting. He spoke to the group about difficult times being encountered by the media industry and of how Shropshire Newspapers had bucked the trend by launching a new newspaper in Oswestry.

Heritage explored by Welsh society

OSWESTRY'S Welsh heritage could soon be uncovered if plans to set up a new group prove successful.

An open meeting will be held later this month to discuss plans to establish a local branch of the Welsh Place-name Society, or Cymdeithas Enwau Lleodedd Cymru to give it its Welsh title.

It works to promote the awareness, study and understanding of local place names.

And with Oswestry right on the border and full of Welsh influences, society chiefs are looking to set up a local group to collect and record Welsh place names in the area.

The group works to improve knowledge of place names and their relationship to the language, landscape, history and culture of Wales.

The open meeting, to be held on June 28 in Christ Church Meeting Room in Arthur Street, Oswestry, at 10am.

It will hear a presentation from Dr Rhian Parry from the Welsh Place-name Society.

The aim of the initial meeting will be to set up a local group to work with the society in collecting and recording Welsh place names including field names and street names.

Politicians visit Methodist lunch

A LUNCH club on the Shropshire border enjoyed a visit from two politicians.

Clwyd South MP Susan Elan Jones and Assembly member Ken Skates visited the Chirk Methodist Community Lunch Club. Both representatives gave short talks and answered questions about their work.

"This is such a well-attended luncheon club. It is a real focus for the community and so well-organised," said Mrs Jones.

Mr Skates added: "It was a real pleasure to visit today and to meet local residents."

Chirk Lunch Club is open to new members. Senior citizens who live in the Chirk area and would like to attend should contact (01691) 778425.

Get technology training in town

PEOPLE in Oswestry keen to learn more about technology are being invited to drop-in sessions at the town's secondary school.

The Marches School is hosting sessions every Wednesday between 11.15am and 12.45pm.

One-to-one tuition is available and the sessions are aimed at adults with lessons personally tailored to meet individual needs.

Crows blamed for damage to round house attraction

A NEW thatched roof can last for half a century – but bosses of a tourist attraction near Oswestry had to call in a top thatcher after just three years when their roof became a favourite spot for crows.

The birds started attacking the roof on the replica Iron Age round house at Park Hall Countryside Experience near Oswestry about six months ago. And now that the thatched roof has been repaired, bosses are wondering how best to stop the troublesome birds from returning.

Staff feared the damage would let rain through to soak the display inside, which includes a woven hazel mattress and a sheepskin blanket, as well as a cauldron and loom.

Master thatcher Phil Hallsworth of Shrewsbury spent a day and a half repairing the damage.

He was able to make a patch out of water reed and wheat thatch, saving Park Hall the £10,000 cost of a new roof.

The replica round house was built at Park Hall in 2009 and has proved popular with families and children. But staff have ruled out using wire as they believe it would detract from the attraction's Iron Age authenticity.

by Chrissy Symmons

Two men pulled down two signs from a street in Welshpool only to return them two days later – one of them in a damaged condition.

Dyfed-Powys Police said the signs were removed from Hall Street at about 4am on May 27.

Sharon Reynolds, force spokeswoman, said: "At approximately 4am on May 27 two males removed two freestanding, insecure metal signs, both approximately a metre high from the bottom of Hall Street in Welshpool."

"The signs belonged to commercial premises on Hall Street."

"The males have approached the area by walking down Hall Street and then dragging the signs in the direction of the Sainsbury's supermarket."

"At approximately 11.55pm on May 29 the two males have been captured on CCTV returning the signs to Hall Street, however one of the signs returned was damaged."

Pecked

And the prospect of dead crows being put up on the roof to deter others from visiting has been ruled out because the round house is popular with families.

Rachel Mottram, spokeswoman for Park Hall, said: "We had a lot of problems with crows."

"They pecked the top of the round house and decimated it and it looked a mess."

"We have no protection from the crows whatsoever and we are not sure what we are going to do."

Mr Hallsworth, who works all over Britain and as far afield as Belgium, said crows were not an unusual problem in his 25-year career but admitted some thatched roofs get attacked more than others.

He said whether the birds came back again was 'in the lap of the gods'.

Delays as traffic is held up by lorry

RUSH hour motorists faced delays on one of Shropshire's main routes after a lorry broke down on the A5 between Oswestry and Shrewsbury last Thursday.

Drivers encountered lengthy queues and congestion, particularly around the Shotatton crossroads and the B4397 junction near Ruyton-XI-Towns.

Police spokesman Richard Ewels said officers were called to the scene to direct traffic.

"We had a call just before 9am to a report of a lorry which had broken down on a brow of a hill on the A5 Oswestry to Shrewsbury road," he said.

"The lorry was causing some traffic hold-ups. The road was clear by 10.25am. It was a DAF articulated lorry."

"Traffic was able to carry on but it did cause some congestion and the slowing down of the traffic flow."

Teas for charity

A CREAM tea will be held in Oswestry later this month to raise money for the Sudden Adult Death Trust charity. The fundraiser will be held on June 24 at 3pm and will take place at the Senior Citizens Centre in Lorne Street, Oswestry. Tickets cost £5 from (01691) 650419.

Collection of barns ripe for conversion

A developer is being sought for an exciting project to convert a collection of traditional brick barns into five homes.

On the market with Halls for £299,995, the barns at Old Marton Farm, in an idyllic location three miles from Ellesmere and eight miles from Oswestry, have full planning permission.

The plans, approved in January 2007, include five homes with garaging and parking. Two of the homes will have four bedrooms and the remaining three will have three bedrooms.

Viewing is by appointment with the Ellesmere office of Halls on 01691 622602, who also have the architectural drawings for inspection.

TIPS OF THE WEEK

Sheds Now, manufacturers of bespoke garden buildings and sheds, now have a range of garden benches and planters to complement their range of Summer Houses and potting sheds.

Including full size garden picnic bench and table combined, and a child sized picnic bench and table combined.

What better reward than to grow your plants in your potting shed and then plant out into matching planters! Sheds Now manufacture all their own buildings and sheds and will build what you want, how you want it, to your own design including bespoke Children's Play Houses.

Sheds Now also make a complete range of Animal housing from kennels with Runs, Catteries, Chicken Houses and Rabbit Hutches.

Sports memorabilia plea for display

Tel: 01691 668094

A CALL has gone out to Oswestry people to bring their local sporting memorabilia to a new exhibition as the town prepares for a summer of sport.

The exhibition will run at the Qube Gallery from next month and will tie in with the Olympics – the town's answer to the London Olympics.

Former 5,000-metre world record holder David Moorcroft has already confirmed he will attend the Olympics and, with the Olympic Torch already having visited the town on its national tour, staff at the Qube hope their exhibition will add to the town's summer sporting theme.

The exhibition opens on July 6 and will display materials from Shrewsbury Museum, Shropshire Archives and Oswestry Museum.

And people are being invited to bring Shropshire sporting or Olympic memorabilia and take up the opportunity to have the items displayed as part of the exhibition. All items will be returned at the end of the exhibition.

"After the excitement of the Olympic torch relay coming through Shropshire we hope that people's enthusiasm for sporting celebrations will mean that locals will get involved and add their own memorabilia to the exhibition," said Lindy Parkinson, arts co-ordinator at Qube.

The Olympics will also launch on July 6. A total of 42 separate events at various venues have been planned for the week of July 6-15 including a 10km road race, a triathlon and a duathlon.

Tourist attraction in £40,000 appeal

by Graham Breeze

A £40,000 appeal has been launched to help pay for a new tourist attraction near Oswestry – and donors can even specify exactly how they want their money spent.

The cash will go towards Glyn Valley Tramway Trust's plans to reopen the historic tramway and build a new station at Pontfaen.

Youngsters encouraged to give golf a go at course

BUDDING young golfers are being encouraged to try the nine hole golf course at Ellesmere College.

Staff say the par 3 course is ideal for players of all abilities, with open fairways and short holes for beginners, as well as more challenging holes.

The club operates a first come first serve policy for members and has a limited membership of 100. Membership costs £125 from January to December.

Chris Rogers, sports centre manager and club coordinator, said: "With a lot of work going into the course over the past 12 months it is looking at its very best."

"It's a great course for beginners or players looking at keeping their eye in. It only takes an hour to play the course and is ideal for an evening or weekend pursuit with family and friends."

Farmers' market

A FARMERS' market will be held at Welshampton Primary School tomorrow from 3pm to 5pm, with cakes, plants, cheese and ice cream stalls and face painting. Call (01948) 710325 for a stall.

For £6 donors can pay for a dozen red Ruabon bricks for the station, and for a donation of £15 pipework can be bought for the building plans.

Donations of £10 and £50 can pay for tree clearance work along the trackbed while donations of £25 or £50 can buy some sandstone blocks.

Boost

The first phase of the project, to restore the line from Pontfaen to Chirk, has already won planning permission.

Members of the trust behind the plans say the project will bring a vital cash boost to the area and tie in with the nearby Llangollen Canal which has been awarded World Heritage Status.

The plan will also include a new station at Pontfaen and will see additional car parking provided next to Chirk's Cadbury's factory.

Trust chairman David Carter said the special appeal was essential to the group's plans to create the tourist attraction.

He said: "Now that the planning application for the reinstatement of the tramway has been accepted by Wrexham Borough Council, we are in a position to raise funds for the initial stages of the rebuilding process."

"We now need to raise £40,000 very quickly."

The last tram left Glyn Ceiriog in July 1935.

Jackie and Stephanie Wilkes were having fun in the new playground at Llandrinio.

THE village of Llandrinio has a permanent reminder of the jubilee with the opening of a new playground.

The equipment now stands proudly on the recreation field after a long campaign by the village hall committee.

It was officially opened at the start of the jubilee celebrations and was immediately a huge success.

"It has been a long time coming," Mrs Jackie Wilks, a member of the jubilee committee said. "Money came from a small lottery grant, the community council and the village hall fund."

Mrs Wilkes said several hundred attended the picnic in the park jubilee event on the recreation ground.

"I really hope this has re-centred the community spirit in Llandrinio and that it will carry on."

Charity lunch raises £1,000

THE Ellesmere Support Group to the Severn Hospice has raised nearly £1,000 for the charity at a lunch.

About 90 people enjoyed a Jubilee Sunday Lunch at the town hall and helped raise the funds.

Carol Ashley, chairman of the support group, announced the figure at the meal and Mike Perry, community fundraising advisor for the hospice, spoke about the work of the hospice.

Traffic watchdog wasn't told about turbine plans

GOVERNMENT officials responsible for ensuring traffic runs smoothly in Wales were not told about wind turbine trial runs being carried out in Powys, it has emerged.

Montgomeryshire Assembly Member Russell George said he was amazed that the Welsh Government did not inform Traffic Wales of the movement of a number of wind turbine lorry test runs across Powys last month.

The information was obtained from a letter sent to Mr George by the First Minister Carwyn Jones, who wrote to the AM following a question he raised during an Assembly plenary session.

In the letter Mr Jones said that Traffic Wales was not advised because for the most part, the loads were travelling at 'typical road speeds' and that they 'did not cause congestion of a level for Traffic Wales to be informed.' However, the First Minister conceded that due to the level of concern, the Government would arrange for any future movements to be publicised on the Traffic Wales website.

Mr George said: "I am absolutely amazed that the Government did not inform Traffic Wales of the movement of these abnormal loads. Traffic Wales is the traffic information and management arm of the Government and it has a fundamental responsibility to provide timely and accurate information to motorists about any incident or potential problem."

Crowd was largest ever

THE largest audience ever to gather at Ellesmere College has enjoyed an organ recital by an international performer to raise funds for the restoration of the Schulze organ at the college.

Titulaire of Liverpool Anglican Cathedral Professor Ian Tracey attracted the largest audience to date in the Schulze Organ Concert Series.

He performed songs from 1531 to 1972 in a range of styles and moods.

The next concert is in November when Robert Sharpe, Organist at York Minster, performs.

Walks are arranged at nature reserves

TWO events will take place later this month exploring different aspects of the biodiversity of Shropshire Wildlife Trust's nature reserves in the Oswestry hills.

An afternoon guided walk to see orchids and other wild flowers will take place on June 23 around Llynclys Common.

Walkers should meet at 2pm at Porth-y-Waen Band Hall car park and the cost is £3 per person or £2 for trust members.

Six or more species of orchid may be seen, along with many other kinds of flowering plants.

In the evening, National Moth Night will be celebrated at Llanymynech Rocks nature reserve with a moth trapping event.

Organisers say the abundance of wild flowers on this nature reserve makes it particularly good for a wide range of moths.

People should meet in the car park at the end of Underhill Lane, Pant, at 9pm and are asked to bring tea, cakes and a torch.

Booking is essential on (01743) 284280.

A COFFEE morning in aid of Llanfair Caereinion Christmas Lights appeal will be held on June 16 at the institute from 10am.

Animal lover Emma tackles new fundraising challenge

SHE has raised thousands of pounds by climbing the highest mountain in South East Asia and now plans to set up her own support group for animals in other countries.

Emma Gerrard is a veterinary nurse at Cain Vets in Llansantffraid and has been looking after animals for 12 years after studying a degree in Clinical Veterinary Nursing.

The 28-year-old's passion for caring for animals has led her to adventure across the globe to take part in a jungle trek in Borneo which included climbing the 13,000ft mountain Mount Kinabalu.

She took part in the event to raise cash for charity IAPWA which works to stop animal cruelty and promote their welfare worldwide.

Thanks to the support of her family and friends she managed to raise more than £3,000 for the cause when she visited the country earlier this year.

"It was the first time I have ever been to Borneo," she said. "I started collecting money last September and managed to get my target amount of £2,500 before I went."

"I climbed the highest mountain in South East Asia which was four times the size of Mount Snowdon. It took a while and was really hard. At times I struggled breathing and there was the risk of getting altitude sickness."

"I saw orang-utans and lots of other animals when I was out there. We had a tour of the area and I also got to sleep in a hammock."

"It is an achievement for me and I am really chuffed to have done it."

"My friends and family are really proud of me and I have some beautiful pictures."

"I had trained by going up and down Rodney's Pillar but I don't think anything can prepare you for that. It was a shock to the system."

"I am hoping to go back to Borneo at the end of the year for a couple of weeks to work as a vet nurse on a neutering trip."

She is now calling on people to help her set up a support group to go out to Borneo to care for sick cats and dogs. She would also like the group to help raise funds to send over toys for them to play with.

WOMEN OF SUBSTANCE

"If people want to help and I get enough interest I want to set up a regional fundraising group," she said.

"People don't have to be vets and nurses to take part. They can be ordinary people who go and look after the cats and dogs, give them baths, clean and feed them."

Emma moved to the area from Cambridgeshire in 1998.

She studied a pre-vet nursing course at Walford and north Shropshire College and got experience by working at a local practice voluntarily.

She qualified as a vet nurse in 2005 and completed a Diploma in advanced Veterinary Nursing in January last year.

Not content with caring for animals at work all day she also has her own pets too; two dogs, two cats, a rabbit and a guinea pig.

Beautiful garden at hall to be unveiled

THE four-acre garden at Llangedwyn Hall near Oswestry will be open later this month to raise money for charity.

The garden will be open between noon and 5pm on Sunday and money raised will go to the National Gardens Scheme.

Ann Rathbone, from the charity, said: "The beautiful garden at Llangedwyn Hall extends to approximately four acres in size, it has a formal terraced garden on three levels which was designed and laid out in the late 17th and early 18th century.

"There are many unusual herbaceous plants growing in the garden, other interesting features are a sunken rose garden, a small water garden, woodland walk and walled kitchen garden growing fruit and numerous vegetables, plus the added bonus of lovely picturesque views of the surrounding countryside."

Admission is £3.50 and children get in for free.

Money raised will go to various good causes including the Macmillan Cancer Support, Marie Curie Cancer Care, Help the Hospices and Cross Roads Care.

DOWN YOUR STREET

with Ben Bentley

OUR introduction, on Maesowen in Welshpool, is like the motoring version of holding a door open for a stranger. "After you, sir; no, after you".

From his car, Llewelyn Williams flashes me to come through. But at the same time, I flash him.

Insistent in his impeccable motoring manners – a rarity these days – he flashes me again to come through. Unfortunately, I simultaneously do the same.

We could be here all day. But it's proof that chivalry is alive. Eventually, I bite the bullet and accept Llewelyn's 'flashing' offer and as he lets me safely through a small gap I am on my way.

Does this sort of thing happen all the time on Maesowen?

Llewelyn tells me that he's not really the one to speak to, because he's quite new to the street.

But manners and motoring certainly go together for Llewelyn. "I'm like a taxi driver," he says, explaining how his day consists of ferrying his wife to work at the nearby Rhallt nursing home at 5.25am.

He then brings her home for dinner, then takes her back.

In between he drives his step daughter to work at 8.55am. It's a pretty full and planned-out timetable and I'd better leave him to it, otherwise the whole equilibrium of his errands could be thrown out of kilter.

resident Bill Johnson bubble-wrapping his car. Well, not the whole vehicle, just one of the doors. The motor on his electric window has gone and the protection is a temporary measure until he can get the car to the garage later.

"It went yesterday so I'm taping it up over night," he explains, his hands all bubble wrap and gaffer tape.

The way the weather has been, he doesn't want to get rain in his car. He jokes about the recent drought and how rainfall over the last week has apparently topped up reservoirs by around 14 per cent. "Hopefully it won't rain for a few days," says Bill nodding towards his newly-wrapped car door.

Getting into their car for a trip to the doctors are members of the Jones family. Like many in the town, they haven't moved far. Bernie Jones says: "My wife was born at number 39; my brother is at number 28, and I've got other family members close by, too."

There is certainly a pull to the area that keeps family 'boomeranging' back. "When we arrived at this house, I said to my wife 'I've got a job in Bristol'. And she said 'I'll see you at weekends then!' There is a saying: 'Once you have lived in Welshpool you will always return'. It's an old saying, but it's right."

Window cleaner Aaron Maskell.

For further evidence of Welshpool's special gravity, look no further than Bernie's daughter, Allison Jones, who lives just up the road where she is bringing up her daughter, Erin Ball, now 18 months old. Allison says: "I have lived all over: Welshpool, London, Cardiff, Spain and now Welshpool again."

I spotted the dinkiest of vans parked in the street. Turns out it belongs to the window cleaner. Aaron Maskell's his name and he admits that the wet weather has been hard.

It's not nice being out in all weathers," he admits.

Just off Gungrog Hill, Maesowen offers splendid views of the valley below, but Aaron, a chap who spends most of his days up ladders, has better views than most. He gets back into his little van as I get into my car, which faces opposite. The window cleaner flashes me to go first.

Which this time I do at first attempt.

Prisoners continue help with hall work

PRISONERS are to continue to help revamp a village hall in Ruyton-XI-Towns following the success of the first week.

A team of eight adult prisoners and supervisors from Stoke Heath Young Offenders have been repainting the hall, to the delight of its committee.

So impressed with the hard work are committee members they have already asked for the team to return next month and for future projects.

Parish councillor Colin Case said the team was transforming the run down building.

"I have had all my preconceptions changed," Councillor Case said.

"The guys have worked so hard and they have so many individual skills."

"One, a painter and decorator by trade, has been leading the team while another, who is a portrait painter, has helped us with our colour scheme. Another is a brickie specialising in pointing old buildings and we hope that he will be able to return to help us at a future date."

"We tried to do this work as volunteers but just could not fit it in between our other responsibilities."

The aim of the project is to help prisoners into the community before their release dates.

Rubber horse Randy trains rescue teams across globe

MEET Randy – he's 14 hands tall, weighs about 30 stone, is worth more than £6,000 and has been all over the world to help train emergency crews in animal rescue.

But he doesn't need expensive stables or even food and water when he leaves his home in Powys – for Randy is made of industrial rubber.

The life-sized 'horse' has been created by Welshpool firm Resquip at its base in Leighton.

Since 2008, the company has made up to 50 horse mannequins, each built around a steel skeleton with a fully moveable head, neck and limbs.

Thirty have been supplied to fire and rescue services across the UK and the rest have been dispatched to fire departments and mountain rescue teams across the world.

Two were completed last week, ready to be shipped to a large emergency animal rescue team in Charleston, USA.

Sarah Naylor, office manager at Resquip, said Randy had also been dispatched to fire departments in Finland and Belgium and mountain rescue teams in the French and Austrian Alps, and had also been shipped to Australia.

Closer to home, Hampshire Fire and Rescue Service is one of the company's main clients. Resquip is one of only two firms in the world who make the life-sized mannequins, with the other based in America.

She said: "The mannequins help to train fire service personnel and rescue teams, so they know what to do when they are faced with real life operations involving horses."

"We have supplied them to countries all over the world."

"The mannequins take between four and six weeks to make and are often made in the colour white, but we can make them in other colours too."

The company also makes cow mannequins and rescue harnesses.

Miss Naylor added: "We are also in the process of working on an extra-large human training dummy to help emergency workers practise carrying morbidly obese people around."

Busy month being planned at castle

CHIRK Castle has a busy programme for June.

Visitors can experience Tudor Life at the castle on June 17 when the castle courtyard will be transformed to show how people would have lived in Tudor times.

People can discover the secrets of gruesome medicine and Tudor culinary delights and families can get involved in themed crafts including how to design and draw a Tudor rose.

Standard admission applies with National Trust members free but the activities are then free.

On the weekend of June 23 and 24 there will be a summer fête at the castle's Home Farm. There will be hands-on activities and attractions for people of all ages.

Cream tea event will help charity

PEOPLE will be able to enjoy a cream tea in Oswestry later this month to raise money for the Sudden Adult Death Trust charity.

The fundraiser will be held on June 24 at 3pm and will take place at the senior citizens' centre in Lorne Street. A raffle and lucky entrance ticket competition will take place.

Tickets cost £5 and are available by calling (01691) 650419.

Tools and car keys taken in burglary

TOOLS, heating oil and electronic equipment have been stolen from outbuildings on the Shropshire/Powys border.

Police are investigating a burglary from a property's outbuildings at Pen Y Bont near Oswestry which happened some time last month.

Catharine Evan-Williams, communications officer for Dyfed-Powys Police, said: "Someone has forced entry into two outbuildings by removing padlocks and taken the following items – two crosscut saws, a turquoise Makita wall chaser, a rotary sander, 200 litres of heating oil, a Sony PS2 and Panasonic Hi-fi with an eight-CD changer.

"The burglars have also taken the keys to a Rover 200 car and driven some 20 yards down the driveway before crashing through the boundary fence into a field."

Anyone with information should call Dyfed-Powys Police on 101 or 0845 3302000.

A FLAMENCO dance class will be taken place tomorrow, rather than Saturday, at the Willow Gallery in Oswestry. The day has been changed due to a workshop booking. Friday's flamenco class will be from 7.30pm to 8.30pm in the Dunbabin Room.

Summer sounds best sat next to the water's edge

APPARENTLY Eurovision is over (somebody told me) and apparently we didn't do very well (nobody needed to tell me).

But if pretentious hairstyles and ageing grannies make up some of the sounds of Europe, what is the sound of Shropshire? And specifically, what is the sound of summer in Shropshire?

Leaving aside talentless wannabes, Shropshire has some wonderful musicians of its own but by definition, I'm more concerned with the wild reverberations to be heard in June.

The cuckoos have become silent for another year, the woodpeckers less strident and the dawn chorus, although still audible, has lost much of its bolster.

No, for me a summer's day can be nowhere better spent than ambling along a riverbank in search of kingfishers, otters and waterfowl. But what of the sounds?

Just being in a natural setting will be enough for a serenade by nature, but there are some places that are unrelentingly orchestral and the riverbank is one of those.

The lowing of cattle and the soft squelching of friendly Friesians at the water's edge is accompanied on a still summer's day in mid-June with the harmonious tinklings of bumblebees and honeybees, the melodious murmurs of blackbirds and robins and the rustling leaves of the slowly swaying branches on which they perch.

Of course the main audible constant in such a setting is the chuckling water itself.

with

However, unless you are lucky enough to see an otter twisting and turning in the shallows or a kingfisher diving from its post, you are unlikely to hear any other sound – except one. Just below the rapids, as the sunlight ceases to twinkle off the surface and instead penetrates the depths in a rich kaleidoscope of browns, umbers and ochres, there is a distinctive ploop.

In years gone by we might have been able to remove the second 'o' and our attention may have been focused on a diving water vole, but alas that is less likely today. However all is not lost, the 'ploop' was made not by a mammal but a fish and for me it is the quintessential sound of a summer's day; a brown trout has surfaced.

Not just is this scenario aesthetically pleasing to our senses but it is all interlinked in the grand web of life. Let me explain. Shropshire is one of the most rural counties in the whole of the UK. It is something we live with and it is something we can all be tremendously proud of. It also has some of the most unspoilt watercourses in Britain.

Farming practices have improved so much over the last few decades, that a trout stream running through a cow field and beyond through a crop plantation, can retain its ability to support small invertebrates, lush bankside vegetation and smaller fish which require, not just the invertebrates, but the high quality, oxygenated water to thrive.

The trout not only gulp down the caddis flies and mayflies on the surface, but hunt the fish below. Small trout are prey to the kingfishers which require quality, clear water to feed. The larger trout support the otters and I'd like to think, in some way, that the otters and the rest of the wildlife support the naturalist!

So anyone who is sceptical about the pleasures the natural world can impart upon us, should visit their local stream or river in June. We all know they will not be disappointed.

Pylon fire leaves 40 homes in the dark

MORE than 40 homes were left without power after a wooden pylon started sparking and caught fire near Oswestry.

Firefighters were called to Old Mill, in Morda, at about 2pm on Sunday.

Ceri Flavell, crew manager in Oswestry, was one of the firefighters dealing with the call.

He said: "We want to remind members of the public if they see a fire or sparks from telegraph pylons not to investigate them, they pose a risk."

The electricity company arrived within an hour and said the cause of the flames was because of the weather and that the high winds could have caused a loose connection on an overhead wire.

A Scottish Power spokesman said: "There were high winds and one of the connections came loose and was sparking."

"We had to disconnect the supply and we took approximately 40 customers off supply for just over an hour to carry out the repair work."

"We would advise if anyone sees a fault to call us as soon as possible."

We wouldn't advise people to go near it."

The power company apologised for any inconvenience.

Busy time ahead for Rotarian members

THE Rotary Club of Oswestry is gearing up for a number of events this summer.

The club will be helping to steward the Oswestry Community Games parade which takes place on July 15.

It is also one of games' sponsors and is supplying half the cost of the vent through the Mary Hignett Bequest Fund.

Mary Hignett, a much-loved local writer, teacher and naturalist, left half of her substantial estate to the Rotary Club, for it to be used on sport and the arts.

The club is also involved with The Millicent Kaye Art competition which is held from June 19 to June 29. This year's competition has attracted more than 300 pieces of art work from nine local primary schools.

The club was recently involved with Oswestry's Jubilee Fun Day in Cae Glas Park on June 2.

This event followed the street parade organised that morning by Oswestry Borderland Rotary Club.

As well as putting on some of the usual fete-stall attractions typical of these events, the club decided to show a more serious side of Rotary by providing a display featuring a Shelter Box and showing how its contents are deployed in a disaster situation.

Footpaths are focus of group

A NEW group has been set up to spruce up village footpaths and signs in a bid to attract more walkers and tourists to an area of Shropshire.

Residents of St Martins have formed the group, called Parish Paths Partnerships, with Shropshire Council to help improve conditions of the village's rights of ways and footpaths.

The group plans to take part in a large amount of practical work including surveys, installing stiles and gates, and promoting their local footpath networks.

Parish councillor Neil Graham said: "They are not very well looked after. We did try years ago to set up a group but there wasn't enough interest. It seems this time there has been Doubt for Red Arrows fly-by

PEOPLE in Oswestry may not get to see the Red Arrows fly over the town during its community games event.

The famous Royal Air Force Aerobatic team previously confirmed it had put the games on its list for consideration for a fly-by but now games organisers say it looked 'doubtful' the iconic planes would appear.

Oswestry Games is due to take place from July 6 to July 15 and organisers wanted the team to swoop over the town on July 15 to help create a spectacular finale in the afternoon.

Jon Hancock, one of the games organisers, said he contacted the team about a year ago when the idea of the games was first thought of.

He said: "It looks doubtful I am sorry to say. They contacted us recently and it seems they are so busy. There is so much on this summer that it is a possibility but it is a bit doubtful."

quite an interest in it and so a group has been set up.

"There are stiles that have got damaged and overgrown over the years. I leaned on a finger post and it fell over.

"We do have a good system of walk ways around St Martins.

"If the footpaths are improved it would be a great asset not just to the people in the village but those on holidays here.

"We also have links to over the border and the world heritage centre."

Training

A meeting was held at the end of last month to encourage people to take part and Shropshire Council has agreed to provide training, help and advice, and tools and equipment.

There are 32 kms of Public Rights of Way, 61 individual paths and two bridleways in St Martins parish and officials say many of these need improving.

Those who have signed up to take part are allowed to do as little or as much as they like.

Councillor Steve Charmley, Shropshire Council cabinet member with responsibility for countryside access, said: "Volunteers are an increasingly important part of our work to maintain and improve access to Shropshire's wonderful countryside.

"We are very grateful to the group in St Martins who will play a vital role in ensuring people can enjoy the many footpaths in their area for years to come."

Jubilee train trips for railway

VOLUNTEERS from the Cambrian Railway in Oswestry were running train trips over the jubilee weekend. Getting ready for the trip were Matthew Higgins, Glynn Swift, David Morris and Philip Bradley.

Fear over implants may hit hospital

CONTROVERSY over metal on metal hip replacements could cause a financial time bomb for the health service and a huge logistical problem for a specialist hospital in Shropshire.

The Orthopaedic Hospital has halted use of metal on metal hip implants after a fears that they can cause muscle and bone damage and see metal ions leak into the body.

It is having to organise annual checks for each one of the 1,040 patients given the implants rather than the traditional metal on plastic joints.

But, at the hospital trust board meeting medical director Steve White warned the hospital's international reputation could see it dealing with referrals from across the UK.

The hospital is known as a regional centre for orthopaedics and has a reputation for more complicated revision hip and knee replacement surgery.

"We have 1,040 patients to be contacted and followed up closely, which is a huge logistical exercise," he said.

"However, because of our expertise we are already getting more patients referred from outside our area. This will have a financial implication for us that is too early to understand. For the health service this could be a financial time bomb."

Blues gig booking for town music spot

AN arts and entertainment venue in Oswestry will be hosting a group which will be playing the blues.

Fox North Coalition will be performing live at The Ironworks on June 24 from 9pm.

The five musicians formed the group in 2009 and created its debut album, A Block For The Wigs.

Craig Marston, from Oswestry, is a member of the World Biggest Events, which is responsible for introducing the act to the Ironworks.

He said: "They were on Orange Unsigned and were loved by Jo Whaley and Alex James."

"They are fantastic and we hope to continue in bringing new bands and quality named acts to Oswestry and Shropshire."

The group is made up of Tim Fox on vocals, banjo and harmonica, guitarist Vin North, Steve Bradley on drums and percussion, Carl Hetherington on keyboards and vocals, and Gaz Percival on bass. Tickets are available at The Ironworks or at the Seatickets website.

Society outing

LLANFAIR Caereinion Historical Society will head to Chester for an outing on June 16. The coach will leave the town car park at 9am and be back by 6pm. Call (01938) 810985.

Smash involving rally car crowd was accident waiting to happen

A Ford Escort corners at speed at the ill-fated rally at Park Hall Camp in 1978.

Helpers tend to one of the injured.

Among the casualties was Shaun Rogers, 18, of Chirk.

IF you thought cars racing around at high speed within the confines of Park Hall Camp, Oswestry, represented an accident waiting to happen, you would be right.

And it did happen back in early November 1978. Seven people, including an expectant mother, were hurt when a car ploughed into a crowd of spectators, while others managed to fling themselves clear after the brakes of a Mini taking part failed at a sharp bend.

by Toby Neal

The accident came during a 50-car single venue stage rally, organised by the Welsh Border Car Club and Telford Auto Club. Those hurt had been watching local favourite John Ashton of Llansantffraid in action and appear to have had their backs towards the car which crashed, driven by Kenneth Bishop, of Walsall.

The brake fluid pipe on the car was said to have broken, and all the fluid ran out, meaning that when he put his foot down there were no brakes, and the vehicle failed to take a corner and ran on for about 20 yards. A picture of the Mini taken later showed it with a cracked windscreen and lightly dented bonnet.

As you might imagine there was, afterwards, controversy over safety issues and an inquiry was launched. Was there ever again rallying at Park Hall? We don't know the answer to that one.

As for the unfortunate spectators, thankfully the injuries were not too serious, although five of the seven hurt did end up detained in hospital.

All but two, including the expectant mother, who came from Pant, were soon allowed home. A 19-year-old girl from Shrewsbury with face injuries and a 22-year-old from Morda who had a broken leg, spent several days at the Orthopaedic Hospital.

Royal role play helps group to celebrate

YOUNG members of an Oswestry-based drama group celebrated the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in style by taking part in a specially arranged royal role play session.

Members of the Pyjama Drama class which meets at The Venue at Park Hall enjoyed an hour-long special session on June 5 and were encouraged to dress up in patriotic clothing to celebrate the day.

They took part in a play which saw them all invited to a royal party at the castle. Members and their families were also able to watch the real royal occasion on television at The Venue and then enjoyed a jubilee lunch.

Event organiser Sarah Barton said: "The event was a great success and we had lots of families enjoy the fun with us."

"The atmosphere was very patriotic and the traditional jubilee luncheon menu was very popular."

Jumble sale

A JUMBLE sale and nearly new sale took place on June 8 in the Chirk Methodist Chapel Schoolroom. It was organised by the Chirk Hospital Circle of Friends.

Donations are helping food bank keep up poverty fight

AN OSWESTRY food bank which was set up to help poverty-hit townfolk has received more than 3,000 kilograms (6,613 pounds) of donated food in just three months.

The service was set up last year by members of Churches Together Oswestry District to help stop people going hungry during the credit crunch.

It gives food parcels to those on a low income or who are in debt or have had benefit changes or benefit delays.

Peak challenge to help hospice

FUNDRAISERS for Shropshire's Hope House Children's Hospice are appealing for keen walkers to join them for a group climb of Wales' highest peak next month.

The group will set off along the main tourist track to the top of Mount Snowdon on July 14.

Fundraising manager Vanessa Thomas said: "We have qualified guides leading the trek and are praying that by July the summer will have begun and we can make the most of the stunning views from the top."

Mrs Thomas added: "Every one penny of the money raised through this event will help Hope House to continue to provide vital care and support to local terminally ill children and their families and to help them make the most of short but very precious lives."

It costs £20 for adults and £10 for children. Adults are also being asked to raise £80 in sponsorship. Call (01691) 671671 or e-mail fundraising@hopehouse.org.uk

In May, volunteers received 284 kilos of food and handed out 375 kilos to 287 people around the area, including 113 children, giving them three meals a day for three days.

In her report on the service, Gillian Richards, food bank manager, said it was now working with 23 agencies and four schools.

People using the food bank are given vouchers which they exchange for a variety of items.

Collecting

Mrs Richards said in her report that stocks were good at the food bank after receiving 3,687kgs of donations between March and the end of May.

There are now 18 churches in the area collecting items in food boxes in their entrances.

There has also been a stream of people bringing in donations to the foodbank's headquarters at 56 Beatrice Street.

Oswestry's Sainsbury's has also helped by leaving a trolley in its entrance for donations as well as providing vouchers for non-food items such as toiletries and other household goods.

Walford and North Shropshire College held a week-long collection of food from students and staff in its entrances and the town centre branch of Nationwide held a collection day.

YOU have to have the right genes to even stand a chance of winning an Olympic gold, members of Oswestry 41 Club learned at their meeting at Sweeney Hall Hotel.

They were addressed at Sweeney Hall Hotel by Llansantffraid based sporting genetics expert Dr Alun Williams who silenced his audience by saying your sporting prowess is decided the moment you are conceived. Dr Williams is director of the Manchester Metropolitan University sports genetic laboratory and posed the question: "Do you have to choose the right parents to win an Olympic gold medal?"

Halfway through his talk he revealed that it was essential. Dr Williams is the son-in-law of Oswestry 41 Club President Dave Mathews who thanked him.

Winners named in jubilee parade

THE results have been announced for the winners of Oswestry's jubilee parade.

There were about 10 entrants, including three floats, in the event organised by The Rotary Club of Oswestry Borderland and Oswestry Town Council.

The club gave commemorative plaques to the winning entries.

The Wynnstay Hotel Coach House won the prize for the best commercial entry, Cabin Lane Church won the best non-commercial group and the prize for a youth group went to the Border Counties School of Gymnastics.

The theme of the parade was '60 years of Memories'.

Mural group sets sights on funding for more art

by Graham Breeze

A COMMUNITY group behind the large steam train mural on an Oswestry town centre wall has applied for funding to create a second piece of art.

Footfall, a partnership formed to spruce up empty shops, has asked for cash from the Local Joint Committee to help it create a second mural on a wall belonging to The George, on Bailey Head.

It is hoped the blacked out windows on the side of the pub will be transformed into artwork and an artist has already come up with a set of drawings.

Steve Haworth, a member of the group, said: "We have had an artist who has come forward and given us some designs and we have put in a bid for some money to the Local Joint Committee, which will be held on June 14.

"Once we have an answer from the committee we will be able to move on with it.

"If we don't then we will have to find another way of doing it."

Footfall members are remaining tight-lipped over the theme of the creation but Mr Haworth said: "It will be something bright and something to suggest that there is a vibrant night life in Oswestry. But I can't give too much away.

"I hope everybody will be pleased to get that area brightened up."

The George landlord has given the group permission to use its wall.

The group previously worked for two years on a mural project for the side of the Home Bargains wall, at the bottom of Bailey Street.

A large steam train now stretches along the wall celebrating the town's history with the Cambrian Railways.

Mr Haworth came up with the idea after visiting Katikati in New Zealand which displays around 47 murals in its streets.

LOCAL bands will be battling it out this week to try and win a place on the stage at a Shropshire music festival as a county-wide competition kicks off at an Oswestry venue.

Shropshire's Next Big Thing, a talent show being run by our sister paper, the Shropshire Star in conjunction with BBC Shropshire, will be holding its first heat at the Ironworks, this Saturday, June 16, from 9pm.

Bands including The Innocent and Misty Blue Trio will be taking to the stage in a bid to win a place in the finals on July 22.

The winner gets a top prize which includes playing in front music fans at the Shrewsbury Fields Forever Festival in September.

Future heats will take place in venues across Shropshire. The night costs £3.

Over the weekend people are invited to the music festival Vive Le Rock which will take place from 6pm tomorrow night until late, with band including The Yipes, The Misty Blue Trio and Dr Feelgood.

Saturday night will see singer/songwriter Hazel O'Connor performing as well as The Antidote, Arcade Parades and Guns for Girls. Weekend tickets cost £40 or £46 on the gate and camping is free.

Under 10s are free and 10-16 year olds will only be charged £10.

Interpretation

Tickets are available from www.livesoundpromotion.com

Tonight, Thursday, Oswestry's The Ironworks, will be hosting Songs of Nick Drake performed by Keith James.

James is a master of the art of interpretation and is said to give a meticulous rendition of the essence of Nick's work.

The night starts at 8pm and tickets cost £10.

Nikki Rous will be playing at a pub near Welshpool on Friday night. The singer/songwriter will be bringing her dynamic vocals to the Lowfield Inn, in Marton near Welshpool, from 8.30pm. She will also be playing her guitar as accompaniment at the free event.

On the same night Dave Elwyn Band will be taking to the stage at The Old Vaults, in Oswestry.

The three piece will be combining its various genres of music and energetic performances.

Saturday night at The Fox Inn, in Oswestry, Radio Riots, from Shrewsbury, will be performing to fans from 9pm.

Having been already likened to bands such as the Arctic Monkeys, Radiohead and The Strokes, this young band have made a huge impression on the music scene.

Just Superb – Skoda are back in big time

VEHICLES from the Skoda camp never cease to amaze me these days and the Superb Estate Greenline proved no exception.

When a car retains industry awards you know it's not a fluke and I've just discovered why this Skoda has got 'winner' stamped all over it.

This is a very spacious estate with good pricing and all the equipment you need inside a surprisingly up-market cabin.

DRIVE TIME
with Graham Breeze

ous car ever to wear the Skoda badge, with prices running from under £19,000 to over £30,000.

Back in the 1930s Skoda launched the Superb as a luxurious option for the world's leaders and royalty. Things certainly slipped a bit over the years with the brand the butt of many motoring jokes – but that luxurious image is certainly back again.

On test was the 1.6TDi CR 105PS in five speed manual format and just to explain why it's such an outstanding option there's 54.2mpg, CO2 emissions of 114g/km, a top speed of 119mph and 0-62mph in 12.6seconds.

This model hits the road running at £24,465 and includes 16" alloys, four spoke leather multi-function steering wheel, including radio and telephone controls.

There's a touch screen navigation system with voice control and full leather upholstery with heated and electrically operated front seats.

On top of all that there's rain sensor wipers, a start-stop system and a built-in tyre pressure monitor.

Battery

The Greenline system keeps running costs down with an energy recovery system which converts kinetic energy back into useable electricity which is either stored in the battery or reused by electrical components.

That bit is above my understanding but certainly contributes to keeping fuel costs down.

Improved aerodynamics, low profile tyres, the stop-start system and screen mounted speed warnings coupled to gear change recommendations are also part of the Greenline system.

I read somewhere that the Superb was lumpy, well not on my watch it wasn't. It felt great on the motorway and equally at home on the country roads of Mid Wales – a great cruiser.

The estate was never built for charging into bends but accurate steering and plenty of grip ensure the ride feels as safe as it should.

If you're a company car driver the 1.6 TDI Greenline makes a lot of sense because of its

The estate has leather upholstery and a steering-wheel with phone and radio controls

low CO2 emissions and enormous boot space.

It's also a comfortable five seater and rear seat passengers can have no complaints about leg or headroom which is unusual with one normally compromising the other these days.

Skoda's image changed forever with the alliance with Volkswagen but this is no poor relation – quite the opposite in fact.

Inside there is a classy feel and all the controls are simple and just where they should be, unlike in some of the opposition where a day-long instruction period is often needed.

Stability control and twin front, side and curtain airbags are fitted as standard, as well as a further airbag to protect the driver's knees.

Top-spec cars in the range get an intelligent headlight system, which varies its beam pattern according to your speed and the type of road you're on. Security features are plentiful, and every model comes with an alarm.

In 2011, Skoda completed a record year achieving registrations of over 45,000 up 9.2 per cent when compared to the previous year whilst also reaching a record 2.3 per cent market share.

Last March was the brand's best sales month ever when deliveries rose 12.1 per cent to 95,200 vehicles and January to March was the best ever quarter as deliveries totaled 242,700 units.

From 2013 all except one of Volkswagen's models will have digital radios fitted as standard equipment

VW's digital move is music to drivers' ears

DAB radio will be standard on almost all Volkswagen cars from next year, the company has confirmed.

Every model from the Polo supermini to the Phaeton luxury saloon will have DAB, on top of AM/FM tuners, MP3 input sockets and CD players.

Only the smallest Volkswagen, the Up, will be left out. It will continue with its selection of normal radio channels and media inputs.

On top of the improved radio quality, all models from the Polo S upwards will feature at least six speakers, and most will have eight.

Upgrade options will be available including the MDI Multi Device Interface that allows quick and easy connection of iPods and other MP3 players through a USB input port. Users can then control track selection via the car's audio controls.

Bluetooth connectivity will be an option on some models and standard equipment on others, mainly high-end models. A high-performance Dynaudio speaker and amplifier upgrade will be available on some models as well.

Some Beetle models will be offered with an audio system developed with famous guitar and amplifier manufacturer Fender.

The details apply to 2013 model year Volkswagens, so towards the end of this year buyers should be sure to check whether the car they're looking at is 2012 or 2013 spec.

Tennis classic serves as model for Peugeot

The special edition Roland Garros convertibles are inspired by the French Open tennis tournament

TWO special edition convertibles have been unveiled by Peugeot, based on the 207 CC and 308 CC.

Both share the 'Roland Garros' name that's famously linked with the venue for the French Open tennis tournament.

The two new models will have unique trim details and be available only in black or white.

Key upgrades for the 207 CC, which is based on the Allure trim level and will cost from £18,795, include leather seats, a Roland Garros wind break behind the seats and Roland Garros-embroidered carpet mats.

Other features to grace the 207 CC will be aluminium door sills, 17-inch 'Melbourne' alloy wheels, dual-zone air conditioning, an automatically dimming rear-view mirror, automatic headlights, cruise control with a speed limiter, Peugeot Connect with Bluetooth connectivity, rear parking sensors, electric folding door mirrors and tinted rear windows.

Power

There are two engines available to power this special 207: the 1.6-litre VTi 120 petrol and the 1.6-litre HDi 112 diesel.

The larger 308 CC Roland Garros comes in a slightly different choice of black or white. It comes with more power, with the three available engines being a 1.6-litre THP duo with either 156 or 200 horsepower, or a 2.0-litre HDi 163 diesel.

It has blue and grey leather seats, 18-inch wheels taken from the GT hatchback, Bluetooth, front and rear parking sensors, automatic headlights and automatic windscreen wipers. Like the 207 CC Roland Garros, it features the wind break and carpet mats with Roland Garros logos.

The 308 CC is more expensive than its smaller cousin, at £25,845. Both will carry Roland Garros exterior badging and can be viewed at www.peugeot.co.uk/special-editions

Volvo S60 delivers great fuel economy

The cabin is typical Volvo – safe and refined

The name Volvo always conjures up safe, solid, dependable cars, and certainly the S60 model fits into this category.

It has been around for quite a time and has now benefited from a new 1.6-litre turbo diesel engine that gives it staggering results due to engineering excellence and with the addition of stop/start mode; it gives superb class leading, eye-watering figures for this quite large family saloon vehicle.

A claimed 65.7 mpg on the combined cycle, and with a low 114 CO2 emission figure and you start to understand that a frugal diesel S60 is within your capabilities.

What this means that when the tank is full to the top it is quite possible to achieve over 800 miles on that tankful in real terms driving and not simulated computer generated perfect conditions.

The S60 R-Design model looks quite good, it sits slightly lower than the ordinary S60 and with a lower centre of gravity the handling is relatively sharp. Let us not forget however that this is primarily a full 4/5 seater, family saloon car.

The cabin is typical Volvo, dependable, safe, secure, refined with easy to understand instrumentation and a quality feel to all the fittings and fitments. This is not a vehicle that is going to fail you within a short period of ownership.

I fell in love with Volvo's blind spot warning system, a small orange light appears in the "a" pillar when a small wing mirror type camera senses a vehicle in the blind spot, this really is a feature if you do a lot of motorway driving.

The 1560cc four-cylinder turbo-charged diesel engine had a power output claimed as 115 bhp sufficient to allow for a top speed of 121 mph and a 0 – 60 in marginally over 10 seconds. These figures are somewhat academic, it is the economics of driving the vehicle which is its forte, the 6-speed gearbox seemed to be almost perfection in its choice of ratios.

The vehicle and engine was a lusty performer, a long motorway journey showed it would cruise in sixth gear without any problems and if an overtake was required then there was sufficient torque without having to swap cogs too often.

Technology

To drive the vehicle around town was also easy and unstressful, the stop/start technology which meant that when you came to a stop and removed your feet from the pedals, the engine stopped and as soon as the clutch was caressed the engine started again, this all brings the CO2 down to an extremely low level and low taxation levels for the owner.

The SE and its V60 estate derivative are available as 4 options with ES as entry level and the R-Design as the more or less top specification. Drive factor is the economical version.

The range is available with quite a comprehensive choice of engines, between diesel and petrol. There are petrols at 1600cc, 2000cc and 3000cc with power outputs varying between 150bhp for the entry level up to a very substantial 6-cylinder 304 bhp for the T6 4-wheel drive automatic version.

The level of extras is extremely substantial, my particular 1.6-litre diesel, the Drive Economy, had an on the road price of £26,400. Volvo decided that I needed to have it equipped with a premium pack priced £2,000, driver support pack £1,600, a convenience pack at £2,000, a security pack at £665, metallic paint at £640 and a winter pack at £385.

Suddenly the vehicle cost £32,800 and I really do believe that if it was my money and my chequebook the list of extras would stay just that, extras.

The premium pack is a stereo upgrade and a DAB radio, the driver support is adapted cruise control with a pedestrian protection and also the blind spot information system, and the winter pack includes heated front seat, headlamp washers and wipers.

system tops the range at £36,705.

At the end of a week driving the vehicle I didn't achieve the headline figure that Volvo suggest of 65.7 mpg but what I did achieve was virtually 500 miles of motoring and the fuel gauge still saying that there was a further 300 miles in the tank.

By pressing the button in the system it revealed that over a week and a variety of driving between motorway and around town driving, I managed to achieve 56 mpg and I feel for the size and type of vehicle this is commendable.

If you are in the market place for this type of vehicle or you were considering perhaps a BMW3 Series or Audi A4, then do not dismiss the Volvo S60 in your options.

Ladies' June medal - Div 1: 1 Rebecca Jones 97-23=74*, 2 Julia Linn 102-28=74, 3 Carol Griffith 99-21=78; Div 2: 1 Liz Griffiths 118-35=83*, 2 Janet Bennett 114-31=83, 3 Morgan Bowd 120-36=84.

Single point the difference as Crifftins lose battle of top two CRIFTINS A lost the battle of first against second in Division One of the Oswestry & District Bowling League as they were beaten 7-3 away at Corwen A.

Second-placed Corwen took five of the eight games up for grabs. But three extremely tight defeats, coupled with three wins for the visitors, meant they were only edged out on aggregate by a single point. Despite the setback, they remain top by a single point as Dave Edwards enjoyed their best win by 21-8.

Elsewhere in the division, WHITTINGTON A suffered a frustrating home defeat going down 6-4 against Chirk AAA firsts, thanks to a 153-143 aggregate in the visitors' favour. The hosts got off to a disastrous start, losing three of their opening four games but rallied in the final four to level the game. Ben Hampson and Mel Morris both won 21-16 for the hosts but Andrew Pearce responded for the visitors with a 21-10 win of his own.

And CHURCH A suffered a heavy away defeat losing 9-1 to Ruabon A. The visitors took a point through Dave Jones, who won to seven, but were swept in the remaining games including three losses to eight.

At the bottom LLANYMYNECH A got a much-needed win at home to high-flying Ceirio Valley A. The hosts lost the first and last games but took the remainder.

They beat their opponents, who were in third place, by 8-2.

Mark Kirkham took best winner plaudits for the home side, winning by 21-8, with the final score being deceptive as there were several very close games and the hosts only won the aggregate by five, 147-142.

Bottom-placed CHURCH B also gave themselves a lift as they won by the same score against fellow strugglers Llanguollen A.

Advantage
Glenys Jones, Cheryl Wenner and Glyn Edwards all won to four as the host took three of four games in both the front and back four. Carl Mattox replied for the visitors, beating Emrys Jones 21-5 but it could not stop the hosts romping to a 147-101 aggregate win.

In Division Two, LLAN-
RHAEDR A remain top after beating rivals Johnston B 7-3.

Steve Jones was the hosts' best winner, claiming a 21-10 victory while Neil Jones also showed good form to take his game by 21-12.

But a win for WESTON
RHYN A away at Overton B keeps them within touching distance of the summit.

The visitors won 6-4 taking the aggregate 139-133 with Derek Taylor taking best winner plaudits for Rhyn, winning by 21-8.

Elsewhere, CRIFTINS B's survival hopes received a boost as they beat WHITTINGTON B 8-2 at home.

Brian Whitley and Andy Knott won their games 21-15 and 21-16 for the visitors as the game was tied after the first four games but the hosts swept the remaining four to finish with an aggregate score of 157-120.

YE OLDE CROFTE A also won the last four games as they beat Cynwyd A 8-4.

Elsewhere, Flexsya A defeated GEORGE 8-2 at home and Llanguollen A beat BLACK LION 7-3.

At the bottom, 11th-placed Llanyfyllin A were close to notching only their second win of the season but had to settle for a 5-5 draw against Plas Kynaston A.

The hosts took five of the eight games played on the day but still finished with a lower aggregate score 137-144.

Michael Butcher enjoyed a relatively comfortable 21-11 victory over Ivor Jones for the hosts but there were narrower victories for Gareth Lewis and Sue Samaraweera, who both won to 17 and Basil Davies who won to 20 while Gwyn Gwalchmai won to 16.

In contrast, the visitors won by wider margins as Huw Parry beat

BOWLS by Matt Viney

Ifton are happy – but no end to Dragons hoodoo

IFTON remain in the top three of the Shropshire Premier Bowling League despite suffering a 10-4 defeat away at fellow early pace-setters St Georges.

The loss, just Ifton's second in 10 league games, narrows the gap between them and their fourth-placed conquerors to five points while the visitors have played at least a game more than most of their rivals.

It was also the latest in a long line of defeats for Ifton at The Dragons, where captain Steve Robinson said his side has never won in the Furrows Shropshire Premier League.

But the skipper insisted there were several positives which could be taken from the game, including a narrow 223-204 aggregate and several close games.

Darren Lacey, David 'Rocky' Jones, Leighton Roberts, and Graham Dulson all took points for the visitors, with Roberts' 21-7 victory over Simon Rhodes his side's best win on the night.

But there were also tight defeats as Craig Ashley lost 21-19, Dave 'Dick' Jones lost 21-18 and both Brian Hayes and Andrew Hughes went down 21-17.

Robinson said: "I said before the match that I would be happy with four points and anything else would be a bonus so it was a satisfactory result.

"I thought we performed really well and probably deserved one more point at least.

"I also said before hand that this game would be a marker of how far we have come this season because we lost 14-0 there last year, by 130 on aggregate.

"This time we only lost by 19 so it shows we are making progress.

"St Georges is a difficult green to play and they bowl it very well but so did we and I thought we deserved a bit more from the game."

Ifton will be back in action tomorrow away at Sir John Bayley and Robinson said his team would be looking to bounce back to winning ways.

He added that his side had a mixed record at the Telford-based club and there may be a couple of changes to the side, with Craig Griffiths and Nick Jones both coming back into contention for the game following absences last week.

Malcolm Gibbon 21-10, Chris Evans beat Sam Samaraweera 21-6 and Paul Griffiths beat Keith Davies 21-16 to tie the game.

Meanwhile, Whittington C stay at the foot of the table after going down 8-2 at home to Royston A.

Phil Jones and Bob Isherwood both won their games but the hosts lost the remainder, as the visitors took the aggregate 155-101.

Level

In Division Four, Crifftins C and Church C remain neck-and-neck at the top, tied on 60 points after both enjoyed 8-2 home victories.

Crifftins, who are top due to a marginally better aggregate score, beat Llannhaeadr B while Church defeated Weston Rhyn B.

Carl Dulson took best winner plaudits for Crifftins with a 21-7 triumph over Brian Jones while Church's best winner was Joan Lewis, who beat Peter Day 21-4.

No rain no gain for golfers

WELSHPOOL pro Lee Rooke and his amateur partner were all smiles after surviving a soaking to win through to a grand final at a stunning Mexican golf resort.

Vale of Llanguollen assistant pro Rooke and Nick Jones topped the regional final of the Virgin Atlantic PGA National Pro-Am Championship at St Annes Old Links.

They fired a seven-under-par 65 in the BMW and SkyCaddie supported event to win on countback from Formby's Andrew Witherup and Richard Hope.

They will now compete against 15 other clubs from across the UK in the 36-hole grand final at the Moon Palace Golf and Spa Resort in Cancun from December 6-7.

Rooke was delighted to emerge victorious and can vouch for the destination having honeymooned at Moon Palace back in 2005.

He said: "It's a fantastic resort, I obviously didn't play golf that week so can't wait for the final."

But Rooke admitted victory was the last thing on his mind when the pair teed off in the first group out.

He said: "We didn't think we were going to win it when we started off."

"In fact we weren't even thinking about birdies, we were just trying to make pars."

After a steady start in which they got three birdies and one bogey in six holes, they accelerated up the leader board with birdies at 12, 15 and 18 with an eagle on 17.

Rooke said: "After the front nine, it brightened up a bit and got a bit easier for both of us out there."

"Nick did well, he got a four net three on 12 and then on 17 I chipped in for a birdie and he then hooked a 30 footer for a nett eagle, so we worked well together."

Oswestry golfers in action

Good run going on for Pool top order

WELSHPOOL Cricket Club's impressive start to the season continued at Newtown last Saturday with another comfortable win.

Batting first, Welshpool made a steady start accumulating runs methodically and slowly but, crucially, not losing early wickets, on a pitch that looked as if it would favour the bowlers.

The first wicket fell in the 20th over when the score was 41, Dave Jones bowled by Oliver Gordon for 16.

This was immediately followed by the wicket of Llyr Thomas, falling to Gordon in the same over, and it looked ominous for Welshpool.

However, Phil Lewis came to the wicket to join Joe Birch and the Welshpool's innings stabilised.

By the time Joe Birch was out for 63, the score had moved on to 138. Rob Birch was next in, scoring 31 not out, capably batting with the reliable Phil Lewis who finished on 41.

Finally, a knock of 21 not out by Matthew Knight helped move the Welshpool total to a creditable 197 for four in their 50 overs.

Newtown used a total of seven bowlers in attempt to restrict Welshpool's score, all of little avail with the exception of the Oliver Gordon, who took 3-36.

Collapse

Newtown's reply was fragile and, once the openers Steve Davies (23), David Laird (10) and Ricky Davies (33) were out, little resistance was offered.

Welshpool's bowling attack still looks thin with their main strike bowler from previous seasons on the injury list and unable to bowl but their other bowlers are performing well.

Sam Birch, again, looked good in taking 1-24 in 10 overs, Rupert Shingler remains at the top of the league's bowling table after taking 2-41 and Ernie Birch is having a renaissance in the twilight of his bowling career, taking one for 18.

The star of Welshpool's attack though was Joe Birch who took six for 35, contributing significantly to Welshpool bowling out Newtown for 126.

It was a joyous day for Welshpool, taking all of the honours in this prestigious local derby.

But the accolades must belong to the Birch family. Joe scoring 63, taking six for 35 and holding on a catch, Rob scoring 31, Sam taking 1-18 and father and skipper Ernie taking 1-18 and holding on to three catches.

Meanwhile, WELSHPOOL II returned to winning ways against Newtown at Maesdyre.

Batting first Welshpool did not find it easy, their higher order finding the bowling of Chris Bound (4 for 26) and Sam Cook (5 for 30) too hot to handle.

However, the experience of Dale Evans (51) helped turn the situation around and when he was supported by Matt McWhinnie (26) and Rob Anderson (13) Welshpool's score moved on to a respectable 164 all out.

For Welshpool Steve Monk took 2-31, Damon Preston took 2-22 and Matt McWhinnie 5-28.

The game ended in the 37th over when Newtown were bowled out for 115.

Saints' first-teamers join club's coaching set-up

Back row: Scott Quigley, Aeron Edwards, Steve Evans, Craig Harrison and Matthew Williams. Front: Scott Ruscoe, Tom Allen, Nick Ward, Alex Darlington and Alex Ramsey.

FIVE new coaches have been recruited from The New Saints first team, following the highly successful academy trials, in which 70 boys were offered a place to train and play for the Saints' academy.

The trials, held over five weeks in April and May, saw 160 boys, aged eight to 16, try out for a place in The New Saints academy.

Head of youth development, Scott Ruscoe said: "We saw 160 boys in total compete for a place in the academy. The standard was extremely high and we had not anticipated how much talent we would see. Consequently we have offered places to 70."

To accommodate the new members of the academy squads, TNS have recruited some additional coaches in the form of their first team players Alex Darlington, Aeron Edwards, Matthew Williams and new signings Scott Quigley and Tom Allen.

The players join existing first team coaches Steve Evans, Alex Ramsey, Nick Ward and Scott Ruscoe as they aim to build on the success of the TNS academy, with the ultimate aim of bringing more players through the youth system into the first team.

Ruscoe added: "I don't know any other football club in the country who offer academy coaching from nine first team squad members."

"The club is in a unique position to be able to do this, in addition to our other UEFA qualified coaches who all do a superb job of coaching and mentoring the young people who train with us."

The trialists who showed promise but were not given a place in the academy squads have been offered a place in the The New Saints development centre, which will act as a direct feed into academy squads once players have reached the necessary level.

Both girls and boys will be invited to join the development centre, which is due to start on September 3, at The Venue.

Ruscoe added: "The academy will be bigger and better than ever this year and there will be something on seven days per week at The Venue for young footballers, whether it is a training session, a match or the development centre."

"We want football to be accessible to any local boy or girl who shows talent and interest in the game."

Siblings both on podium but neither can manage top spot

LLANGYNOG mountain biking brother and sister Gee and Rachel Atherton both came within inches of victory in the British round of the UCI downhill World Cup.

Rachel finished second at a rain-soaked Fort William just 1.3 seconds behind World Champion and current World Cup leader Emmeline Ragot to move her up to second in the overall standings.

Gee also missed out on the top spot, by 2.5 seconds, finishing third in the men's event behind race winner Aaron Gwin, of USA, and fellow Brit Danny Hart.

Gee's performance closed the gap on second-placed South African Greg Minnaar in the overall standings but he still sits in third spot, ahead of Hart after three rounds of the competition.

Rachel qualified for the race nearly 10 seconds quicker than the chasing pack but suffered a nasty crash in her final practice run which resulted in a neck injury.

After receiving some quick treatment from the team's physio Rachel was left sore but still confident going into the race.

Ragot set a blistering time as the finals kicked off though, adapting well to the wet conditions.

It was looking like a tall task for Atherton to challenge but she went through the first interval time 1.7 seconds faster.

She lost time through the middle sector to trail her rival by 2.4 seconds at interval two but a strong lower section meant Rachel dived for the line missing the win by just 1.3 seconds.

Cautious

Rachel said: "I was just too cautious all the way down."

"I really didn't want to throw it away. I'm not going to lie, I wanted to win here in Fort William more than ever before, so I'm gutted not to finish first."

"Fort William is a savage track so I was really surprised to come first in qualifying but you've just got to hold on here and unfortunately I couldn't quite do the business."

"Emmeline is riding well at the moment and I can't afford to hold anything back if I'm going to win" said a deflated Rachel after the event.

She trails Ragot in the overall series by 120 points but overtook third-placed finisher on the day Myriam Nicole of France in the standings as a result of her strong showing.

Gee qualified in second place behind his team mate Marc Beaumont and was leading at the first time split against Gwin.

But by the second split he was trailing by four seconds and despite a late fight back he had to settle for third place.

Beaumont, the last to hit the course, had a problem with his back brake and finished well down the rankings. Aaron Gwin was the eventual winner with a time of four minutes 48.21 seconds.

The next round of the competition will take place at Monte-Sainte-Anne in Canada on June 23-24.

Champagne moment - Rachel Atherton celebrates her victory in Val di Sole

Jones Brooks no argument

THE threat of rain and a strong gusty wind meant that just 12 riders were brave enough to take to the start line for round six of the Stuart Barkley time trials series.

The conditions proved testing with most riders recording their slowest times of the year so far.

It turned out to be a closely fought affair with Medwyn Jones of Brooks Cycles taking his first victory. Jones clocked 24 minutes six seconds, putting him just one second ahead of Josh Williams of Paramount CRT.

Neil Coles was the quickest Paragon rider in 24.15 with Colin Lythe (24.55) fourth and showing no ill effects from riding the Anfield 100 earlier in the week.

He was the only rider to record a season's best time in the adverse conditions.

Andrew Davies took fifth place in 24.58 ahead of Paragon team-mate Dean Hornsey (26.06). Hafren CC's Glyn Jones took seventh with 27.29 ahead of Bruce Selby (29.13).

Peter Robinson of North Shropshire Wheelers crossed the line in 29.41 on his first visit to the Queens Head course. Alun Owen rounded off the top 10 with a time off 31.31. Robbie Griffiths was the only junior rider to take part and finished in 41.53.

Results: 1 M Jones (Brooks Cycles) 24.07, 2 J Williams (Paramount CRT) 24.07, 3 N Coles (OPCC) 24.15, 4 C Lythe (OPCC) 24.55, 5 A Davies (OPCC) 24.58, 6 D Hornsey (OPCC) 26.06, 7 G Jones (Hafren CC) 27.29, 8 B Selby (OPCC) 29.13, 9 P Robinson (NSW) 29.41, 10 A Owen (OPCC) 31.31, 11 R Jones (OPCC) 34.06, 12 R Griffiths (OPCC) 41.53.

Oswestry ladies are winners on road

OSWESTRY Tennis Club's ladies first team had another impressive win in their Group One campaign in an away fixture at Longden.

The first pairing of Captain Josie Macrae and Kat Oakley took control from the start against the opposing first pair and dismissed them in straight sets 6-1, 6-3.

The second pairing of Judy Lloyd and Speth Cumpston had to battle against Longden's second pairing and, despite some fine play dropped the first set on a tie break 6-7.

However they hit back, winning the second set 6-4 taking the rubber to a third set tie-break which they eventually lost 0-1.

In the reverses rubbers Josie and Kat lost concentration in the first set losing it 3-6 but then got back on track to take the second set 6-1 and the third set tie-break 1-0.

Although they fought hard against the Longden's first pair Judy and Speth went down in straight sets 4-6, 1-6.

With rubbers tied at two each and sets tied at five each the result went on countback on games won with the Oswestry ladies winning 39-35 to gain five of the available eight points.

The ladies second team had their fixture postponed against Whitchurch due to bad weather.

Oswestry men's second team travelled to Bomere Heath looking for their third successive win.

In the first round rubbers the excellent first pairing of Gary Edwards and Keith Grice provided tough opposition for the Bomere's first pairing winning in straight sets 6-4 6-2.

With Matt Grice returning to play alongside Jamie Chaplin as the second pair they were made to work hard and in a closely fought contest beat the Bomere's second pairing 7-6 7-5.

In the reverses rubbers Gary and Keith continued to play well and won in straight sets 6-4, 6-1 against the opposing second pair.

Matt and Jamie struggled to make any impact in the first set against the Bomere first pairing going down 1-6.

The second set was an excellent improvement which they took 6-1 which resulted in a third set deciding tie break to resolve the outcome and despite having a match point they lost 0-1 (10-12) but it was another seven points for the Oswestry team.

Fossils take League Cup

WELSHPOOL Fossils pulled off a spectacular last minute victory to upset the odds and lift the Veteran League Cup at the Venue, Oswestry on Sunday.

Facing league champions Wrexham Retro with a lengthening absentee list, few gave Welshpool much chance, but Bernie Jones hit the winner in a 3-2 verdict.

Welshpool took the lead through Mark Roberts, before Wrexham equalised. But the lead was restored through Chris Jew before Wrexham again pulled level.

With the tie heading to extra-time, Jones popped up to pinch a winner.

Manager Vaughan Harding paid tribute to his team and dedicated the win to former team-mate, Tony Windsor, who died last year.

Leaders will be toughest test yet

WELSHPOOL vice-captain Joe Birch believes he and his team-mates face the toughest test of their Shropshire County League first division campaign this weekend when they take on fellow high-fliers Allscott.

Saturday's game at Welshpool's Maes-Yr-Dre ground pits the second-placed hosts against the league leaders.

Both sides will go into the match in confident mood having lost just twice between them in 16 games combined.

The visitors, having won seven of eight in the league so far, may start as marginal favourites.

But there is no fear from the hosts, whose confidence is sky-high following their own strong start which has yielded five wins and two draws from eight fixtures.

Welshpool go into the game following a 71-run victory over Newtown last weekend.

Birch, who helped his team to 197-4 with 63 runs and then took six wickets as Newtown were dismissed for 126, said: "It will definitely be our biggest test."

"You just have to look at their position in the league and what they have been doing to other teams."

"We know we are coming up against a good side, but we have built up some confidence over the last four or five weeks."

"They score a lot of runs but if you look at our squad we are posting close to 200 in most games. It could be a very high-scoring game as a result, but it could also be a case of one side scoring lots and the other side getting bowled out for not so many."

He admitted the squad will probably need to find some big performances to win, but will be boosted by a virtually unchanged starting line-up – something Birch feels has been crucial throughout the season.

The replacement of Sam Birch (holiday) by Steve Monk is the only change expected for the home side this weekend.

"It is not a like for like replacement, but Steve is very good with the ball and he puts it in the right spots," said Joe Birch.

"We have only had two or three players through the season that haven't been available, which helps."

"We have got a core of players we are picking from, but there is also some depth within the club. If we have got a batsman or a bowler out, we can bring someone in that can also do a job."

Monty boys ready to go

MONTGOMERYSHIRE County Cricket Club start their 2012 North Wales County Championship campaign on Sunday against Denbighshire played at Chirk Cricket Club (1.30pm).

There will also be a T20 competition, to be held on Sunday August 12 at Chirk Cricket Club.

Abi Bowers on the top step of the Welsh Championship podium following victory in the U15 girls hurdles

Hurdler Bowers reigns in the rain

OSWESTRY Olympian Abi Bowers is the new Welsh U15 girls 75m hurdles champion.

She set a personal best to take the crown at the Welsh Athletics Championships in Cardiff.

Bowers defied strong winds and heavy rain to cross the finish line in 11.83 seconds.

The sprinter is now ranked 13th in the UK and No.1 in Wales for the event.

There was also glory for former Oswestry Olympian Adele Nicoll, now a member of Birchfield Harriers, who claimed two gold medals with a championship best performance of 12.99m in the U17 women's shot and 43.71m in the discus to top the UK rankings in both events.

Olympians also enjoyed a solid showing at the second National Young Athletes League meeting which was hosted by Telford.

Oswestry representatives competed as part of a composite team with Shrewsbury Athletics Club which finished third on the day.

Bowers claimed a grade two performance in the U15 girls 75m hurdles which she won with a time of 12.3 while there were grade threes for Anna Oloyede, Leo Read, Cameron van Onselen and Matthew Jones.

Oloyede won the U17 women's 80m hurdles with a time of 12.7 while Read took the U15 boys 80m hurdles in 12.3.

Van Onselen was second in the U13 boys 1500m with a time of 5.00.7 while Jones won the U17s men's 400m in 52 seconds.

TNS boss takes the plaudits in award

THE NEW SAINTS' head coach Carl Darlington has landed the Welsh Premier League's Manager of the Year award.

Darlington was instrumental in the Saints' march to a Welsh Premier League and Welsh Cup double last season and topped the poll ahead of Llanelli manager Andy Legg and Bala Town boss Colin Caton.

But Saints' duo striker Greg Draper, who scored 22 league goals last term, and left-back Chris Marriott were less successful.

New Zealander Draper was beaten to the Player of the Season accolade by Bala midfielder Mark Jones in the closest vote in the history of the award, while Marriott narrowly lost out in the Young Player of the Season category.

Meanwhile, the Welsh Premier has secured a new three-year television deal with S4C, which will start from next season.

Clubs will benefit directly from the deal for the first time, with a facilities fee for hosting matches and investment into club development.

A new format for the League Cup was agreed at the league's annual meeting, which will include eight clubs from the main feeder leagues, the Huws Gray Alliance and the Macwhirter Welsh League.

The much-criticised winter break will be discontinued after just one season, while all clubs will be required to wear shirts with player names and squad numbers next season.

Meanwhile, the New Saints Ladies Football Club are looking for new players for next season.

The club are holding trials at the Venue, Park Hall, Oswestry on Sunday, between 11am and 1pm.

Power in action

MID WALES racing driver Ben Power returns to action this weekend in the UK Legends Car Championship visits the spectacular coastal circuit on Anglesey.

by Matt Viney

OSWESTRY take on Aston Manor this weekend aiming to extend their seven-game unbeaten run following last week's encouraging winning draw at home to league leaders Penkridge.

The Shropshire side, who travel to Perry Barr on Saturday, jumped to second in Birmingham & District Premier League division three following their second strong showing against table-topping sides in as many weeks.

Oswestry beat Stourbridge, who were at the summit prior to that loss, two weeks ago and club captain Mike Robinson admitted there was disappointment among the side that they did not wrap up another victory on Saturday – especially after posting their highest ever run total in the league.

The home side finished their 55 overs on 285-8, with Clint Brockman (67 not out) and skipper Mark Robinson (54) – the son of Mike – scoring 91 between them in an eighth-wicket stand.

Confidence

But they were unable to find the final two wickets needed at Morda Road as the visitors held on at 144-8, despite a four-wicket haul for Warwick Fynn.

Mike Robinson reckoned his side's big total underlined the strength of their batting. He said the continued unbeaten run, after tackling some of the league's best sides, was also a source of confidence.

"If we do everything right, I think we take some beating," he said, before adding: "Results went our way on Saturday though, with Tamworth losing to Bridgnorth and Stourbridge losing to Penn."

"But we still have to play Tamworth soon, who I think will be one of our main rivals for promotion."

Next up are Aston Manor who will welcome Robinson's side to Church Road for a noon start.

Robinson said it would mark the third week in a row that Oswestry had faced unfamiliar opposition. "We have never played them before so we don't know what to expect," he said. "We will just concentrate on our own performance."

Oswestry are expected to be unchanged, although a slight doubt remains over Dean Suter (bruised hand).

Oswestry were also due to face premier division side Wellington last night in the Twenty20 Challenge Cup second round.

Management team unveiled at Rangers

ELLESMERE Rangers have unveiled Richard Brown and Richard Gardner as their new management team.

The Midlands Alliance side were on the hunt for a new man at the helm after Matt Burton stood down after four years due to work commitments.

And they have now turned to

Brown and Gardner, who guided Wellington Amateurs to the West Midlands League division one League and Cup double last season before making way for returning manager Mike Armstrong.

"We had a lot of very good applications," said Ellesmere director of football Alan Davis.

"But Richard and Richard were very enthusiastic about the challenge ahead and had an excellent season with Wellington."

Ellesmere were involved in a relegation battle in the 2011-12 campaign before pulling clear in the closing weeks to finish 15th.

The new management duo will be looking to improve those fortunes next season.

Prime mover in town's industrial development

In the latest in our series on Shrewsbury place names, local historian ANDREW PATTISON looks at the businessman and engineer whose name was given to Bage Way

BAGE Way is the part of Shrewsbury's inner ring road between Old Potts Way and Cromwre Road.

It is named after Charles Bage (1752-1822), a man of great inventiveness and versatility, who also had a deep concern for those less fortunate than himself.

Charles was born near Derby into a Quaker family. His father Robert owned a paper mill near Tamworth. When Charles was 14 his father bought a share in an iron forge, one of his partners being Erasmus Darwin, Charles Darwin's grandfather. Through this link, Charles Bage became friendly with Robert Darwin, Charles Darwin's father, a friendship which continued when both of them moved independently to Shrewsbury.

Charles Bage married Margaret Boterall, of Shrewsbury, and moved to the town around 1781. He set up in business as a wine merchant and was also a surveyor, rather a curious combination. He quickly became well-known and respected in the town, and from 1784 was a founder-director of the 'House of Industry', which occupied the buildings which now house Shrewsbury School.

The House of Industry had a more benign regime than the later workhouses, and sought to counter the escalating cost of poor relief by providing the poor inmates with productive work. This they did by producing goods in the workshops and food on the associated farm, and selling them at a profit.

Bage was on close terms with many of the important men of Shrewsbury of this period, such as Thomas Telford, William Hazledine, and the Benyon brothers (all of whom have been described in this series).

When the Benyons entered into partnership with John Marshall, of Leeds, to build a fire-proof flax mill in Ditherington, Shrewsbury, they appointed Bage as its designer. At first sight it seems strange to choose a wine merchant and surveyor to design the ironwork for a cutting edge fireproof building.

However, Charles Bage was familiar with the work of William Strutt, who was at the forefront of designing such buildings. He also had contact with the Coalbrookdale ironmasters, who helped him by providing details of experiments they had done on the strength of cast iron structures.

Bage's important contribution to the development of iron-framed buildings was to use cast iron beams, as well as columns, roof supports, windows and doors as Strutt had already done. For this reason it is not unreasonable to claim that every skyscraper in the world was born in Shrewsbury.

The fact that the Ditherington Flax Mill is still standing is a tribute to Bage's mathematical and engineering skill. It is also a tribute to the exceptional talent of the ironmaster William Hazledine, who had the responsibility for the detailed design and casting of all the components.

These included 204 columns, 136 beams in pairs bolted together in the middle, 136 large windows, and 19 roof sections, not to mention doors, tie bars, staircases, and all the other smaller cast iron parts. Putting it all together must have been like assembling a gigantic Meccano model.

Austere

As described in the previous article, Bage designed a similar mill for the Benyons in Castlefields in 1804. In 1815, Bage built his own smaller factory to weave linen cloth. This was situated on what is now Burr's Field, which lies between Kingsland Road and the river. Bage developed a new type of power loom, but it does not seem to have been successful.

Bage was elected Mayor of Shrewsbury in 1807, and was one of the prime movers in the establishment of the Lancasterian School in 1813. This was a charity school, and Bage designed its rather austere building that is still standing along Beacall's Lane, Castlefields.

After his first wife died, in 1808 he married again, this time to a girl who was just 21 (he was 56) and they had six children.

His last years were a time of great economic depression, which caused him much financial difficulty. He wrote to his friend William Strutt, "What is to become of our [national] debt [it was already £800 million in 1815] I know not; in a few years the other side of the Atlantic will be a giant great enough to swallow up almost the rest of the world."

His sentiments have proved exactly right. Sadly, the only monument to Charles Bage is a very decayed gravestone in St Chad's churchyard. Surely such an outstanding man deserves better?

Lancasterian School, designed by Bage and opened in 1813, which still stands in Beacall's Lane, Castlefields.

GARDENSCentre staff hold advice sessions for gardeners

STAFF at a Shropshire garden centre are inviting gardeners to a free event all about how they can attract good bugs to their gardens.

Albrighton Garden Centre is hosting a Bees, Bugs and Butterflies Festival until July 1 to raise awareness of friendly insects and how to attract them to gardens.

Manager Darren Hancock said: "Despite being gardeners' friends, bees, bugs and butterflies are in decline so we will be helping our visitors learn how to encourage more of them into their gardens."

"Bees and butterflies are very important to gardeners because they feed on flower nectar and, as they feed, they transfer pollen on their bodies and legs from one plant to another."

"Without bees many arable and horticultural crops couldn't produce a harvest, which would seriously affect our food supply."

"Bugs such as ground beetles, lacewings and ladybirds act as a natural pest control by eating insects that can be a nuisance for gardeners."

Bugs and butterflies are in serious decline thanks to housing development, intensive farming and road building. Plants that will help attract bees, bugs and butterflies into gardens include buddleia, dill, lavender, mint and tansy.

Garden gates opened to public for charity event

THIS Sunday there are two very different gardens open in Shropshire for charity – both opening for the National Gardens Scheme and raising funds for Macmillan and Marie Curie Cancer Care and a host of other charities.

The famous gardens at Hodnet Hall will give visitors the opportunity to enjoy 60 acres of lakes, pools and magnificent forest trees. There are some lovely borders at Hodnet full of summer flowers and shrubs together with a productive kitchen garden. Homemade teas are served in the 17th century tearooms where visitors can view the unique collection of big-game trophies.

Hodnet Hall gardens are open on Sunday from noon to 5pm in aid of the National Gardens Scheme. Admission is £5 for adults and £2.50 for children. Well-behaved dogs are allowed in the gardens.

Village trail takes in private grounds and beauty spots

A GARDEN trail will be held in villages near Whitchurch on Sunday to help towards the upkeep and redevelopment of the land.

The walk through the villages of Ash Magna and Ash Parva will include 11 gardens open to the public for the day and a visit to two sites of special scientific interest (SSSI).

Part of the trail will include Brown Moss, a SSSI currently seeking planning permission to build fences to enclose grazing cattle. The day will include entertainment supplied by local group Jigsmith, plant sales, pencil portraits, ice creams, tea and cakes and croquet on the vicarage lawn.

Programmes for the trail can be bought in the village hall.

The event will run between midday and 5pm. Admission is £3 for adults, children free. For more information contact Sheila Martinson on (01948) 663248 or e-mail smartinson@ashbounty.co.uk

For further details on the gardens at Hodnet and information on disabled access visit www.hodnethallgardens.org.

Also open for the National Gardens Scheme on the same day is Hall Farm Nursery at Kinnerley, near Oswestry.

Owners Christine and Nick Pfoelkes have an excellent reputation in the horticultural world for herbaceous perennials, grown organically.

The nursery has been the proud recipient of 46 Royal Horticultural Society medals including Chelsea Flower Show Gold Medals in 2005 and 2010.

As well as the plant areas, there will be a display of flower related artwork with well-known local artists, Christine Eldridge, Pam Gregson and Diana Bellerby exhibiting their own style of horticulture in art.

Hall Farm Nursery is open from 10 am to 4 pm for the National Gardens Scheme.

Admission is £3.00 for adults, children free. Homemade teas and plants are for sale. Hall Farm Nursery is at Kinnerley, 10 miles north west of Shrewsbury mid-way to Oswestry just off the A5.

For more information on the nursery visit www.hallfarmnursery.co.uk

Isle Court Nursing Home residents Gillian Renshaw and Irene Schofield with Adcote pupils Hadiza Lawal and Lylee Chan.

GREEN-fingered school visitors help Isle Court Nursing Home residents get into horticulture and celebrate summer.

A visit from pupils of Adcote School to Isle Court Nursing Home, saw residents and students get closer to nature by potting young geranium plants together, creating a riot of colour for the home.

Residents from the home's mentally frail unit then had help with creating beautiful flower arrangements, using oasis and foliage as well as colourful blooms. Resident Irene Schofield said: "I had a wonderful time arranging the flowers and I'm looking forward to seeing the geraniums grow. They are my favourite plants."

"The girls were really helpful and a pleasure to talk to."

The horticultural theme continued into the afternoon with an eco-quiz for all home residents and visitors, testing everyone's knowledge of all things green.

Home given a breath of fresh air by RAF team

THE garden at a nursing home in north Shropshire have been completely redesigned to help get residents more active.

Mark Freeman, a landscape gardener from Wem, joined forces with 10 students from the Joint Air Traffic Control course at RAF Shawbury to help renovate the garden at River Meadows Nursing home, near Shawbury.

Judy Freeman, activities co-ordinator, said since its completion more residents have been sitting in the new sensory garden, which has been renamed the Jubilee garden. She said the volunteers worked very hard on the new garden.

"We have since planted over 200 shrubs and now have raised beds built so the residents can reach the garden and get involved in it."

"A lot of our residents have had strokes and they need persuading to come outside but since the transformation we have had quite a few sitting outside to eat."

Sweet pea group to visit festival

THE Eckford Sweet Pea Society in Wem will visit the Arley Garden Festival, near Northwich, on June 23 and 24.

The society will be competing for one of the prestigious certificates with a 12ft by 6ft display in the floral marquee.

HOMES

Apartments offer Cypriot sea views

Christopher Morris says this development in Cyprus is ideal for holidays or permanent living. The small development offers large two-bedroom apartments, sea views, garaging and a communal pool and all for just 79,000 Euros – about £60,000.

WITH the almost panic-like commentaries doing the rounds you could be forgiven for thinking the overseas property world has ended.

Well, nothing could be further from the truth, writes Shrewsbury property agent Christopher Morris.

Indeed, the global – and more specifically the European – crisis has been good for the overseas property industry because only professional firms seem to be left now, the cowboys have gone as there's no quick buck to be made now.

It is quite apparent people want to buy property in the sun for a variety of reasons but are nervous due to what they hear almost nightly on their TVs and elsewhere.

But there are good news out there. Those with foresight and, perhaps, a deeper understanding of things are taking advantage of the currently attractive market prices, exchange rates that are at their best for years, numerous genuine (and some not-so-genuine) special offers, and of course good rental opportunities for those looking for a return.

Exchange rates mean property is now at least 25 per cent cheaper than it would have been when sterling was much weaker against the Euro and that doesn't allow for the lower property price in real terms as well.

The cost of living in Spain and Cyprus is much lower than the UK and, when working in these good exchange rates, a pension goes much further. It's like having a pay rise without working for it.

● Call Christopher Morris for details about homes in Spain and Cyprus on (01743)343634 or email sales@simplyoverseas.com

Traders join forces with stylish new partnership

FIVE of the county's flagship retailers have joined forces to launch a stylish initiative.

The Style Partnership in Shrewsbury aims to assist residents who are moving house or looking to refresh their home with advice about new products and interior design. Audio visual store Bang & Olufsen in the High Street is one of the five partners, and Tina Boyle of the firm explained the reasoning behind the launch.

"Shrewsbury is lucky enough to have some excellent retailers specialising in home interiors and some very knowledgeable experts in this sector so we thought it would be a good idea to get together to share our skills and offer a complete service to customers," she said.

Bang & Olufsen will be working alongside St Mary's Interiors at St Mary's Street, Millard & Lancaster, Villeroi & Boch and Electric Melon, who install home entertainment systems.

John Fullick of St Mary's Interiors at St Mary's Street commented: "When people are moving house or looking to give their home a new appearance they often need advice from a whole range of specialists.

by David Seadon

"We soon realised that our services complemented those of several other leading retailers in Shrewsbury so thought it a logical step to form the Style Partnership.

"We hope that customers will soon benefit from our combined efforts."

The partnership will share some promotional material and plan to hold advice events for shoppers.

Housebuilders in national bid

Housebuilder David Wilson Mercia has gone through the first round of the NHBC's third annual Health and Safety Awards in the best large site category and are now shortlisted for the national title, to be revealed next month.

Recognising and rewarding outstanding contributions to on-site health and safety best practice by housebuilders across the nation, the awards highlight just how important health and safety management is to today's housebuilders.

Project for teenagers after drinking shock

TEENAGERS in Pontesbury, which hit the headlines due to problems with underage drinking, are to be encouraged to make the most of their natural environment with a new project run by Shropshire Wildlife Trust.

The Wild A@venture initiative would see youngsters from the village involved in outdoor activities such as orienteering or building and installing bird boxes.

The scheme would include a Young Apprentice element which is aimed at youngsters aged 16 and over.

It comes after police issued a warning last month that large groups of youngsters, some as young as 15, had been taking part in underage drinking sessions on Earl's Hill near Pontesbury.

The Wildlife Trust has now applied for £2,500 in funding to help get the scheme off the ground from the Longden, Ford and Rea Valley Local Joint Committee.

"Activities will involve teams of young people exploring their local environment and completing challenges which could range from completing an orienteering course around Earl's Hill to building and installing bird boxes," the application said. The key criteria of the activities will be that they must take place outside in the local environment, they must involve local heritage and they must have a goal that can be worked towards as a team.

"We understand that there is a particular need for activities to engage the older teenage group which we will be able to meet through the Young Apprentice part of Wild A@venture.

The idea has been welcomed by parish councillor Brian Morris.

Website is hailed a hit

OFFICIALS behind a new website promoting the best of Shrewsbury have said the new site is proving to be a hit.

LoveShrewsbury.com was launched last week with the intention of celebrating everything positive about the county. A spokesman for the website said the initial response from local residents, businesses and charities had been 'extremely positive so far'.

Habib Malik-Mansell, one of the partners behind the website, said: "The Love Shrewsbury site has been set-up via a partnership of Michael Tinkler from the Severn Magazine, Peter White and Nathan Bensley-Edwards from The Web Orchard and myself."

Slimmers raise cash for cause

MEMBERS of a Shrewsbury Weight Watchers group have raised hundreds of pounds for charity.

A total of 16 members from the Sundorne Games group recently took part in a five-mile walk to Abbey Wood on Haughmond Hill.

It is one of several sponsored events that the group has held, netting £737 for Combat Stress and Severn Hospice so far.

Wendy Cartwright, leader of the group, said: "I am so proud of all my members who supported this fundraising effort; they really have gone the extra mile."

For details call Wendy on 07548830874.

Gardens trails to bring church aid

A CHURCH fundraising event will take place at Astley, near Shrewsbury, on Sunday in the form of a garden trail throughout the village.

Ten gardens of differing styles will be on show to the public and resident Martin Locke said: "We are looking forward to welcoming visitors to our gardens as previous garden trails here have proved to be very popular."

Gardens will be open from 10.30am until 5pm and tickets, available at the village hall on the day, are £3.50 for adults.

Disability group to hear speaker

SHROPSHIRE Disability Network will meet today, Thursday, from 1.30pm at The Trinity Centre, on Church Road in Meole Brace, Shrewsbury.

It is the first time the event has been held at the town venue and secretary Dave Hewetson will give a talk about Rett Syndrome.

To book your place go to www.shropshire-disability.net and complete the form or call on (01743) 247019.

Bike ride to bring in funds for carers

SHREWSBURY is gearing up to a host a charity bike ride that will raise money to support Shropshire's network of carers.

The Cycling for Carers event has been organised by Shropshire Rural Community Council and Urban Bikes and will take place on June 23, starting out from The Bellstone.

Phil Roe, from Urban Bikes based in the Market Hall, said: "We would love people to register for our 10-mile bike ride and entry is just £5 for families and £3 for individuals."

"It would be great if more experienced cyclists brought along 'saddle shy' friends for the bike ride which is supported by Cycle Shrewsbury."

Elodie Home, RCC community fundraiser, said: "We are so grateful to the Market Hall and Phil Roe from Urban Bikes for their support of our charity."

"The Market Hall is helping our Coffee for Carers event with collections and events on the same day."

"We are hoping that people will take part in the Cycling for Carers and then finish with refreshments at one of the cafes in the Market Hall."

There are an estimated 30,000 family carers in Shropshire.

For details on the bike ride call 07828 638132.

Claim car park causing misery for neighbours

by David Seadon

A LORRY crashing into the grounds of an historic bed and breakfast is just one example of the traffic mayhem resulting from a new car park in Shrewsbury, residents claim.

They say the 41-space pay and display car park, at Horsefair in Abbey Foregate, has made their lives a misery ever since it opened in March.

Traffic has increased twofold, and residents and businesses claim part of the problem is a sign erected by Morris Properties, who built the car park, which directs traffic up a narrow street next to the 15th century Old Park House Bed and Breakfast.

They said Shropshire Council had asked the company to remove the sign by April 27 so that traffic could continue to enter the £2 all day car park via Horsefair, but over a month on the sign still remains in place.

An articulated lorry crashed into the railings outside the bed and breakfast within two weeks of the car park opening.

It ended up inches from the property and left the fencing bent out of shape.

Christine Yates-Roberts, proprietor of Old Park House, said: "I was in the bathroom when I saw this massive shadow come towards the property and the driver just clattered into the railings. It looks like a complete mess and could have been worse."

"The half adopted road they are directing traffic down is not suitable or safe for traffic of this kind."

"Shropshire Council told them to remove the sign by the end of April but it's still there."

Unsuitable

Shropshire councillor Hannah Fraser, for the Abbey ward, said: "The signage to this car park encourages traffic up a wholly unsuitable road, and there have been various incidents."

"It really needs to be removed so as not to encourage more similar incidents but nothing has been done."

But Elizabeth Lowe, of Morris Property, said: "There's been a sign on this site since it was operated as a builders' yard by Bickerton Builders."

"We recently acquired the former merchants' yard, and have subsequently turned it in to a pay and display car park, updating the existing sign to provide parking information."

"The additional spaces have helped to relieve some of the parking issues experienced in the area."

Pub facelift offers alfresco dining in beautiful garden

The new beer garden offers beautiful alfresco dining.

WHAT'S next for this UK Food Pub of the Year 2011 finalist?

The Burlton Inn, on the A528 Shrewsbury to Ellesmere road recently made it through to be included in the top six contenders.

Chef and owner Paul Devaney said: "We have given the Burlton Inn a new look interior, giving a fresher, more contemporary style, whilst still incorporating the beautiful rustic charm of old character features."

"The new summer menu is now in place and we have extended our fresh light bite selection, perfect for accompanying an ice cold San Miguel this summer."

"One of the new editions is the Burlton lamb burger with Middle Eastern spices, vine ripened tomato, crisp lettuce, basil infused sour cream and is served with big chips and raita dip. It's proving to be very popular!" The new beer garden offers beautiful alfresco dining and the marquee is becoming very popular for couples booking weddings & Christenings, especially with the garden now coming into bloom, setting the scene for a truly special occasion.

Mr Devaney and his wife Lynsey took on the Robinson's pub tenancy in October 2008 and have since worked hard to source the majority of their ingredients from local producers. Mr Devaney comes from a fine dining background and has used his experience to create a modern British menu tailored to country fare.

Just Superb – Skoda are back in big time

VEHICLES from the Skoda camp never cease to amaze me these days and the Superb Estate Greenline proved no exception.

When a car retains industry awards you know it's not a fluke and I've just discovered why this Skoda has got 'winner' stamped all over it.

This is a very spacious estate with good pricing and all the equipment you need inside a surprisingly up-market cabin.

with Graham Breeze

ous car ever to wear the Skoda badge, with prices running from under £19,000 to over £30,000.

Back in the 1930s Skoda launched the Superb as a luxurious option for the world's leaders and royalty. Things certainly slipped a bit over the years with the brand the butt of many motoring jokes – but that luxurious image is certainly back again.

On test was the 1.6TDi CR 105PS in five speed manual format and just to explain why it's such an outstanding option there's 54.2mpg, CO2 emissions of 114g/km, a top speed of 119mph and 0-62mph in 12.6seconds.

This model hits the road running at £24,465 and includes 16" alloys, four spoke leather multi-function steering wheel, including radio and telephone controls.

There's a touch screen navigation system with voice control and full leather upholstery with heated and electrically operated front seats.

On top of all that there's rain sensor wipers, a start-stop system and a built-in tyre pressure monitor.

Battery

The Greenline system keeps running costs down with an energy recovery system which converts kinetic energy back into useable electricity which is either stored in the battery or reused by electrical components.

That bit is above my understanding but certainly contributes to keeping fuel costs down.

Improved aerodynamics, low profile tyres, the stop-start system and screen mounted speed warnings coupled to gear change recommendations are also part of the Greenline system.

I read somewhere that the Superb was lumpy, well not on my watch it wasn't. It felt great on the motorway and equally at home on the country roads of Mid Wales – a great cruiser.

The estate was never built for charging into bends but accurate steering and plenty of grip ensure the ride feels as safe as it should.

If you're a company car driver the 1.6 TDI Greenline makes a lot of sense because of its

The estate has leather upholstery and a steering-wheel with phone and radio controls

low CO2 emissions and enormous boot space.

It's also a comfortable five seater and rear seat passengers can have no complaints about leg or headroom which is unusual with one normally compromising the other these days.

Skoda's image changed forever with the alliance with Volkswagen but this is no poor relation – quite the opposite in fact.

Inside there is a classy feel and all the controls are simple and just where they should be, unlike in some of the opposition where a day-long instruction period is often needed.

Stability control and twin front, side and curtain airbags are fitted as standard, as well as a further airbag to protect the driver's knees.

Top-spec cars in the range get an intelligent headlight system, which varies its beam pattern according to your speed and the type of road you're on. Security features are plentiful, and every model comes with an alarm.

In 2011, Skoda completed a record year achieving registrations of over 45,000 up 9.2 per cent when compared to the previous year whilst also reaching a record 2.3 per cent market share.

Last March was the brand's best sales month ever when deliveries rose 12.1 per cent to 95,200 vehicles and January to March was the best ever quarter as deliveries totaled 242,700 units.

Porsche Boxster a smooth operator

Statements get no more dramatic than this: "Without the Boxster, Porsche would have gone to the wall." That, from a bigish-wig in the sports car company's UK team is proper horse's mouth stuff.

Or how about this, from an even bigger-wig: "Frankly, without it we would not be here in the way we are today."

Which likely means that if the original Boxster of 1996 had been a sales flop the company would long ago have been taken over, or perhaps sunk beneath the waves.

Since then, if you follow these things, you'll know that Porsche has indeed been taken over (by the VW Group) but that had all to do with some shaky corporate stock market play and nothing at all to do with the Boxster.

Back in the Nineties Porsche was a company apparently heading fast for the wall, trying to sell a very limited range of very expensive cars (the 911) and in desperate need of something with pedigree but at a much more accessible price.

By sharing lots of bits with the dearer 911 (down to the doors – penny pinching was that exercised) the Boxster appeared in time to turn the tide.

It looked good, had the right specification on paper (crucially for Porsche fans, a six-cylinder engine in flattened formation behind the driver) and, best of all, it was better, much better to drive than any of the opposition.

Slack

Porsche had gone to the top of the reasonably affordable roadster tables without even working their way up the junior leagues first.

Now comes Boxster version three (number two was a lightish reworking of the original) and perhaps the hardest trick for its maker to pull off was not making it better to drive than the recently renewed 911 range, which cost at least £33,000 more.

They are fine cars and have a couple of child-friendly seats in the rear that the Boxster lacks, but after a wonderful morning in the Welsh hills with the new junior Porsche it's hard to see how anything with four wheels could be more fun to drive.

The more aggressively styled newcomer arrives in two flavours, fast (plain Boxster for £37,589) or even faster (Boxster S for £45,384) and with a slick manual gearbox or seven-speed auto (£1,922). Both are a little longer, lower yet lighter than before but no wider, which is good news on Britain's twistier roads, where they ought to shine.

The cheaper car is about £1,000 more than before, the S is up £1,500. Added standard kit makes them about as good value as the older models, though.

The engine for the entry-level car (a comparative term, I know) is actually 200cc smaller than before, at 2.7 litres, but produces a little more power (261bhp) and useful improvements in economy, pollutants and performance.

It's the same story with the Boxster S, with its engine (staying at 3.4 litres) but doing more with the cubic capacity and producing 311bhp. It will hit 173mph, against the mere 163mph of the less expensive car. Which ought to be enough.

I enjoyed both versions over some challenging roads and it didn't take long to discover both are blessed with an almost supernatural ability to make rough roads smooth and every well sighted corner a delicious challenge.

You don't need to be travelled all

either, to appreciate the class act the new Boxster twins represent. The Porsche engineers have dug deep and built a car that's more pure enjoyment than anything near the price.

Watch out, (much) dearer Porsche 911. Watch out, potential Boxster buyers, for an options list so tempting it's ridiculously easy to add £10,000 to the bottom line. Keep it simple and keep smiling.

The newcomer arrives in two flavours, fast (plain Boxster for £37,589) or even faster (Boxster S for £45,384)

Tanks a lot! Volvo S60 keeps going

The name Volvo always conjures up safe, solid, dependable cars, and certainly the S60 model fits into this category, writes Bob Hickman.

It has been around for quite a time and has now benefited from a new 1.6-litre turbo diesel engine that gives it staggering results due to engineering excellence and with the addition of stop/start mode; it gives superb class leading, eye-watering figures for this quite large family saloon vehicle.

A claimed 65.7 mpg on the combined cycle, and with a low 114 CO2 emission figure and you start to understand that a frugal diesel S60 is within your capabilities.

What this means that when the tank is full to the top it is quite possible to achieve over 800 miles on that tankful in real terms driving and not simulated computer generated perfect conditions.

The S60 R-Design model looks quite good, it sits slightly lower than the ordinary S60 and with a lower centre of gravity the handling is relatively sharp. Let us not forget however that this is primarily a full 4/5 seater, family saloon car.

The cabin is typical Volvo, dependable, safe, secure, refined with easy to understand instrumentation and a quality feel to all the fittings and fittings. This is not a vehicle that is going to fall you within a short period of ownership.

I fell in love with Volvo's blind spot warning system, a small orange light appears in the "a" pillar when a small wing mirror type camera senses a vehicle in the blind spot, this really is a feature if you do a lot of motorway driving.

The 1560cc four-cylinder turbo-charged diesel engine had a power output claimed as 115 bhp sufficient to allow for a top speed of 121 mph and a 0 - 60 in marginally over 10 seconds. These figures are somewhat academic, it is the economics of driving the vehicle which is its forte, the 6-speed gearbox seemed to be almost perfection in its choice of ratios.

The vehicle and engine was a lusty performer, a long motorway journey showed it would cruise in sixth gear without any problems and if an overtake was required then there was sufficient torque without having to swap cogs too often.

Technology

To drive the vehicle around town was also easy and unstressful, the stop/start technology which meant that when you came to a stop and removed your feet from the pedals, the engine stopped and as soon as the clutch was caressed the engine started again, this all brings the CO2 down to an extremely low level and low taxation levels for the owner.

The SE and its V60 estate derivative are available as 4 options with ES as entry level and the R-Design as the more or less top specification. Drive factor is the economical version.

The range is available with quite a comprehensive choice of engines, between diesel and petrol. There are petrols at 1600cc, 2000cc and 3000cc with power outputs varying between 150bhp for the entry level up to a very substantial 6-cylinder 304 bhp for the T6 4-wheel drive automatic version.

The level of extras is extremely substantial, my particular 1.6-litre diesel, the Drive Economy, had an on the road price of £26,400. Volvo decided that I needed to have it equipped with a premium pack priced £2,000, driver support pack £1,600, a convenience pack at £2,000, a security pack at £665, metallic paint at £640 and a winter pack at £385.

Suddenly the vehicle cost £32,800 and I really do believe that if it was my money and my chequebook the list of extras would stay just that, extras.

The premium pack is a stereo upgrade and a DAB radio, the driver support is adapted cruise control with a pedestrian protection and also the blind spot information system, and the winter pack includes heated front seat, headlamp washers and wipers.

The whole range start at £22,785 for the entry level petrol ES derivative and the top specification T6 with an R-Design geartronic system tops the range at £36,705.

At the end of a week driving the vehicle I didn't achieve the headline figure that Volvo suggest of 65.7 mpg but what I did achieve was virtually 500 miles of motoring and the fuel gauge still saying that there was a further 300 miles in the tank.

By pressing the button in the system it revealed that over a week and a variety of driving between motorway and around town driving, I managed to achieve 56 mpg and I feel for the size and type of vehicle this is commendable.

If you are in the market place for this type of vehicle or you were considering perhaps a BMW3 Series or Audi A4, then do not dismiss the Volvo S60 in your options.

The Volvo S60 range is available with a wide choice of engines and can achieve 800 miles to the tank

From 2013 all except one of Volkswagen's models will have digital radios fitted as standard equipment

VW's digital move is music to drivers' ears

DAB radio will be standard on almost all Volkswagen cars from next year, the company has confirmed.

Every model from the Polo supermini to the Phaeton luxury saloon will have DAB, on top of AM/FM tuners, MP3 input sockets and CD players.

Only the smallest Volkswagen, the Up, will be left out. It will continue with its selection of normal radio channels and media inputs.

On top of the improved radio quality, all models from the Polo S upwards will feature at least six speakers, and most will have eight.

Upgrade options will be available including the MDI Multi Device Interface that allows quick and easy connection of iPods and other MP3 players through a USB input port. Users can then control track selection via the car's audio controls.

Bluetooth connectivity will be an option on some models and standard equipment on others, mainly high-end models. A high-performance Dynaudio speaker and amplifier upgrade will be available on some models as well.

Some Beetle models will be offered with an audio system developed with famous guitar and amplifier manufacturer Fender.

The details apply to 2013 model year Volkswagens, so towards the end of this year buyers should be sure to check whether the car they're looking at is 2012 or 2013 spec.

Tennis classic serves as model for Peugeot

The special edition Roland Garros convertibles are inspired by the French Open tennis tournament

Two special edition convertibles have been unveiled by Peugeot, based on the 207 CC and 308 CC.

Both share the 'Roland Garros' name that's famously linked with the venue for the French Open tennis tournament.

The two new models will have unique trim details and be available only in black or white.

Key upgrades for the 207 CC, which is based on the Allure trim level and will cost from £18,795, include leather seats, a Roland Garros wind break behind the seats and Roland Garros-embroidered carpet mats.

Other features to grace the 207 CC will be aluminium door sills, 17-inch 'Melbourne' alloy wheels, dual-zone air conditioning, an automatically dimming rear-view mirror, automatic headlights, cruise control with a speed limiter, Peugeot Connect with Bluetooth connectivity, rear parking sensors, electric folding door mirrors and tinted rear windows.

Power

There are two engines available to power this special 207: the 1.6-litre VTi 120 petrol and the 1.6-litre HDi 112 diesel.

The larger 308 CC Roland Garros comes in a slightly different choice of black or white. It comes with more power, with the three available engines being a 1.6-litre THP duo with either 156 or 200 horsepower, or a 2.0-litre HDi 163 diesel.

It has blue and grey leather seats, 18-inch wheels taken from the GT hatchback, Bluetooth, front and rear parking sensors, automatic headlights and automatic windscreen wipers. Like the 207 CC Roland Garros, it features the wind break and carpet mats with Roland Garros logos.

The 308 CC is more expensive than its smaller cousin, at £25,845. Both will carry Roland Garros exterior badging and can be viewed at www.peugeot.co.uk/special-editions

Public & Legal Notices

THE SHROPSHIRE COUNCIL (BELLSTONE, SHREWSBURY) (EXPERIMENTAL BUS AND COACH PARKING BAY) ORDER 2011

The Highways and Transport Manager of Shropshire Council hereby gives notice of his intention to extend the period of operation of The Shropshire Council (Bellstone, Shrewsbury) (Experimental Bus and Coach Parking Bay) Order 2011 until 30 September 2012. This order does the following:

- suspends the restriction set out in Schedule 1 to this notice for the duration of its operation;
- makes the side of road specified in Schedule 2 to this notice a parking bay reserved for buses, coaches and other public service vehicles only.

The Council will be considering in due course whether the provisions of the order should continue in force indefinitely. A copy of the order, and the other deposited documents, may be examined during normal office hours at the Shirehall, Abbey Foregate, Shrewsbury.
14 June 2012

SHREWSBURY Sporting Colts under-12s continue to go from strength to strength on the local junior football scene following another excellent season.

They were crowned undefeated champions of the Shrewsbury League and also lifted the League Cup and County Cup, the latter at AFC Telford United's Bucks Head with a 1-0 win over Shifnal Harriers.

It was their third successive County Cup final following defeat against Ludlow last year and victory over Worthen 12 months earlier.

The players wish to thank management team Daz Jones and Jon Owen for inspiring them to the treble and also said how grateful they were to kit sponsors Deco Stitch for their backing.

Young rowers claim superb medal haul

by Stuart Dunn

Pride of Pengwern

ROWERS from Pengwern Juniors bounced back from the disappointment of the Shrewsbury Regatta being cancelled to claim an impressive medal haul at the Northwich Sprint Regatta on the River Weaver.

Shrewsbury rowers turned out in force to compete in glorious sunshine as they headed home with an impressive eight medals gained in different age categories and also in some senior events.

Youngest of the local winners was Freya Webb who, having previously done well in indoor rowing events, showed her skill on the water to win the J13 event in single sculls.

She also teamed up with Cheekie Galbraith to claim victory in the J14 double sculls event, making the most of having a slice of luck in the first round when their opponents hit the bank, to go on and finish first in the final.

Impressive

In the J15 age group, Lettie Tay completed four rounds to win the singles before joining forces with Ben Langslow to race in the senior IM3 double sculls event.

They went on to win the senior event after three rounds against much older opposition in what was a hugely impressive performance.

The girls' J15 quad Amy Roberts, Julie-Ann Pugh, Rachel Gough and Bethan Grech, coxed by Ciara Murphy, had been unsuccessful in their age group event but responded brightly by rowing with gusto to win the senior women's novice quad sculls event.

This was the first win for all of them and the first regatta ever for their cox.

In the J16 age group, Louis Katz was a clear winner of the boys' single sculls and raced well despite nursing a cold while he had also missed some recent training owing to badly damaged ankles.

The Shrewsbury success stories kept coming for Harriet McCay and Holly Linford were clear winners in both the W J18 double sculls event and the senior women's double sculls event.

Harriet McCay and Holly Linford won the W J18 double sculls and the senior event.

Electrician Handley hopes to spark his cage fighting career

SHREWSBURY cage fighter Mark Handley faces arguably the most important 48 hours of his career later this month.

The British flyweight contender will take his first steps towards earning a dream contract with the world's biggest mixed martial arts promotion The Ultimate Fighting Championship when he auditions for the company's reality TV show The Ultimate Fighter on June 15.

The next day Handley, who trains at Spartan MMA in Shrewsbury, will face South Shields fighter Shamsul Haque in a bout which could lead to a domestic title shot in July.

Keeping both appointments will mean a 650-mile round trip from Handley's Shrewsbury home as the TUF auditions will take place in London.

The latest series of the show, which is currently in its 16th season, will pit fighters from the UK and Australia against each other for a chance to earn a contract with the UFC.

It has been billed as The Smashes in reference to the cricketing rivalry between Australia and England.

The show has already helped launch the UFC careers of fellow Brits Michael Bisping and Rose Pearson, and Handley, aged 32, is determined to make the most of his opportunity.

But the father-of-three is adamant that he will earn a shot at the big time one way or another regardless of the outcome of the try-outs.

"I'd like to see another three years at top level and I want to go as far as I can," he said.

"It doesn't get any better than being in the UFC. If you make it there you have hit the big time."

"It is the perfect time to audition. The UFC has just introduced a fly-weight division, I am in my prime and my last two performances since I joined Spartan MMA have been very good.

"But if I don't get into TUF I am determined to earn a place in the UFC by the end of the year just on the strength of my performances on British shows."

Handley, whose ring nickname is Short Fuse, is currently ranked 11th in the British flyweight rankings.

A win in his next fight would help him break into the top 10 and would move him a step closer to becoming a full-time fighter.

Handley, who has a pro record of five wins and three losses, works part-time as a maintenance electrician but also enjoys sponsorship from mouth guard company Funky Gums as well as Shrewsbury-based businesses Ultimate Survival and Gorgeous Hair and Nails.

Handley, currently seeking more sponsorship, can be contacted by email at markhandley1980@hotmail.co.uk

Corn works a treat for Hartson at Springlea

ANGLING
by Robbie Griffiths

THURSDAY'S open match on the Mallard pool at Springlea was a real struggle for most of the competitors with the changeable weather making weights a lot lower than normal.

Jeff Harston (Weston) was first with 64-9-0 from peg 37 where he fished the feeder with corn hookbait to land carp to 4lb.

Bryan Travis (Matrix Total Angling) completed the top three with 24-14-0 at peg 19, his small carp taken on pellet at 14m.

GWR's match at Wigmore was hampered by wind and heavy rain this week where Ray Harris found some nice Bream to take first place with 28-7-8 at peg 13.

Den Manders was second with 16-3-0 from peg 18, skimmers making up the majority of his weight while Terry Jackson completed the top three with 12-13-8 from peg 9.

Saturday's match on the Mallard was won by Bob Hill with 45-13-0 at peg 48, he fished meat and worm in the margins for a mixed bag of skimmers, carp and ide.

Second place went to Dave Matson (Rod & Gun) with 26-12-0 from peg 41 where he caught carp on the 6m line with pellet and meat.

Sunday's open saw some far more consistent weights recorded. Kev Pilsbury was first from peg 10 with 64-14-0 of carp to 6lb, all caught shallow on meat at 14m.

Dave Matson was second from peg 23 in the corner where he fished pellet and meat into the corner to take 59-9-0.

Russ Allen was third with 58-6-0 from peg 47 which were all caught on pellet and corn in the margins. Pete Farrall completed the top four with 55-2-0 from peg 37.

Wigmore's Friday evening match was won by Mick Keene (Weston) with 30-0-0 from peg 31, pellet taking pellet and paste fished in the margins.

Jason Heath won Sunday's open at Wigmore with 24-0-0 from peg 13 where pellet fished long found the resident skimmers.

Robin Hubbard was second with 14-7-0 from peg 13, tench and skimmers falling to corn while third place was shared by Dave Panton and Dave Perks who both managed 14-0-0.

Mid Shropshire Wheelers' Ewan Grivell-Mellor

Ewan rides in for top three finish

EWAN Grivell-Mellor sealed a top three place in round three of the National Cross Country Series at Hopton Woods.

The promising Shrewsbury rider lined up alongside Mid Shropshire Wheelers' team mate Devon Round in the juvenile male class for the two 6km lap race.

The race began with a dusty climb out of the arena, through a twisty section of switch backs at the top of the hill and on to a good downhill run to the finish line.

Unstoppable Daniel Tullet (Hargroves Cycles) led from the start to take victory in 45:12 minutes with William Gascoyne (Matlock CC) second in 48:05 and Grivell-Mellor third in 51:05.

Round finished in 1:17:50, a good time for his first attempt at this demanding off-road sport, quite a difference from the track racing he's used to.

Hot pursuit

Meanwhile, Wheelers duo Kieran Morris and George Evans both rode at Marsh Tracks with the format for the night a one off scratch race. All ages raced together with just a slight gap between each age group.

Kieran raced in the under-12s and George the under-16s and he was quickly in hot pursuit with a rider from Deeside Olympic. They couldn't quite catch the leaders and George finished third.

Kieran seems to be finding form and managed to put in a few attacks off the front and won both the u-12s and u-14s race to underline his big improvement to put in good spirits ahead of the North West Tour and the Lichfield criterium series.

Two more Wheelers represented the club at the Anfield BC 100 and on a dry day with a slight northerly breeze, husband and wife team, Dave and Sarah Mawhinney, both recorded personal best times.

Dave was first back in 4hrs 27mins 37seconds, with Sarah crossing the line in 5hrs 14mins 01second, knocking over 15 minutes off her previous best time.

Stretton A land trophy as Cooper holds nerve

CHURCH Stretton A captain Steve Rooney held his nerve to guide Church Stretton A to their first major silverware for many years.

Rooney held on for a draw against Gavyn Cooper on board two in the final game to finish in the Cox Trophy final, which Stretton won 2.5-1.5 against a highly-fancied Newport A side.

Despite going into the match as underdogs, Stretton quickly established a shock 2-0 lead thanks to Tiago Faustino's victory over Nathanael Paul on board three and Karl Wakefield's win over Chris Lewis on bottom board.

Faustino's triumph came after a risky queue sortie early in the game, but maintains an unbeaten run dating back to his arrival in south Shropshire in January.

Nick Rutter hauled Newport back into the match by beating Trevor Brotherton on top board, leaving Cooper needing a win to tie the match and win the trophy on tie break, which would have seen Wakefield's win on bottom board discounted from the final score.

Despite Cooper turning down one draw offer from Rooney, he soon accepted he could make no progress as both players entered their last five minutes of thinking time.

The result marks a hugely successful season for Church Stretton, who secured a comfortable mid table finish in their first season back in division one of the Shropshire Chess League picking up notable scalps along the way, including a 3.5-1.5 win over defending league champions Shrewsbury A.

Meanwhile, Telepost's Nigel Ferrington has won the Shropshire Individual Championship with a round to spare.

Ferrington beat Toby Neal with the black pieces to move on to 5.5/6, while fellow challengers David Everington, Colin Roberts and Jamie Hopkins all failed to pick up the wins they needed to stay in touch.

Ferrington, who has enjoyed a hugely successful season helping Telepost A to reclaim the Shropshire Chess League crown, will face Glyn Pugh of Priorslee Lions in the final round while a host of players will be battling it out for second place.

Young athletes on the road to success with Shrewsbury

SHREWSBURY Athletic Club's junior stars, inspired by Ben Ashcroft, have been pushing the more experienced runners in the Summer series of road and fell races.

Tim Smith led the county town contingent home at the Telford Sexarathon Road Race Series at the Phoenix Flyer 5K and Shropshire Four Mile races, with 28th and 24th placings respectively.

He is currently fourth in the veteran over-40 category for the Series while club mate Steve Waters, always in close contention, was 29th in both events.

Shrewsbury duo Dan Croft and Steve Turk have enjoyed a close battle in the Summer Fell Race Series, finishing seventh and eighth respectively at the Caradoc Classic race.

Up and coming junior Ross Kirby came in 30th and was first male under-16.

Come the Batch Bash race, though, they were all eclipsed by the club's junior star Ben Ashcroft who made an instant impression in his first senior fell race to finish fifth overall and first male under-16.

Croft and Turk, as close as ever, were ninth and tenth while the juniors were also ably represented by Kirby and Stuart Duff, who finished in 36th and 77th spot.

At the Sheinton Steeplechase, it was Dom Kirby's turn to lead the side home in fifth place, with Steve Turk eighth and first veteran over 40.

Then came Ross Kirby, Dom's son, in 13th and second male under-16, with Tim Smith 14th and third veteran over 40.

Shrewsbury AC's Steve Waters, meanwhile, excelled in the popular Market Drayton 10K, finishing 40th in 38:50 in a field of almost 1,000 runners.

RESULTS

Phoenix: 28 Tim Smith 18/24 (fifth veteran over 40), 29 Steve Waters 18/30, 59 Chris Wakeman 19/56 (sixth veteran over 50), 154 Emma Sheeky 24/40.

Caradoc: 7 Dan Croft 27/45 (first veteran over 45), 8 Steve Turk 28/01 (second veteran over 40), 12 Dom Kirby 28/14, 30 Ross Kirby 29/55 (first male under 16).

Batch Bash: 5 Ben Ashcroft 28/57 (first male under 16), 9 Dan Croft 30/27 (first veteran over 45), 10 Steve Turk 30/29 (fourth veteran over 40), 12 Graham Jones 30/36 (second veteran over 55), 15 Dom Kirby 30/47, 36 Ross Kirby 33/54 (second male under 16), 48 Sean Hickey 34/51, 77 Stuart Duff 37/54 (fifth male under 16).

Ladies aiming to pot end of season prizes

IT'S final time in the Shrewsbury Ladies Pool League with the three-a-side showpiece between Rock & Fountain and the Seven Stars held at The Coach opening proceedings

Next Thursday, June 21, it's the turn of the mixed doubles final at the Harlescott Social Club with B. Highfield and E. Patric of the Stars taking on T. Williams and D. Brooks from the Compasses.

The following Thursday, June 28, the League finals and presentation evening will be held at the Seven Stars.

The doubles final will take place as A. Murch and L. Lee (HSC) face B. Highfield and T. Howells (Stars) and it will be followed by the singles final as M. Murray (Rock) and T. Dyke-Prior (Stars) go head to head.

The night will also feature a host of presentations, buffet, raffle and music.

League officials added they would like to thank this year's sponsors with Molson Coors Brewery, DAF Refrigerated Light Haulage, GI Motors, Sheils Salon and Snooty Fox Jewellers all providing much needed support.

Marcus Clayton took his 100th wicket haul of the season, recording

Shropshire delighted by Bowen's return

Ed Foster (centre) fielding at slip appeals along with Shrewsbury team-mate and bowler Alex Blofield

SHROPSHIRE'S delighted captain Ed Foster praised the contribution of his Shrewsbury team mate Dan Bowen after the county opened their Minor Counties Championship campaign by topping Cheshire by 88 runs, writes STUART DUNN.

Bowen, the former Whitchurch man, grabbed four wickets on Tuesday's final day to help bowl out Cheshire for 183 at Bridgnorth.

Bowen ended with 4-71 as Bilal Shafayat, one of the county's two professionals, claimed 5-38, an identical return to the first innings haul for the Hampshire man, to set up a convincing victory. "I was really pleased for Dan," said Foster. "He bowled exceptionally well and it was fantastic to see."

"It's nice to see him back and firing after the injury problems he had last season."

It was the perfect boost for Shropshire ahead of last night's glamour Twenty20 challenge match against Worcestershire at Shrewsbury when the Pears were set to include Australian Test batsman Phil Hughes and former England man Vikram Solanki in a star-studded line up.

Shropshire batted first against Cheshire and were bowled out for 240, with Shrewsbury's Rob Foster hitting 45.

Cheshire were then removed for 228 before Shropshire, in their second innings, racked up 259 all out.

Skipper Foster passed 2,000 Championship runs on his way to top scoring with 89 and his brother Rob added 37.

Shafayat and Whitchurch-based Bowen then got to work with the ball to seal a pleasing victory as Cheshire were dismissed for 183.

Meanwhile, Shrewsbury's Ed Barnard led Shropshire's under-17s to an easy eight-wicket victory at Northamptonshire to keep the county on course for qualification from their group and a place in the semi finals of the ECB County Cup.

A win at home to Staffordshire at Shrewsbury's London Road ground on Sunday coupled with favourable results elsewhere should see them through.

Barnard struck two early blows in a spell worth 2-22 before club mate Henry Blofield, fresh from taking six wickets for Shrewsbury's second team a day earlier, claimed 3-19 from 10 accurate overs and of spin. Northants had no answer and were removed for 144.

Shrewsbury fall just short despite Bishop's heroics

A BRAVE knock from the injured Ryan Bishop took Shrewsbury close – but not close enough – as their search for an opening Birmingham League premier division victory of the season continued against Kidderminster.

Having restricted the visitors to 211-8 on their 55 overs, Shrewsbury were hopeful their strong batting line up would steer them past the winning post. But they ultimately pulled up short on 200-7, having to settle for eight points from a losing draw.

They would have finished much further off the pace had it not been for the efforts of South African Bishop, who dropped down the order from his usual opening spot to come in at No.7 after suffering a painful blow while earlier keeping wicket.

Gritting his teeth to play through the pain barrier after breaking a finger, Bishop still managed to crack an unbeaten 39 from just 29 balls, with Shrewsbury captain Ed Foster quick to salute the overseas man's contribution.

Languish

"Everyone knows that's what Ryan's like," said Foster. "That's the kind of guy he is. We didn't want to take a chance by letting him open the batting but he was keen to come in and he played very well."

"Had it not been for his knock, we would have been a long way off."

Foster admitted Shrewsbury's overall display was another disappointment as they continue to languish in the lower reaches of the table ahead of another home clash against unbeaten Walsall on Saturday.

He said: "We always want to pick up 20 points or ideally 24 points, so it was not satisfactory."

"We should be able to beat every side we play against in this league. We know we're capable of doing that."

"But we just weren't good enough and unfortunately I'm having to say that too often for mine and everyone's liking at the moment."

"We weren't massively poor but in four or five areas we weren't 100 per cent, in some cases not even 80 per cent."

CRICKET by Stuart Dunn

The skipper added there were some plus points, notably the bowling of Elliot Green and Ed Barnard, while Steve Leach and Rob Foster enjoyed a decent partnership in the county town club's reply.

Kidderminster batted first and, held together by a third-wicket stand of 132 between Zac Turlay (64) and Neil Pinner (61), they totalled 211-8, losing their way towards the end as they were well placed at 181-3 at one stage.

Barnard, 16, opened the bowling and claimed 3-49, removing both of the Worcestershire players in the Kidderminster side, Pinner and opener Matthew Pardoe for 37.

Then consistent spinner Green also got to work to grab an eye-catching 4-35 from 10 tidy overs.

Shrewsbury's reply started poorly with captain Foster bowled for a duck off just the fifth ball of the innings.

Leach, promoted to open in place of Bishop, went on to anchor the chase by making 63 from 130 deliveries, sharing decent partnerships with Barnard (43) and then Rob Foster (34) in a third-wicket stand of 79.

But Shrewsbury were always off the pace until Bishop's arrival added some impetus as they ended on 200-7.

Shrewsbury all rounder Alex Blofield eyes a Kidderminster wicket at London Road

Where there's a Will there's a way as seconds cruise home

WILL Parton enhanced his claims for a first team recall by shining with the bat as SHREWSBURY II romped to a resounding 152-run victory at Kidderminster II in the Birmingham League's premier reserve division.

And there was also an outstanding display with the ball from youngster Henry Blofield, who claimed six wickets, as Shrewsbury cruised to their biggest win of the season.

Parton, at No 4, cracked a fluent 88 while other decent knocks from Steve Wilderspin (45), Chris Sheperd (37) and Jon Anders (22) pushed the Shrewsbury total up to 254 all out.

Shrewsbury made sure of back-to-back wins by sending Kidderminster back for 102 with the in-form Blofield taking the lion's share of the wickets in claiming an impressive 6-24 from 14 overs.

Former Count man Alex Johnson grabbed 2-37 while there was also a wicket apiece for James Hulton-Harrop and Tom Ellis.

Shrewsbury's seconds will be chasing another victory at Walsall II on Saturday.

Big scare before the Castle is flattened

CONDOVER, the second division leaders, were given a real scare by Bishop's Castle before squeezing home by one wicket.

There seemed to be only one winner when accurate bowling by Matt Farr (4-31), Jon Mansell (3-16) and Mark Griffiths (2-13) saw Castle skittled for just 76.

But putting runs on the board also proved tricky for Condoover as they were pushed all the way before scraping home at 77-9.

A fine display from all-rounder Mike Lewis was not enough to save ELLESMERE from a 46-run defeat at Corvedale.

Lewis claimed 5-23 and Graham Beardmore picked up 2-17 as Corvedale were dismissed for 153 before Ellesmere were shot out for 107, Lewis top scoring with 24.

ISCOYD & FENNS BANK picked up 17 points from a winning draw at ACTON REYNALD.

The Grinshill men, responding to Fenns' 198-6, got nowhere near as they closed on 84-7.

PONTESBURY disappointed with the bat in going down by 42 runs at Wellington III.

The villagers struggled against the home side's spinners in being bowled out for 94 inside 40 tortuous overs.

Earlier the ultra-consistent Steve Wilson took 5-31 and Tim Barber also bowled well to claim 4-14 as Wellington, held together by 52 from Richard Benting, were sent back for 136.

Groom's in the saddle to take six

PREES, the division five pacesetters, were inspired by a six-wicket haul from John Groom as they enjoyed the better of a winning draw at home to BOMERE HEATH III.

Groom grabbed 6-24 as Bomere, for whom opener Martin James (24) offered most resistance, were left hanging on at the close on 98-9.

Opener Andy Darlington earlier struck an unbeaten 78 as Prees posted 139-8, with Mark Smout (3-19) and Jonathan Hughes (3-45) the pick of the Bomere attack.

QUAYSIDE had a losing draw at Ludlow II.

Jamie White (3-34), Ian Dalton (2-29) and Phil Banks (2-38) helped restrict Ludlow to 166-8 but Quayside laboured to 114-7 in reply, Neil Bradshaw and David Hall both making 19.

KNOCKIN & KINNERLEY III went down by 69 runs at home to Worfield III in a match played on Sunday.

Zac Missen, Jake Smith and John Meredith each took two wickets as Worfield accumulated 208-8.

A number of Knockin batsmen got starts without going on with Sam Dapling (31), Gary Darlington (25), MacNiddrie-Davies (23) and Shane Moses (21) weighing in as the home side were bowled out for 139.

COTON HALL were disappointed to call off their home match against Welshpool III after the pitch was deemed too wet following an 11am inspection.

Andy proves handy for Cound

COUND continue to head in the right direction in division one after a 25-run verdict in a low scoring clash at Montgomery.

Andy Harrison was once again the star turn with the ball, helping himself to 4-37 from 14 overs, while there was also some joy for Ali Fisher (2-2) and Kevin Hamer (2-22) as Monty subsided to 97 all out.

Opener Graham Trow had earlier top scored with 32 as Cound, despite 5-14 from Rob Kinsey, racked up 122-9, a total which proved enough to set up a fourth win of the season.

FRANKTON added to the problems of lowly KNOCKIN & KINNERLEY by beating them by 16 runs in a well-contested match at the Nursery Ground.

A string of decent knocks from Lloyd Phillips (46), Sam Owen (36), Jordan Parry (33) and Jacob Northwood (23) boosted the Frankton total to 212-9. Ashley Varley (3-45) and Daniel Evans (2-38) plugged away for some reward for the hosts.

Knockin chased hard but dipped out as they were dismissed for 196 despite the best efforts of Richard Williams and Ben Wixey, who both struck 36, while former Worcestershire man Barry Jones made 22.

Frankton, who remain handily placed at the right end of the table, performed well in the field with the wickets shared between Northwood (4-53), Parry (3-36) and Ian Whitticase (2-37).

ALBERBURY had the misfortune to come up against an in-form Stephen Pugh as they were well beaten by nine wickets at home by Madeley.

Pugh cracked an unbeaten 87 as Madeley, who included Shropshire's ex-Wellington man Martin Delaney in their side, raced to their victory target of 142-1.

A number of Alberbury batsmen made starts without going on to make a telling contribution as they were pegged back to 140-9.

Mike Crawshaw made 25 while Andrew Dale (21) and Ben Davies (20) also weighed in.

Ton-up for Trow

GRASSHOPPERS completed a convincing 81 run victory in their latest Sunday friendly at Bishop's Castle with Graham Trow leading the way with a fine century.

Hoppers batted first and Trow dispatched the ball effortlessly to all parts of the boundary as, ably supported by Dave Farrall, he passed his 50 in no time at all.

Trow went on to hit 113 and Farrall added 51 as Hoppers, who travel to Wellington on Sunday, posted 212-4.

Castles' reply was steady but restricted by the bowling of Ruchira Nimanath who claimed 3-4 from five tight overs and the hosts were eventually removed for 131.

Father and son team Neil and Calum Marsh got in on the act with dad Neil counting seven maidens in his eight overs on his way to taking 2-1 while Calum grabbed 3-2 from 6.3 overs.

Ellis rolls back the years for super six

WEM III stalwart Mark Ellis rolled back the years with a masterful spell of bowling to set up a six-wicket win at Hinstock in division four.

Ellis, a former first team star, snared 4-6 from six miserly overs and Jack Parsons took 3-25 as Hinstock were dismissed for 119.

Tom Skone then hit an unbeaten 45 and Ellis completed a man of the match display with 34 as Wem eased to 121-4 inside 29 overs.

WHITCHURCH III gained 14 points from a winning draw at FRANKTON III as Matthew MacIntosh struck a fine century for the visitors.

MacIntosh hit five sixes and 10 boundaries on his way to 100 not out from just 79 balls and, supported by the equally aggressive approach of Luke Tinsley (70) in a second wicket stand of 101, it set up a Whitechurch total of 261-6 declared. Danny Evans and Ben Williamson each took two wickets.

Improved

Frankton had an even bigger partnership as they responded with 200-3 with Owen Ellis (67no) and Evans (56no) both in good touch as they put on an unbroken 116 for the fourth wicket.

Elwyn Jones (36) also played his part in a much improved batting display from the Hardwick Park side who picked up 10 points for their efforts.

HARCOURT'S bright run of form came to an end with a four-wicket reverse at home to Guilsfield.

Harcourt, invited to bat on a damp wicket, posted a competitive 177-9. Run machine Richard Jarrett led the way with 63 while opener Shawn Humphreys (40), Steve Jones (29) and Martin Owen (25) also weighed in.

Harcourt feared their total might not 20 runs short of par and they proved spot on as Guilsfield chased well to reach 178-4, making the most of some sloppy fielding from the hosts.

Dan Brown powered his way to 73, with all the wickets to fall claimed by Steve Owen (4-71).

Bomere and Reman looking for lift and bragging rights

LOCAL rivals Bomere Heath and Reman Services will be looking to reignite their Shropshire County Cricket League premier division campaigns when they go head-to-head on Saturday.

Both teams are in need of a lift with BOMERE HEATH, who will have home advantage against the reigning champions, keen to get back on track following last weekend's heavy nine-wicket defeat at improving WEM.

Australian all rounder Tim Hutchison was the star turn for Wem, coming good with the bat with his fine unbeaten 81 putting Bomere to the sword.

"After two close games in previous weeks against Wroxeter and Worfield, this was a very one-sided affair thanks to Wem's overseas player Tim Hutchison," admitted Bomere press officer Matt Hall.

"A poor batting display - despite a best first team score for Todd Cornells - which was not helped by two run outs was never going to be defensible without early wickets.

"Hutchison, the team captain for his Australian club of our own 2010 overseas player Dale Quain, was the main reason for Wem's victory.

"But hopefully after two successive defeats we can make a comeback in this weekend's local derby with Reman Services."

Bomere batted first and posted 167-7 from their 50 overs. Ian Gillespie (24) and Dave Langton (22) both got starts but the standout performer was vice-captain Cornells who, coming in at No 8 with the score 70-6, struck an unbeaten 50 from 59 balls.

Martyn Davies (2-34) and James Astley (2-51) were the pick of the home attack before Wem, in reply, cruised to 168-1 inside 37 overs.

Josh Gough (31) and Hutchison put on 71 for the first wicket and then the Aussie was joined by Russell Mellings (39no) to see the job through and set Wem up nicely for Saturday's trip to Shelton.

REMAN SERVICES are also in need of a boost ahead of their trip to Bomere after being forced to cling on for a losing draw at home to leaders Albrighton.

Responding to Albrighton's 217 all out, Reman closed on 150-9.

Franton's Jake Northwood cuts for runs square of the wicket during his side's 16-run win over Knockin as the home side look on from the pavilion

President's Cup is washed out

POOR weather led to the postponement of the second round of the Shropshire Evening Cricket League's President's Cup.

A plan to restructure the competition will be discussed at Monday night's committee meeting. One proposal is to play matches on July 10.

League official Steve Reese said: "As a result of the dreadful weather, the committee have decided to postpone the next round of the President's Cup.

"This decision is also based on the fact that teams may not have 11 eligible players according to cup rules.

"Another consideration is the Saturday League T20 fixtures were all cancelled and have been carried forward.

"It may cause a little disruption to some plans made, for which we apologise.

"We feel we need to act to assist the membership in maximising the opportunity to play fixtures (weather permitting) while also ensuring the integrity of the cup is maintained in terms of player qualification."

Knockin's Dan Evans steams into bowl in the Shropshire County League defeat against Frankton

Nichols stars in Stretton victory

CHURCH STRETTON'S experienced allrounder Martin Nichols hit a half century and took five wickets to set up an impressive 20 run win at third division high fliers BEACON.

Beacon gave debuts to brothers Steve and Mike Cummings as Stretton batted first and racked up 121-6, thanks in chief to 59 from the wily Nichols.

Beacon, in reply, started steadily and opener Alan Mines made 24 before being trapped lbw while Ben Hazzard added an unbeaten 34 before running out of partners as the hosts, who might have gone top had they won, were dismissed for 101 in the 38th over.

Nichols completed a man of the match display by snaring 5-26 from 16 overs.

No answer

GROVE, the leaders, came off second best in a losing draw at Cae Glas, but they would have been lifted by news of Beacon's defeat.

Without their young South African batting star Hayes van der Berg, Grove could only muster 101-6 on the back of contributions from Keith Sambrook (32) and Ian Lonergan (28) as they replied to the Cae Glas total of 163-6.

Ben Tipton (3-22) and Tom Dermody (2-38) were the pick of the Grove attack.

SHREWSBURY III were hammered by 221 runs at St Georges III.

Harvey Mason plugged away to take 4-69 and Marcus Bedson claimed 2-65 as St Georges, inspired by David Whibley-Law hitting 154 from just 88 balls, rattled up 294-7.

Shrewsbury had no answer and were skittled for just 73 runs.

BRICKLAYERS 6 (207), MEOLE BRACE 8 (209): A good result for Meole with Darren Watkins (21-8) as they led 3-1. They also took the last four 3-1 while the Brick just missed out on the aggregate despite Dan Hughes' 21-4.

GEORGE 9 (203), HANWOOD 5 (199): Hanwood led 3-1 with Dan Williams and Dave Burton 21-1.

6. The George won the next two sections 3-1 and with the help of Dave Bond's 21-3 took the aggregate.

DIVISION TWO
Crescent 4 (197) Elephant and Castle 10 (230): A good away performance saw the Elephant up 6-2 before the back was shared. Best for them Rich Leah 21-6. For Crescent three players shared the coppers with Dan Williams, Dave Oliver and Stuart Greaves all 21-15.

Corbet Arms 11 (239) Reman Services 3 (178): A great win for the Uffington boys and girls with single figure cards from Dave Hyde 21-3, Paul Caswell 21-8 and Marion Stevens 21-9. For the service engineers Stewart-Jones was best 21-13.

OSBC 11 (237) Union 3 (173): Another big home win in this division for the Old Shrews who had Tony Poole 21-3 and Evelyn Jones 21-5 storming home in the middle. Other single figure cards from Richard Jones 21-8 and Matt Cooke 21-9. For Union Phil Tyler was best at the end with 21-11.

Ifton 10 (231) Whittington 4 (199): The early games were shared but there was a clean sweep for Ifton at the back with Neil Edwards and Andy Pearce both winning 21-9. Whittington's bet's card came from John Howard with 21-10.

Oxon 6 (207) POWBC 8 (209): Good away win for POW as they won by two chalks as Paul Bishop's 21-7 that was Roger Jones 21-11.

Oxon 6 (207) POWBC 8 (209): Good away win for POW as they won by two chalks as Paul Bishop's 21-7 that was Roger Jones 21-11.

Sevenside St Julians 11 (228) Worthen and

Bagley 12 (243) Hadnall 2 (188): The games were shared at the front as Handall's p Price won 13 and Tony Coles 20. Bagley had an eight from Paul Stokes in the middle and then Keith Jones and Rob Bishop shared the coppers with seven.

Bromfield 12 (246) Bicton 2 (200): Bromfield also won 12-2 with the game of the night from Eric Williams, coming back from 18-7 down to win 19. Andy Wilson won 21-16 and Alan Hargreaves 21-20 for Bicton whilst best for Bromfield was Josh Partridge with 21-3.

Church 8 (217) Meole Village 6 (204): Meole found the weight of the green as the home side needed in-form Travis Stokes to win the aggregate with a 21-5 at the back.

Bishops Castle 8 (210) Wem USC 6 (205): The games were also shared at Bishops Castle as the South Shropshire side got in by five chalks. Andrew Evans 21-5 and Doug Morris 21-7 had the key home chalks while Andy Dorricott was a 21-7 winner for Wem.

DIVISION FOUR
Telespot 4 (187) Monkmoor 10 (225): Good away win for Monkmoor with Hayden Lewis 21-4 and Jordan Heron 21-5 sealing the victory. Telespot went 4-0 down but came back with three winners the best of which was Roger Jones 21-11.

Sevenside St Julians 11 (228) Worthen and Brocton 3 (141): On a windy, cold night down at the friars both sides struggled with the conditions but home knowledge saw the Saints through with Mark Lanning and Roland Leigh 21-5, Ernie Shu 21-6 and Alan Tudor 21-9 but their best was a 21-2 from Russ Brown.

Bicton Village 4 (161) Dorington 10 (225): Roy Washbrook gave Bicton a flying start with 21-6 but from then on Dorington took control with Ron Morris 21-4, Anne Higgins 21-5, Joan Beech 21-7 and 21-8s from Mike Pugh and Rose Shenton.

New Hanwood 10 (238) Minsterley 4 (199): Games shared at the front but then Hanwood took three at the next two stages for a comfortable win. John Rowe and Clive Goodwin both won 10 for the Cock Inn side and best for the Minster people was Aid Cox with 21-16.

Weston Rhyn 11 (232) Oxon Village 3 (197): John Renwick with 21-7 eased Weston into a 3-1 lead but the visitors threatened a brief fightback with a pair of 12s in the middle from Sue Storey and Dave Ashfield.

Greenfields Social 9 (223) Baschurch 5 (180): Four winners at the back picking up 34 chalks made all the difference with Ricky Gale standing out 21-1 after Kerry Preece won 21-1 at the front. George Mackay won well at the front for Baschurch with 21-10.

ELLESMERE RANGERS hold youth team trials at their Beech Grove ground on Sunday from 10am onwards.

Players need to be between the ages of 15 and under 18 on September 1, 2012.

Rangers have a busy fixture list with matches in the FA Youth Cup, Midland Floodlit Youth League, Midland Floodlit Youth Cup, Staffordshire FA Midweek Floodlit Youth Cup and the Umbro Shropshire FA Youth Cup.

"We have been very successful in producing youth players for the senior sides in previous years and have also had strong success as a youth team," said youth team manager Dan Stevens.

Interested players can turn up on Sunday at Beech Grove or, if possible, register their interest prior to the day to assist with knowing player positions by phoning Dan Stevens on 07816 516780 or emailing d.stevens@wnsc.ac.uk

TNS Ladies seek players

TNS Ladies are searching for new players ahead of the new football season.

Although based in Oswestry, the club have close links with the Shrewsbury area and a number of players from the town are already part of the TNS squad.

They hold trials at The Venue in Oswestry on Sunday between 11am and 1pm. Anyone keen to find out more should turn up on the day or phone Rob on 07432 147420.

Travis play for charity

ENTRIES are invited for the Travis Perkins charity five-a-side football competition to be held at Whitchurch Alport's Yockings Park ground on Sunday, July 29.

The event will also offer a barbecue, a bar, a bouncy castle, beat the goalie game and much more with all proceeds going to Breast Cancer and a local children's hospice.

To enter a team or for more details, call either James on (01948) 662123 or Andy on 07885-866738.

Star Hart happy to bring on next generation

Shrewsbury-born England star Joe Hart saves against France at Euro 2012 this week

ENGLAND goalkeeper Joe Hart has become a patron of the Shropshire Schools & Colleges Football Association.

The Shrewsbury-born Manchester City star began his own path to international glory by playing for Meole Brace School and Shropshire's age group teams where he came to Shrewsbury Town's attention.

Now the 25-year-old, from Gains Park, is pleased to have the chance to his support to his home county association.

"It was a great experience, especially county football," recalled Hart. "Schools football was good fun because we were all great friends, even if we weren't a particularly good side."

"But county football was much better, simply because it was such a high standard."

"We were a good team and we played against good teams."

"I really enjoyed the challenge of playing against better players."

"We reached the ESFA National Under 16 final after beating Manchester on a penalty shoot-out and I scored the winner. They were great memories."

Mark Hignett, the Shropshire Schools' Football Development Officer, admitted having Hart's backing was a real boost.

Superior coaching

"It is a great boost to our association and to county schools' representative football all over the country to have Joe on board," said Hignett.

"It has long been a concern within schools that, whilst acknowledging the superior coaching that boys get in the academies, pupils can also miss out when they are not playing for schools or for county teams."

Turner confident new boy Jones will handle step up

DARREN JONES has been backed to handle the step up to League One by Shrewsbury Town manager Graham Turner.

The Greenhous Meadow boss knows all about Jones from the season they spent together at Hereford United and has no doubts the strapping central defender will flourish at a higher level.

Turner has continued to keep close tabs on Jones since going in different directions and he's pleased to have landed the 28-year-old who is fresh from an outstanding season at Aldershot where he swept the board in the player of the year stakes.

He added that Jones is more physical in his approach to Ian Sharps and Shane Cansdell-Sherriff, the two men who were Town's first choice central defenders last term but have now moved on to begin new challenges at Rotherham and Preston North End respectively.

"I think he's a very good defender," said Turner. "He's very strong, very aggressive and he's got enough mobility and pace about him to deal with strikers in the First Division."

"It will be a new experience for him at this level having played in the Conference and then League Two for Hereford and Aldershot."

"Whenever I saw him play last year he put in good performances and in the view of the Aldershot supporters he had a good season because he swept the board with the player of the year trophies.

"Having lost our central defenders Ian Sharps and Shane Cansdell-Sherriff we are delighted to have brought Darren in and I think he will do a good job for us."

Newport-born Jones played 50 games for Aldershot in all competitions last season, helping the Shots beat Shrewsbury 1-0 at the Recreation Ground in December and also lining up in the Greenhous Meadow in March when Marvin Morgan, a former Aldershot team mate, grabbed a late equaliser for Town.

He also played a key role in Aldershot's exciting run to the fourth round of the Carling Cup, helping knock out West Ham United at Upton Park before their run was eventually ended at home by star-studded Manchester United.

"He's a good competitor and I'm convinced he will cope with first division strikers," added Turner. "We knew about him at Hereford and since then he's had two very good seasons at Aldershot and progressed further."

"He had a spell in the league as a youngster and then drifted into non-League."

"He's come back in and at 28 years of age there's still scope for improvement with him, particularly as a defender, and we hope that as we go up he will go up with us and improve."

Delighted

"He had one or two other clubs that were interested and he spoke to, but we all know what we've got on offer here, the size and the infrastructure of the club. He came to have a look round and appreciated what we've got here. He obviously played here for Aldershot."

"We just talked about football and finished up with the offer which was acceptable to him. We're delighted that it's all come to fruition."

Jones kicked off his career at Bristol City and has also played for Forest Green Rovers, Cheltenham Town (loan) and Newport County.

Aldershot manager Dean Holdsworth, a big admirer of Jones, admitted he was disappointed to lose the services of a man who had become a key member of the Aldershot side over the last two seasons.

"We made Darren a good offer and I valued him highly," said Holdsworth, the former Wimbledon and Bolton striker. "A part of me is pleased for him and a part of me is disappointed to lose a player of his calibre."

"The fans will remember Darren fondly and we wish him all the best for the future."

Young keeper Callum is named in England squad

PROMISING Shrewsbury Town goalkeeper Callum Burton has been named by England under-16 coach Kenny Swain in an 18-man squad for the Nordic Tournament in the Faroe Islands between August 6-11.

Whilst the Tournament is technically classed as an under-17 competition, Swain always takes charge for this annual trip and uses players from last season's under-16s group and uncapped players as a final preparation for the forthcoming campaign at under-17 level.

The fixtures dates and groups for the Nordic Tournament are yet to be finalised, but the teams involved alongside England are Faroe Islands, Finland, Iceland, Sweden, Denmark and Norway, who have also entered their Under-19 squad following Scotland's withdrawal. Burton, a Shropshire lad from Newport, will join the full time staff at the Greenhous Meadow next month when he begins a two-year scholarship programme.

He played a number of games for Town's youth team last season and also made his international debut when he helped England under-16s beat Spain 1-0 in Madrid.

He is one of two goalkeepers to be selected for the Nordic Tournament alongside Newcastle United prospect Freddie Woodman. The squad is packed with young talent from a string of the country's biggest clubs with Burton representing Shrewsbury Town alongside players from the likes of Arsenal, Manchester City, Aston Villa, Liverpool and Tottenham Hotspur.

League Cup still one that cheers

WITH memories of last year's exciting run to the third round of the Carling Cup still fresh, Town boss Graham Turner admits he would love a repeat performance ahead of today's first round draw.

The League Cup has been rebranded over the close season and will now be known as the Capital One Cup, with Town one of the unseeded teams in the northern section of this morning's draw.

Turner is hoping for a home draw and of the 16 possible opponents for Town, many of them come from the Championship, among them Hull City, Blackpool, Burnley, Leeds United, Nottingham Forest, Sheffield Wednesday and Middlesbrough.

Turner felt the League Cup run gave everyone at the Greenhous Meadow a great lift last season with Town knocking out Derby County 3-2 at Pride Park and beating Premier League Swansea City 3-1 before losing by the same score at Arsenal after taking the lead before a crowd of more than 46,000 at the Emirates in round three.

Amazes

Turner said: "It amazes me when people treat the competition lightly as we had a terrific time last year and it would be nice to replicate that."

"The competition provided us with terrific entertainment last year and we had some outstanding fixtures."

"It was probably our best away performance of the season in the victory at Derby."

"We then beat Swansea here and we know what sort of season they had in the Premier League so it was great to beat a side of that stature."

"Then we went to the Emirates and put on a fine show."

The first round ties in the Capital One Cup will be played ahead of the opening Football League matches with Town beginning life in League One on Saturday, August 18.

Roy's boys can go far says Turner

ROY Hodgson has been backed to at least lead England through to the knockout stages of the European Championships by Town manager Graham Turner.

A self confessed admirer of the recently appointed England boss, Turner was encouraged with what he saw when he watched England, with ex-Town ace Joe Hart in goal, begin their campaign with a 1-1 draw against France earlier this week.

Turner said: "Expectations this year are quite low and when you look at the quality of the players it's perhaps not as high as we've had in the past, but it wouldn't surprise me to see us progress to the knockout stages."

On the draw with France, Turner added: "It was a solid performance. The way we played didn't surprise me."

"It was reminiscent of Chelsea in the Champions League."

Graham Turner – talks with plenty of players

Busy Turner excited by fixtures – and player talks

GRAHAM TURNER admits excitement is building ahead of promoted Shrewsbury Town's League One fixture list being released next week, writes STU-ART DUNN.

Turner, who continues to hold talks with a number of potential new recruits, believes the publication of the fixtures on Monday will only increase the anticipation about the challenge ahead.

"It will be interesting and there's some big clubs in there which is nice to see," said Turner. "You look at Sheffield United, Portsmouth and Coventry and it's nice to be figuring among clubs of that size and stature."

Turner is continuing to meet with potential new signings having already agreed deals to bring in Aldershot defender Darren Jones, Oxford midfielder Asa Hall and former loan man Aaron Wildig.

The manager said: "I spoke to four players on Monday and another on Tuesday. There's a lot going on but nothing's happening if that doesn't sound daft."

"We're talking to a lot of people at the moment, agents and players. In the first instance it's nice just to meet the player, talk to them about football, show them around the place and tell them what our objectives and aims are and find out if there's any rapport. I'll then talk to agents."

"We've met with a number of players and I've been quite impressed with their thoughts and what they want out of the game and what their aims are. "I've got to say disappointingly I've lost one or two we were interested in. We made offers but they had better offers elsewhere."

"That happens in football and I've been around long enough to know that in the close season it doesn't always go to plan."

"If you use last season as an example, Matt Richards turned up very late in proceedings and turned out to be a great signing so there's no need to panic."

"It's true I would like a number of players already tied up and it hasn't happened – but it will."

Turner remains hopeful of keeping hold of out of contract duo Chris Neal and James Collins, but nothing has been finalised with either player.

On goalkeeper Neal, Turner said: "We have had correspondence from his agent but we're still waiting for confirmation that he's either turned down or accepted our offer."

As for Collins, the Irish under-21 international has told Turner he would like to see if there is any interest from higher division clubs, but the Town boss is still optimistic last season's top scorer will stay put.

"I'm always optimistic about players staying here," said Turner. "James had a very good season and it wouldn't do his career any harm at all to have another 18 months with us."

"It would be a step up playing in the First Division, particularly if you score goals at the higher level, and it will just further his football education."

"I think he can go on and be a very good player. What he hasn't got to do is be too anxious to get up there too quickly and I've said that."

"Money's always important but I think at this time of his career that footballing decisions are more important and I think him staying here would be the right thing for him at this present time."

Town would be entitled to a compensation fee if Collins opts to move on, with Turner insisting: "Any interested clubs should be aware that we value him very highly."

On-a-roll Wroxeter keep feet on ground

WROXETER captain Nick Bevan may have seen his promoted team complete back-to-back wins in the Shropshire County Cricket League – but he insists premier division survival remains his main priority.

Wroxeter turned on the style to knock leaders St Georges off the top of the table last Saturday, a week after breaking their winning duck at the higher level by beating Shelton.

As the Uppington men get ready for Saturday's trip to bottom side Much Wenlock, Bevan stressed he was pleased with Wroxeter's form but he's taking nothing for granted and believes there is still room for improvement.

Bevan said: "The league's so tight but if you had said to me at the start of the season we would only be eight points behind Reman Services at this stage I would have gladly taken it."

"We are literally taking it one game at a time. We've had two so far so there's still work to be done."

Bevan reserved special praise for the impact of all-rounder Ed Davies, Wroxeter's close season signing from Montgomery.

"He's been a revelation," he said. "He's had three fifties and last weekend he was unplayable against St Georges in taking 4-7."

Bevan is also pleased to have added opening batsman Ziad Malik to his squad although the former Llanidloes man, who made his debut against St Georges, will be unavailable for the next two matches.

The skipper added: "Ziad's just moved back into the area from university in Nottingham and he used to score a lot of runs for Llanidloes."

THAT'S OUT! INJURY BLOW FOR KEEPER

SHREWSBURY have been dealt an injury blow ahead of Saturday's big home clash against Birmingham Cricket League leaders Walsall (noon) with overseas player Ryan Bishop ruled out for at least a month.

The influential South African opening batsman, who also keeps wicket for the London Roaders, broke a finger in two places behind the stumps during last weekend's slender losing draw at home to Kidderminster.

by Stuart Dunn

the season but the skipper is confident that results will soon start to take a turn for the better.

Foster, who passed 2,000 Minor Counties Championship runs in leading Shropshire to victory over Cheshire earlier this week, said: "It's good to be playing at home again as the Kidderminster game was only our third at home in the league this season."

"Walsall have started the season well and have not lost yet. They've got some players and a good overseas player in their South African opening batsman Christiana Jonker who we played against last year."

"We just need to concentrate on what we can do and put together a performance."

Foster admitted he hoped and expected Shrewsbury to be doing better than they currently are, but stressed there was still plenty of time to put things right.

He added: "We're only about 35 points off third or fourth spot which is a win and a half. The league is very tight and if we can get a couple of good results it will soon look a lot better."

Foster insisted there had still been plus points in the early weeks of the season, notably the emergence of Shrewsbury's England under-16 captain Ed Barnard.

Barnard, 16, opened the bowling and responded by taking three wickets and also chipped in with 24 batting at No 3 against Kidderminster last weekend.

"He's a very impressive guy," said Foster. "For a 16-year-old to open the bowling in the Birmingham League and to bat as high as he has been in recent weeks is a great effort."

"His maturity is what sets him apart from the rest and he knows the game so well."

Brown has the job at Ellesmere

MIDLAND Alliance club Ellesmere Rangers have taken the wraps off their new-look management team with Shrewsbury-based Richard Brown together with Richard Gardner unveiled as the men to lead the club forward.

The pair enjoyed tremendous success in charge of Wellington Amateurs last season as they guided the club to the West Midlands League first division title.

Ellesmere are delighted to have moved swiftly to appoint them following the resignation of Matt Burton, from Shrewsbury, who opted to stand down after four years in charge at Beech Grove which was only punctuated by a brief spell as boss of Market Drayton Town.

Ellesmere's director of football Alan Davis said: "We firmly believe we have appointed the right men to keep the club moving forward."

"All at Ellesmere Rangers thank Matt for the last four years and wish him all the best for the future."

Badgers get a winning start

A GOAL from Ed Craddock ensured Shrewsbury's hockey youngsters opened the Summer Badgers League with a 1-0 midweek win over Oswestry.

Next up for the county town side is a trip to Much Wenlock to face William Brookes next week.
